Warplanes Attack Camps In Lebanon

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Waves of Israel warplanes today carried out two bomb, rocket and machinegun attacks on Palestinian refugee camps in South Lebanon and on Beirut's outskirts in retaliation for an Arab guerrilla attack that left 30 persons dead and 87 wounded in the Israeli village of Maalot.

Lebanese sources said the twin raids less than two hours apart by Israeli Phantom and Skyhawk jets were the most widespread air attacks on record in Lebanon. Israeli sources said they were the heaviest and deepest since the October war and were aimed specifically at camps housing the organizations that raided Maalot.

A brief Lebanese communique said the toll in lives and damage was not known, but promised a detailed communique later. Newsmen who toured the sites of Palestinian refugee camps estimated the overall death toll at about 15, with an unknown number wounded.

Israel said its planes hit Arab guerrilla bases in two 30-minute strikes directed against guerrilla training bases, depots, offices, headquarters and workshops near Beirut, around the southern coastal cities of Tyre and Sidon, and in southern Lebanon.

Israeli planes which took part in the first raid swooped low over the village of Safed during funeral services for 18 of the Israeli teen-age schoolchildren killed in the Wednesday raid on Maalot.

Palestinian guerrilla attacks against Israeli settlements have invariably been followed by massive Israeli retaliation. Prime Minister Golda Meir gave a hint of such action last night when she vowed to "cut off the hands" of the guerrillas responsible.

The Israeli announcement said the 30-minute attack hit guerrilla targets near Beirut, around the coastal city of Tyre south of the capital, and in southern Lebanon above the frontier. Israel said all the Phantom jets returned safely.

The Israeli announcement said specifically that some of the targets belonged to the two groups that claimed responsibility for the Maalot attack —

Increase In Cities' Valuation

Preliminary assessed valuation figures for Marin's 11 cities show Fairfax, Larkspur and Novato each increased more than 20 per cent in property value during the last year.

According to Assessor Bert W. Broemmel, San Anselmo had the lowest percentage increase with 2.2 per cent. Broemmel's appraisers concentrated on that city last year.

Increased property values averaged 12.2 per cent countywide, he said, adding "This is indicative of the dynamic growth of the county as well as soaring building costs and land values."

In terms of market or actual value, the estimated increase puts Marin's tax base close to the $4 billion mark.

In 1960, the market value of property reached $1 billion, he said. It hit the second billion in 1966, the third in 1972 and will exceed $3.75 billion this year, he continued.

While market value indicates the real value of property, assessed value is 25 per cent of market value and is used for tax purposes.

Of Marin's 11 cities, Fairfax heads the list with a 21.3 per cent estimated increase. It's total assessed valuation rose to $24,207.591.

Totals for other cities (with percentage increase in parentheses) are:

Belvedere, $24,930,144 (17.6 per cent); Corte Madera, $39,963,165 (16.7); Larkspur, $55,085,212 (20.8); Mill Valley, $60,447,845 (11.5); Novato, $101,703,806 (20.4); Ross, $17,451,416 (15.8); San Anselmo, $42,679,086 (2.2); San Rafael, $217,787,013 (12); Sausalito, $47,027,246 (7.3), and Tiburon, $40,192,556 (10.2).

In the unincorporated area of the county the assessed valuation increased 9.2 per cent for a $273,370,667 total.

Centennial To Open Tomorrow

The curtain goes up tomorrow on the San Rafael Centennial, 10 days of civic celebrations marking the biggest birthday party in the city's 100-year history.

A cast of 130 — with performers aged 8 to 80 — will present the rousing centennial opener at San Rafael High School at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow: "Jubilee," an original musical review by Paul and Valerie McMullen and telling in lyrics and music the history of San Rafael from Mission days to the present.

From tomorrow onward, the city's calendar is jammed with birthday events including concerts, art exhibits, historical tours, civic luncheons, a costume ball, country fair, yacht regatta, church services and one of the longest parades in northern California history.

A volunteer committee of 300 persons under program chairman Jean Kelly has been planning the centennial since October. More than 12,000 persons are scheduled to participate including 5,000 in the parade, 3,500 school children on historical tours, and as vendors and performers at the Centennial Fair. Judge Thomas F. Keating is general chairman of the celebration.

The city is already decorated with red-white-and-blue flags. Store windows abound in centennial art, created by San Rafael school children. City hall and library, the Marin Historial Museum, civic center branch of the Marin County Library and the Archbishop Alemany Library at Dominican College are

Adverse Impact Report Accepted

An environmental impact report that says a residential subdivision proposed for Wolfback Ridge in Sausalito would "serve to degrade the quality of the environment" was accepted last night by the city planning commission.

"Adverse environmental impacts outweigh any beneficial aspects of the project and the adverse impacts, as a whole, serve to degrade the quality of the environment," according to the impact document prepared for the city by Brown and Heldt Associates of San Francisco.

The report deals with three development alternatives, ranging from 312 dwelling units to 160 units, proposed by Edward Fitzsimmons and Associates for 156 acres on the scenic ridge west of Highway 101.

Damaging to the environment would be the change in visual quality of the ridgeline, the development of uphill single-family lots on steep terrain, the change in visual quality of those areas visible from the Golden Gate National Recreation Area lands, increased water supply demand, increased sewer generation and, for most alternatives, public costs would be in excess of public revenues generated by the project, the report declares.

The report also finds that total cost to the city for public services would, under all alternatives, exceed city revenues from the project.

"This does not preclude the possibility the project can be approved," said planning director Herb Case. "But it suggests that mitigating measures would have to be introduced to reduce adverse impacts."

The report suggests as mitigating measures that ridgeline lots be deleted and recommends a host of technical methods involving siting of buildings, soil preparation, traffic circulation and others that would lesson the strain on the environment of the project.

On the plus side, the impact study finds that the project would be supplying housing for a certain segment of the market (average value of a home is proposed at between $80,000 and $100,000), and that construction would provide jobs and stimulate the economy.

The report was accepted on a 4-1 vote, commissioner Dorothy Gibson dissenting. She said more alternative projects should have been included in the environmental assessment.

Nixon Tells Writer He Will Not Resign Under Any Circumstances

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will not resign "under any circumstances" nor will he temporarily relinquish office under pressures of the Watergate scandals, he said in an interview published today.

Nixon vowed to fight impeachment "as effectively as we can," and expressed confidence that he could run the country and his own defense siimultaneously if the House votes to impeach him and he is put on trial by the Senate.

In an interview with syndicated columnist James J. Kilpatrick, his first meeting with a single newsman since 1972, the President discussed Watergate and the controversial White House tape recordings as well as his views on conducting United States foreign policy.

On foreign policy, particularly, he said "it would be wrong" for him to step aside because of the gap it would create.

The interview took place Tuesday in Nixon's Oval Office, lasting 80 minutes. Kilpatrick said he recorded Nixon's comments in shorthand.

"I would have to rule out resignation. And I would have to rule out the rather fatuous suggestion that I take the 25th Amendment and just step out and have Vice President (Gerald) Ford step in for a while," the President said.

"If the House should vote an impeachment, and we go to trial by the Senate, of course I would follow that course. It would be immensely time-consuming, but I could do it, and I would do it for reasons that are not —what do you call it — those of a toreador in the ring, trying to prove himself, but I would do it because I have given long thought to what is best for the country, our system of governnment, and the constitutional process."

Later in the interview, the President reinforced his point by saying: "I will never leave this office in a way which resigning would be, or failing to fight impeachment would be,

Kleindienst Admits Misdemeanor Count

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst pleaded guilty today to a misdemeanor charge for refusing to testify about a 1971 conversation in which President Nixon told him to drop an antitrust suit against International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.

Kleindienst faces a sentence of one month to a year in jail and a fine of $100 to $1,000. The sentence could be suspended by the judge.

A letter by special prosecutor Leon Jaworski to Kleindienst's attorney said in return for the guilty plea, all other possible present charges against him would be disposed of. It did not close the door to future charges if "new evidence develops."

The misdemeanor charge — contained in a criminal "information" filed by Jaworski — was based on Kleindienst's refusal to testify at his Senate confirmation hearings about conversations with Nixon, White House staff members and his predecessor at the Justice Department, John N. Mitchell.

Herbert J. Miller, Kleindienst's attorney, said it was the Nixon conversation about which his client had refused to testify.

Shortly before Archibald Cox was fired last fall as special prosecutor, Kleindienst is said to have told Cox that Nixon had telephoned him in 1971, when Kleindienst was deputy attorney general, called him a vulgar name and said, "Don't you understand the English language?"

The President then told him to drop the case which centered on ITT taking over six other companies, Kleindienst said. Kleindienst told Cox he threatened to resign and Nixon withdrew his demand.

The White House later said Nixon was only conveying his attitude that "bigness per se" was not grounds for antitrust action.

Foes Of Busing Reintroduce Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate antibusing forces, narrowly defeated yesterday in a move to severely restrict busing, reintroduced the proposed bar in a surprise move today.

Assistant Senate Republican Leader Robert P. Griffin proposed a cutdown version of the proposal, defeated by one vote yesterday to prohibit the busing of a student beyond the second closest school to his home.

Unlike yesterday's proposal, Griffin's plan would not allow school districts, now under court order to bus, to revamp their plans to conform to the amendment. the Griffin amendment would apply only to future cases.

Nixon Plans Long Weekend In Florida

Mrs. Nixon and daughter Tricia Cox were accompanying the President to his Key Biscayne villa.

A HUG FOR HELMUT — Newly elected West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt was hugged by Hans Hermdorf, his former undersecretary in the Finance Ministry, after the results of the election in which he was named to succeed Willy Brandt as chief of government was announced today in the Bundestag (UPI Telephoto)

Brandt Seat Is Assumed By Schmidt

The Bundestag, parliament's lower house, chose Schmidt without debate by a vote of 267 to 225.

"We dare not sacrifice the stability of our economy and the prosperity of our citizens and their confidence in the future for a community incapable of action," Schmidt said in a warning to West Germany's Common Market partners just before his election.

Schmidt moved up from his post as finance minister to form a government when fellow Social Democrat Brandt quit the chancellory 10 days ago after security authorities discovered a Communist spy on his personal staff.

The new chancellor had been expected to take a harder line with the eight other countries of the Common Market than Brandt did.

Schmidt also said he would dedicate his government to closing the "fear gap" he believes exists among workers and employers, saying it was poisoning the republic's economic life.

"Uncertainty is poison," Schmidt said in the policy analysis published in part by the Hamburg weekly, Die Zeit. "The primary goal of policy must be to close the fear gap."

Schmidt said he intended to overcome the gap with budgets based on economic stability, and in close cooperation with the Central Bank. He rejected the idea of wage and price controls.

Hypertension Drugs Urged

HOUSTON (UPI) — Hypertension specialists said yesterday that high blood pressure, an affliction for one in every seven Americans, could be cured by proper drugs.

Dr. Edward D. Freis of the Veteran's Administration Hospital in Washington said eight different drugs were being used in the treatment of hypertension and combinations of those could control disability in 85 per cent of the cases.

"Alone, or in combination, they (the drugs) will control high blood pressure in the vast majority of patients," Freis said.

Freis and Dr. Marvin Moser, chief of cardiology at White Plains Hospital in White Plains, N. Y., were part of a group of 30 specialists flown to Houston to operate a two-day "hypertension hotline"

Quick Rein Asked On Tax Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lawyers for charitable groups say Congress should act quickly to limit sweeping powers given the Internal Revenue Service yesterday by the Supreme Court to revoke tax exemptions for charitable organizations.

Under the court's ruling, IRS can revoke such an organization's exemption and the group then must immediately begin paying its taxes.

The organization cannot sue to block the revocation, the court said. It can sue to recover the taxes, but it must pay these taxes while the suit is being litigated. Lawyers say this can take years and that, meanwhile, donations to the organization will dry up because donors can no longer claim what they give as exemptions on their own taxes.

Thomas A. Troyer, representing the Council on Foundations, which has 600 member organizations, said yesterday's decision could spell doom for young charitable groups which do not have lists of regular, dedicated donors.

But he added that legislation now pending in the House Ways and Means Committee as part of the tax reform bill would limit the broad IRS powers.

Justice Lewis F. Powell spoke for the court in two parallel decisions. The court ruled 7 to 1 that a group called Americans United for Separation of Churrh and State, could not keep its tax exemption for contributors while it challenged the validity of an IRS revocation ruling. A unanimous ruling forced Bob Jones University, Greenville, S.C., to pay income tax while it contests an exemption loss.

Reagan Says State Can Boost Energy Output 30 Per Cent

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California has the potential to increase its hydroelectric energy production by nearly 30 per cent within the next 15 years, Gov. Ronald Reagan says.

But the governor yesterday also said the increase only would be possible if private and public utilities and governmental agencies start conducting "detailed" studies into potential hydroelectric projects, including evaluation of "environmental factors, costs and financing."

Reagan took the 30 per cent figure from a state Department of Water Resources' report on existing and potential water-driven power projects in California.

The 63-page report, issued along with Reagan's statement, concludes that if potential projects identified in the report are built; they could produce more than 9 billion kilowatt hours of smog-free electricity. It said this would result in an annual equivalent saving of 15 million barrels of oil.

The report said a 30 per cent expansion of the present hydroelectric system "would require a very large investment of capital from both private and public sources." But it contained no costs estimates for carrying out potential projects.

Reagan said the increase is possible without including any projects in areas where development is restricted by laws protecting state and federal wild and scenic rivers and national parks.

The department's report said current hydroelectric generating plants produce 30 per cent of the state's present supply of electrical energy.

It said that while there are "many significant opportunities" to increase hydroelectric energy production, most of the state's anticipated growth in electrical energy requirements still will have to be met by other sources such as nuclear and fossil fueled steam plants.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Magruder Watergate Book Due

Magruder

In "An American Life: One Man's Road to Watergate," to be published next month by Atheneum, Magruder says he was "unprepared" for the pressures of the highest levels of American political life and that his unswerving acceptance of President Nixon's standard of political behavior had "tragic . . . results."

"I think that . . . I am a fairly representative member of my generation," Magruder writes. "And, looking back over my life, I think that I and many members of my generation placed far too much emphasis on our personal ambitions, on achieving success, as measured in materialistic values."

Strike Support

BELFAST (UPI) — Protestant youths hijacked buses and threw up road barricades in Belfast today in a bid to enforce a strike called to protest the alleged sellout of the Protestant cause in Northern Ireland.

Gangs of youths setting up barricades in the Shankill road area hijacked and burned a bus. Others in East Belfast used a commandeered bus as a barricade, police said. The bus company ordered all its vehicles off the road.

Two of Northern Ireland's five power stations shut down yesterday when workers walked off the job.

Northern Ireland's Labor Union party asked the army to run power stations to head off a threatened province-wide blackout.

All work stopped on the Belfast docks and many factories closed down as truckloads of masked men armed with ax handles roamed the streets enforcing the strike.

Town, Bases Fall

SAIGON (UPI) — Tank-led North Vietnamese forces overran a district capital and two defending bases in the Central Highlands today, field reports said

Military officers said the loss of Dak Pek base and town, 300 miles north of Saigon, left all 570 troops and more than 3,000 civilians killed, wounded or missing.

The Saigon command confirmed loss of the 369-man ranger base and said half its defenders had been put out of action by Communist fire. It had no report on loss of the 200-man militia base or the town.

Cabinet Named

The general named Communist party leader Alvaro Cunhal as minister without portfolio in the cabinet and Socialist chief Mario Soares as foreign minister.

In addition, Communist-backed Avelino Antonio Pacheco Goncalves, former head of a militant bank clerks union, was named labor minister.

Gurney Probe

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — A federal grand jury investigating a $400,000 "booster fund" for Sen. Edward Gurney, R-Fla., yesterday returned a sealed indictment, but Gurney was not named, according to courthouse sources.

The sources said the indictment was sealed because the person named was not in custody.

The fact that the person charged was not in custody apparently rules out three key figures in the jury investigation, all three of whom have been indicted.

Death Sentences

MANILA (UPI) — A military court yesterday sentenced 10 persons to death by firing squad for the kidnaping of a Chinese businessman and his mother.

Tito's Job Is For Life Now

BELGRADE (UPI) — The newly constituted Yugoslav parliament today elected President Tito to office for life and cofirmed the appointment of the nine members of the state presidium which Tito intends should lead the country after his death.

Twenty-one gun salutes sounded around the country as Tito, who will be 82 on May 25, took the oath of office and pledged to hold the country on a steady course.

"The task of the state presidium and myself is to preserve the unity and brotherhood of Yugoslavia and cohesion from the top to the bottom. We must vigilantly preserve the achievements of our revolution and post-war development," Tito said in the nationally televised ceremony.

"Nothing will change in our foreign policy," Tito said in his speech. "We want to have good relations with our neighbors, with all countries in the world, but we also must safeguard our independence and integrity."

The ceremony set the stage for the crucial 10th party congress in two weeks time which will be the culmination of a two-year ideological shakeup.

Thousands of party members have been purged and thousands more have lost their jobs as Tito tried to ensure that the country is in the hands of a strong and unified Communist party when he leaves the political scene.

Brown Opposed To New Mansion

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — If elected governor, Secretary of State Edmund Brown Jr. plans to "do everything I can" to prevent construction of the proposed new $1.45 million governor's mansion.

Brown yesterday said he would rather live in the fashionable state-leased home of Gov. Ronald Reagan in Sacramento or in the existing century-old governor's mansion "or some other appropriate place."

At a luncheon with newsmen, Brown called the proposed structure in suburban Carmichael a "totally impractical white elephant" and a "Taj Majal" meant for royalty rather than an elected public official.

Union Leader Cited By Police

STANFORD (UPI) — Police cited a union local's president yesterday in the four-day strike against Stanford University.

James Burk of the Service Employes Union was accused of blocking a public thoroughfare on which a crane was being moved to a hospital construction project.

Nearly 950 technical, maintenance and food service employes are striking in an effort to obtain a labor contract covering their pay and working conditions.

Classes have not been picketed.

Rags-To-Riches Saga Is Ended

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Police ended a rags-to-riches saga when they confiscated an emerald-studded gold chain found by an old woman scrounging through a garbage dump.

The Press Trust of India said the old woman, dressed in rags, took her treasure to a pawnbroker in Bangalore.

When the broker offered her only $12 for the chain, which police valued at $5,000, the woman began to wail. A crowd gathered and the police were called.

Police say they will attempt to trace the owner.

A Warning To Golfing Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Indonesian radiologist has some advice for beginning golfers who hit the dirt instead of the ball: watch out for fractured ribs.

Dr. Sjahriar Rasad, head of the department of radiology at the University of Indonesia School of Medicine in Jakarta, speaks from personal experience. After three weeks on the driving range as a beginning golfer, Rasad said he felt consistent discomfort on the left side of the back near the shoulder.

He had a chest X-ray made and discovered he had fractures of two ribs and probably of a third. They healed naturally in a few years.

More than 90 per cent of the agricultural crops harvested in California receive irrigation.

exhibiting artifacts of San Rafael and Marin history.

Beards are in fullbush, and the last touches are being put on costumes of the 1800s, appropriate wear for all events on the Centennial calendar. Twenty-two thousand Centennial programs have been distributed, 500 silver and uncounted hundreds of bronze commemorative coins have been sold, and 10,000 school children and adult citizens are sporting buttons proclaiming, "I am part of San Rafael Centennial."

Tomorrow night's fanfare for "Jubilee" marks the end of months of anticipation. Opening night has been sold out for days, but tickets are still available at the centennial office in city hall for six remaining performances Saturday, Sunday, next Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

SATURDAY

A full day's events are scheduled Saturday. At 11:30 a.m., the city's new half-acre Beach Park will be dedicated on the San Rafael Canal. Alma, a hay scow-schooner which once carried cargoes to San Rafael from the wharves of San Francisco, is scheduled to run past the park, en route from the San Francisco Maritime State Historic Park to its mooring at San Rafael Yacht Club where it will be open for public tour from Monday through Friday next week.

The Senior Citizens Art Show will open at Whistlestop, 930 Tamalpais Avenue, at noon, continuing to 5 p.m. At 1 p.m., Terra Linda and San Rafael High School film students will show the film they made, "San Rafael Illustrated," to an invitational audience at Montecito Theater. "Jubilee" will be repeated at 8:30 p.m.

SUNDAY

Missa Viscaina, a mass written by one of the four Franciscan friars who founded San Rafael Arcangel in 1817, will be performed at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at St. Raphael's Church. The Senior Citizens Art Show, coupled with an open house, will continue from noon to 5 p.m. "Jubilee" will be performed at 8 p.m.

MONDAY

Monday marks the beginning of daily open-air concerts at Northgate and at Fourth and A Streets in downtown San Rafael. Orchestras, jazz ensembles, choirs and bands from San Rafael and Dixie district schools will perform.

The San Rafael City Schools Music Festival, an annual event, becomes part of the Centennial celebration with performance of the "San Rafael Carnival Souvenir March," first performed at a Labor Day carnival in 1908, and the singing of a new choral work, specially commissioned for the Centennial, by Earl Zindars to lyrics written by Paul McMullen. The Music Festival will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

Continuing Monday through Friday of Centennial Week will be "Centennial Trails" tours by 3,500 school children to the Mission San Rafael Arcangel, Marin Historical Society Museum, City Hall, Library, fire station and police department, Dixie Schoolhouse and the Miwok Archaeological Preserve. Student groups have been scheduled through each landmark every 20 minutes of the school day in tours that began yesterday.

A number of student tours have been arranged aboard Alma during the week, but the adult public is welcome from 1 to 3 p.m. daily.

TUESDAY

WEDNESDAY

The Senior Citizens Annual Awards Luncheon, with the Centennial Fashion Show and presentation of Senior Citizen of the Year award, will be held at Veterans Memorial Auditorium beginning at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday. Noon concerts, and the "Jubilee" music review at 8 p.m. are again on the calendar.

MAY 23

May 23rd's biggest event, a champagne "Pioneer Evening" honoring San Rafael's oldest residents, will be held at the San Rafael Improvement Club from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Noon concerts and a repeat of "Jubilee" at 8 p.m. are also on the docket.

MAY 24

A Centennial Civic Luncheon at Caleruega Hall, Dominican College, has been scheduled for noon May 24, with 500 guests expected to view the Centennial Fashion Show and hear music by the San Rafael High School Stage Band. Sponsors are the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

May 24 starting time for the final performance of "Jubilee" is 8:30 p.m.

MAY 25

Musicians, dancers and the ascension of the hot air balloon Aquistapace will be entertainment highlights of the Centennial Fair May 25 at 10 a.m. at Forest Meadows, Dominican College. More than 100 booths will dispense food, games, handcrafts and Centennial memorabilia during the event, scheduled until 4 p.m.

The San Rafael Volunteer Fire Department is sponsoring the Centennial Costume Ball at 8:30 p.m. at the Veterans Memorial Auditorium, when dancers dressed in the bustles and cutaways of the 1870s will sway to the music of Ernie Hecksher's orchestra.

Climax of the 10-day celebration will come May 26, with a full calendar of events, beginning at noon with a Centennial Mass of Thanksgiving, open-air ecumenical services on the steps of the Mission Chapel at St. Raphael's where the city had its origins in recorded history.

At 1 o'clock, the downtown area will resound to the cadence of marchers, horses, bands and bagpipers as the three-hour Centennial Parade commences its movement from Fourth and E Streets to the grounds of San Rafael High School. A flotilla of decorated yachts will move onto the San Rafael Canal at 4:30 p.m. At 9 p.m. the Centennial celebration will end in a burst of color and glory as fireworks are set off on the waterfront of East San Rafael.

Cyclist Hurt In Collision

The California Highway Patrol said Smith, 21, of 631 I Street, apparently ran a stop sign, rounded a curve at a high speed and drifted into the left lane, where his Harley-Davidson struck a pickup truck driven by Patrick J. Farrell, 21, of Healdsburg.

Attorney Says Nixon Wants Open Hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's Watergate lawyer said today that at Nixon's request he would ask the House Judiciary Committee to open up its closed impeachment hearings so as to prevent news leaks.

Attorney James D. St. Clair deplored the leak of a hitherto secret presidential transcript in which Nixon threatened retaliation against the Washington Post for its Watergate coverage.

Sources said Nixon threatened to retaliate against the Post for its pre-election Watergate coverage in the Sept. 15 meeting with Dean and H. R. Haldeman, then his chief of staff.

"The main thing is The Post is going to have damnable, damnable problems out of this one," Nixon was quoted as saying. "They have a television station ... and they're going to have to get it renewed."

"I'm going to ask that these hearings all be made public," St. Clair told reporters as he arrived for today's closed session of the Judiciary Committee hearing into Nixon's role in the Watergate cover-up.

St. Clair said he would like transcripts of this week's two earlier closed sessions to be made public and would like to see material provided the impeachment inquiry by the Watergate grand jury released.

St. Clair has no direct way to formally propose such a move but could urge Republicans on the committee to do so.

St. Clair also said he would not meet the committee's deadline demanding a reply today to its April 11 request for 66 more tapes dealing with milk prodacers' contributions and the ITT case.

Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said yesterday he would call a meeting for next week to issue still more subpoenas if no reply from Nixon was received today.

Rep. Edward Mezvinsky, D-Iowa, said the tapes left him "depressed." Another Democrat said they gave him "a sense of revulsion."

Rodino announced that public, televised hearings — originally scheduled to start next Tuesday — would be delayed until Wednesday and possibly until May 28.

Meantime, the committee abruptly backed away from another confrontation with President Nixon. It scrapped plans to issue a subpoena today for 20 tapes on the ITT affair and 46 on the milk producers' $2 million campaign pledge.

Rodino said he wanted to be certain that Nixon had made an "absolute refusal" to give up the 66 tapes before he sought to subpoena them.

The controversy over whether the 1,300 pages of transcripts Nixon made public were purposely incomplete and inaccurate arose after the panel heard the Sept. 15, 1972, tape and one from June 30, 1972, John N. Mitchell's last day as Nixon's re-election campaign manager. On Sept. 15, John W. Dean has testified, Nixon congratulated him for his handling of Watergate.

A Democrat, speaking off the record, said the actual tape showed Nixon went into far greater detail in that conversation than the transcript indicated when he discussed his intentions for post-election retaliation against his political enemies.

The congressman said Nixon named names of individuals "the White House would get and get good." He refused to repeat the names.

Rodino said he would withhold judgment on whether the differences between the White House-edited transcripts and the tapes were "deliberate or otherwise." He said that was up to each member to judge for himself.

He said the committee's technicians had been able to translate many of the segments of the tapes which were marked "inaudible" on the White House transcript.

Said Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., a Jesuit priest: "When you hear how they planned and plotted, your worst suspicions are aroused. When you hear the President of the United States say, 'We were fools for not using our clout before, but next term we're going to get these guys...'"

Was the tape damaging to the President, Drinan was asked.

"Oh, yes."

More damaging than the transcript?

"Much more damaging."

Said Rep. Jerome D. Waldie, D-Calif., an impeachment advocate: "If one felt from reading the transcripts that the person occupying the White House was shabby and of little principle, it will be enhanced by listening to the tape. Not just shabby, dangerous."

Picketing At Novato Schools Set

Novato Teachers will start picketing schools tomorrow in a push to speed up negotiations on their requests covering pay raises, working conditions and policies.

Members of the Novato Teachers Association, with a few dissenting, agreed yesterday on an "action plan" that started today with the wearing of green arm bnads, to symbolize a "go" on negotiations.

Teachers, who had set yesterday for completion of negotiations, believe that after 75 hours of negotiation, the district's representatives are lagging on several issues, including class size limitation, salary, grievance policy and granting elementary school teachers preparation periods.

The teachers, who originally sought a 22 per cent pay raise, are now seeking 18.5 per cent, while the district has countered with an offer of 3.5 per cent.

Under the "action plan," teachers will picket at each school for 30 minutes before and after the school day and continue to picket until negotiations are settled.

The plan calls for a mass demonstration at the district office at 4 p.m. Monday, the wearing of red arm bands Tuesday, and if a settlement isn't reached by May 28, a vote then on whether to have a one-day strike May 29 and to authorize a month-long strike in September.

changes in the assessed valuation of public utilities. Those figures will be released by the state next month.

Bolinas-Stinson, $15,041,964 (11.7 per cent); Dixie, $91,390,978 (14.4); Fairfax, $28,223,968 (20.9); Kentfield, $64,570,995 (12.6); Laguna $1,780,718 (no change); Lagunitas, $11,394,349 (13.4); Larkspur, $57,761,082 (10.8); Lincoln, $1,754,865 (no change); Mill Valley, $119,358,164 (11.3).

Nicasio, $4,079,059 (8.9); Novato Unified, $134,832,092 (18.2); Reed, $84,393,792 (13.7); Ross, $20,091,583 (16.6) San Anselmo, $53,265,668 (2.4); San Rafael, $181,538,792 (11.2); Sausalito, $51,259,300 (6.7); Shoreline Unified, $23,633,367 (8), and Union, $475,010 (no change).

By selling drinks in the streets, West Germany Boy Scouts raised $36,000 for drought-stricken West African countries, a U.S. agency reports.

NIXON

"I will not resign," the President repeated, "and I will of course present the case on impeachment before the House as effectively as we can. I shall receive the verdict in good grace, but I know that the United States of America means something in the world today not just because of its military and economic strength, but also because it has stability in its leadership.

"Resignation or impeachment would have the traumatic effect of destroying that sense of stability and leadership. And as far as this particular President is concerned, I will not be a party under any circumstances to any action which would set that kind of precedent."

In foreign policy, Nixon foresaw some "great issues" still ahead, Kilpatrick said, and said he feels able and experienced to handle them. In this area, where Nixon feels his greatest accomplishments lie, the President said:

"I have to be here, and I intend to be here."

Nixon said it would create a gap for him to say, "Well, I've been impeached by the House, and I'll just step aside, and somebody else will step in."

In his view, he declared, "that would be wrong!" Asked if he could manage the affairs of the nation and look after his own defense at the same time, Kilpatrick said the President answered grimly, "Yes. And I intend to."

Some Nixon critics and others have suggested that he invoke the 25th Amendment and let Ford become acting President pending outcome of the impeachment proceedings against him.

Under the 25th Amendment, added to the Constitution after President Dwight D. Eisenhower's serious heart attack in 1955 while Nixon was vice president, a President may declare himself temporarily unable to carry out the duties and powers of the office.

The President also said during the interview:

The late J. Edgar Hoover once told him that his campaign plane in 1968 was bugged during the final two weeks of the presidential race.

Some national security incidents involving the White House "plumbers" unit have not been made public and "never will." The President said that Sens. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., and Howard Baker, R-Tenn., chairman and vice chairman of the Senate Watergate committee, "know of these unpublished matters."

In restrospect, Nixon said he believes his "major error" in the entire Watergate affair "was not doing what many persons very appropriately criticized me for doing in previous campaigns —and that was always running my own campaign." In 1972, he said, "I just didn't pay enough attention to the campaign."

Kilpatrick, a conservative columnist for the Washington Star Syndicate and a strong supporter of Nixon in the past has recently been highly critical of administration handling of the Watergate affair.

He said the President looked to him to be "well and strong," but said Nixon "also looked his full 60 years."

Kilpatrick added, however, that it appeared to him that the President "has lost some of the edge of sharp incisiveness that he exhibited a few years ago. Mr. Nixon's conversation tends to run off on tangents ... but plainly is in command of his situation."

The raid came as the Israeli nation was burying its dead from the Maalot attack, the costliest guerrilla raid in the nation's history. The death toll of 30 included 18 teen-age Israeli schoolchildren and the three guerrillas who carried out the raid.

Lebanon had feared some sort of massive retaliation and the foreign minister called in the ambassadors of the United States, Soviet Union, Britain, France and China and asked them to use their influence to restrain Israel from carrying out its threats.

It was the fourth consecutive day of Israeli air strikes into Lebanon against Arab guerrilla bases, but today's was by far the strongest and deepest the planes had staged into Lebanon since the October war when they destroyed a radar station and hit other guerrilla bases.

Warplanes returning from the raids swooped low over the Israeli village of Safad where 10,000 mourners were burying 18 of the teen-age victims. The funeral services themselves were cut short by uncontrolled grief and shouts for revenge against the Arab guerrillas.

Israel put its entire northern tier on full alert today for other Arab guerrilla attacks. Death of the children raised a larger outcry than a raid April 12 which killed 18 persons at the border village of Qiryat Shemona.

Villagers at Maalot, a town of 5,000 lying just below Lebanon, demonstrated this morning chanting "death to the terrorists!" Newspapers and opposition politicians called for revenge strikes into Lebanon, from where the raiders were said to have come.

Newsmen in southern Lebanon said the Israeli Phantoms, sweeping in in pairs, bombed the Ain Helweh refugee camp on the outskirts of the southern port city of Sidon.

OBITUARIES

Vida McAlister Dies At 98

Funeral for Vida McAlister, longtime Petaluma resident, will be at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at Sorensen Funeral Home.

She was born in Petaluma, and she taught school in rural Southern Sonoma for several years after graduating from the San Jose State Normal School in 1897.

During the first two decades of this century she and her husband, John A. McAlister, operated a grocery store at Washington and Main streets, which is now Petaluma Boulevard North. On the death of her husband in 1928, Mrs. McAlister moved to San Francisco, where she worked for the city as an auditor for the Municipal Railroad.

She retired in 1946 and returned to Petaluma.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Petaluma.

Mrs. McAlister is survived by a son, John McAlister of San Francisco, two grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Burial will be private at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

GORDON JONES

A private funeral for Gordon Scott Jones, former longtime San Anselmo resident, will be held in San Francisco under the auspices of Crocker Lodge No. 454, Free and Accepted Masons.

Jones died Tuesday in Sachelt, British Columbia after a brief illness. He was 75.

Born in San Francisco, Jones and his family came to San Anselmo after the 1906 earthquake and fire. His father became the first mayor of San Anselmo, and Jones attended local schools. For many years he was owner of Jones Stevedoring Co. He retired a few years ago and moved to a ranch in British Columbia with his wife, Myheera Fleming Jones.

He also is survived by a son, G. Scott Jones Jr. of San Rafael; a daughter, Carole Jane Leopold of Walnut Creek; a sister, Elizabeth Jones Rudy of Seattle, and two brothers, Allen Hughes Jones of San Francisco and W. Ernest Jones of Piedmont.

The family prefers contributions to the Heart Fund.

JEFFREY WATSON

A memorial service for Jeffrey C. Watson, 22, of San Rafael, will be held at 6:30 p.m. Saturday in the Sausalito Presbyterian Church.

Watson is believed to have died in the crash of a Petaluma based light airplane into Lake Berryessa on May 7. Neither the plane nor the bodies of the two men believed to have been aboard have been recovered from the deep water.

Watson is survived by his wife, Nancy, and his mother and father, Bette S. Angell of San Rafael and Theodore J. Watson of Brookfield, Conn.

LESLIE ATKINSON

Leslie D. Atkinson, 75, died in a coma at Marin General Hospital yesterday, two hours after being found unconscious on the floor of his bachelor apartment at 1330 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

The Marin County coroner's office said he appeared to have been in a coma for several days. There was no indication of foul play; an autopsy is pending to learn the cause of death.

Atkinson was a retired accountant.

He was born in Petaluma, served in the Marine Corps during World War I, and moved to Marin County about 25 years ago. He is survived only by a sister, Mabel Miller of San Rafael.

A private funeral was held today.

KATHERINE H. BENDER

Funeral for Katherine H. Bender, longtime Marin resident and former restaurant owner, will be tomorrow at 10 a.m. at Russell and Gooch Funeral Home in Mill Valley.

Mrs. Bender, 77, died Tuesday at a local convalescent hospital following a long illness.

A native of Ohio, Mrs. Bender hitchhiked to California about 50 years ago. She lived in San Francisco, Sausalito, Mill Valley, San Rafael and finally Corte Madera, where she resided on Chapman Drive until her illness.

She worked as a waitress and also owned restaurants in several cities, including the Black Cat cafe in Sausalito.

She was the widow of John H. Bender, who had served in the Marines at Mare Island Naval Station and retired with the rank of sergeant.

She is survived by a niece.

Burial will be private at Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno.

MRS. PHILLIPS

Blythe H. Phillips, mother of Thomas N. Phillips, owner of a Mill Valley coffee and tea firm, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital following a brief illness.

Mrs. Phillips, 84, was a native of Illinois. She and her husband the late James Phillips, lived many years in Honolulu where he was a businessman. Following his death, Mrs. Phillips came to California and had spent the last 25 years in Berkeley and the last six months in Mill Valley.

She was a member of the Christian Scientist Church.

She is survived by two sons, Thomas Phillips of Bolinas and Honolulu, owner of Phillips Coffee, Tea and Spices; John K. Phillips of Anchorage, Alaska, and a daughter, Jean Mary Keegan of Sullivan's Island, S.C., five grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

Private service was held. Burial will also be private at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

ZITA LUDEMAN

Mass of Christian Burial for Zita Ludeman of Petaluma will be offered at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Vincent's Catholic Church in Petaluma.

Mrs. Ludeman, 85, died Tuesday in a local hospital after a long illness.

She was a native Petaluman and the wife of Fred Ludeman, who died in 1930. For many years she lived in San Francisco while her husband worked for the Bohemian Club there.

After her husband's death, Mrs. Ludeman moved back to Petaluma. Her home was at 20 Raymond Heights.

She was a member of St. Vincent's Catholic Church.

Mrs. Ludeman is survived by two sisters, Loretta Cox and Letitia Sartori, both of San Francisco, and a brother, Haydn Sartori of Merced.

The rosary will be recited in her memory at 8 p.m. today at the Sorensen Funeral Home in Petaluma.

Burial will be private.

MARGARET HIGGINS

Margaret C. Higgins, sister of Dorothy Lockshire of San Anselmo, died yesterday in a local convalescent home following a lengthy illness. She was 78.

Miss Higgins moved to Marin County 21 years ago, from Connecticut. She was retired. She was born in Lykens, Pa.

Miss Higgins also is survived by a brother, James Higgins of Shelton, Conn., and three other sisters, Marie Kallmann of Bridgeport, Conn.; Mildred Kuhn of San Antonio, Tex., and Gertrude Hildebrandt of Long Beach.

A Mass of the Christian Burial will be offered at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today in the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

ALICE DIEHL

Alice Diehl, 83, a longtime resident of Eureka, Humboldt County, died yesterday at the Canyon Manor Convalescent Hospital in Novato after a short illness.

Mrs. Diehl, a resident of the hospital, had been a resident of Eureka for most of her adult life and had lived in Novato five years.

She was the widow of William F. Diehl, a lumber company employee. She was a member of the Camellia Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and the American Legion Auxiliary in Eurkea.

Mrs. Diehl was a native of Denmark and had been a resident of California for 64 years.

Surviving are a daughter, E. Barbara Conn of Novato; a son, Allen K. Madsen of Fortuna, Humboldt County; two sisters, Helga Ponting and Thyra Vieth, both of Australia; four grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Funeral services and burial will be in Eureka.

LOUIS HERNANDEZ

Hernandez of 413 Pine Street retired after operating the Sausalito Variety Store in the early 1950s. Previously he had been a store manager for Woolworth's and had operated the Woolworth's store in San Rafael.

He was a native of San Jose and had been a resident of Marin for 55 years.

Surviving are his wife, Virginia Hernandez; two sons, Robert J. Hernandez of Hayward and Luis Hernandez of San Francisco; a daughter, Wanda J. Madsen of Mill Valley; six grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

A Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Star of the Sea Church, Sausalito. Burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. The family prefers that memorial contributions be to the Heart Fund.

SECURITY IS HER BOTTLE

Clutching her bottle atop a thick blanket, Kalyano, is at last secure. For the first five months of her life in the Oakland Bay Zoo, the chimp was an inseparable companion of attendant Paula Stewart. Miss Stewart fed, bathed and even had to sleep with the chimp who would go into a frenzy if they parted. Now, almost 6 months old, Kalayno is finally accepting some responsibility. (UPI Telephoto)

Bolinas Board Renews Condominium Opposition

Directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utilities District last night renewed their opposition to a proposed 200-unit condominium on Bolinas Mesa, after receiving notice that the developer has again applied for state permission to build a dam for water supply.

Anton Holter of San Rafael, whose Mesa Ranch firm met bitter objections for the same proposal in Bolinas last year, has applied for permission to store 40 acre-feet of water per year on the 210-acre ocean front property, according to a May 2 letter from the Planning and research division of the state Water Resources Control Board.

Holter's application said the dam would be used for recreation, wildlife enhancement, and stock watering, according to the letter, but "the applicants apparently wish to construct at a later date a 200-unit condominium complex as permanent homesites in the reservoir area."

The Bolinas board unanimously agreed to tell the state agency that the condominium proposal would be inconsistent with the Bolinas Community Plan and the County General Plan. They said it would increase the town's population by one-third, create traffic problems, and strain the capacity of the fire department.

Directors Paul D. Kayfetz and J. Michael Groshong were absent.

The board also approved an application for a building permit from John B. McCormick of San Francisco on a lot where a house burned down last year. The approval is subject to a condition that the septic tank meet district standards.

It heard from John L. Sansing, Supt. of Point Reyes National Seashore, that appraisers have assigned equal values to Pepper Dam, which lies within seashore boundaries, and the district's Arroyo Honda Dams. The board is considering a swap of the two properties.

Youngest Youth Adviser's Views

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The youngest member of Gov. Ronald Reagan's State Advisory Commission on Youth believes young people should be more informed on what's going on in state government.

Jeremy Hobbs, 13, was sworn in as a member of the commission yesterday by Reagan.

"I don't think it matters that I am younger," said Hobbs, referring to many others on the 16-member commission who are in their 20s. "I am interested in legislation to help young people."

Hayward Teachers Schedule Strike

HAYWARD (UPI) — Teachers in Hayward have scheduled a strike for May 22 after rejecting the Board of Education's offer of 6.5 per cent pay increases.

The offer was termed inadequate.

Biggest Sundae Is Being Built

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (UPI) — An ice cream parlor is assembling what it calls the world's biggest sundae —a 1,737-pound concoction that includes 10,920 dips of vanilla.

The whole thing will go on sale Sunday in 50-cent portions to raise funds for handicapped children.

Organizers said the sundae will contain 72 quarts of chocolate topping, 35 pounds of chocolate sprinkles and 34 quarts of whipped cream.

SAFETY EDUCATION FOR THE DEAF

Officer Myron MacNeil of the California Highway Patrol spent an afternoon yesterday teaching safety procedures to deaf children at the Adaline E. Kent School annex, but found himself too wrapped up in his work. While demonstrating the use of handcuffs to the children (left), he accidentally locked them on his own wrists. Finding that he didn't have a key, he borrowed a hairpin and pried the lock open, while teacher Connie Friel looked on worriedly. Once free, he taught (from left) Nathan Fylstra, Jeanne Mouille, Ky Belanger and Jimmy Ranking to get out of the way at the sound of a police siren, which they can hear, as Mrs. Friel gave encouragement from the sidelines.

Car Dealers Still Have Plenty Of Unsold Autos

DETROIT (UPI) — The disappointing sales performance turned in by the nation's new car dealers in the first 10 days of May did nothing to whittle down the record number of unsold cars they carried into the month.

The "Big Four" recorded sales of 204,505 cars in the May 1-10 period, a 28 per cent drop from last year's record period. It marked another indication that the traditional spring sales upturn hasn't been as strong as some automotive executives had predicted.

So far this year, the industry has sold 2,678,196 cars, off 26 per cent from last year's record pace. However, it's off only 13.8 per cent from the 1972 pace, down 10.6 per cent from 1971 and above the year-to-date figures in 1970.

Entering May, the trade publication Automotive News estimated that the overall car stock amounted to a 62-day supply of unsold cars, the highest ever for the beginning of May. However, it was not nearly as bad as the 81-day supply at the end of January — highest for any month in history —that led to massive layoffs that have left almost 108,000 U.S. auto workers on indefinite layoffs.

Industry analysts said the 62-day supply was not uncommon and not bothersome in light of the conditions of a few months ago during the depths of the sales slump. The five-year average going into May was a 57-day supply.

They also point out that dealers have been able to cut down the huge stock of unsold big cars while building up stocks of the more popular small models for the upcoming summer sales season.

The Ford Motor Co. completed the reporting of early May sales figures yesterday by showing the lowest year-to-year drop in the industry —20.6 per cent —on sales of 56,462 cars. General Motors had recorded a 32.5 per cent drop, American Motors was off 27.1 per cent and Chrysler was down 23.8 per cent.

The pledge of allegiance to the flag was first published in the Sept. 8, 1892 issue of the "Youth's Companion," a weekly magazine.

JUST TOO REAL FOR WORDS

A realistic "bank robbery" led to the injury of nine persons Tuesday by a runaway auto. Erline Ardoin, 24, of Los Angeles, was shocked as she approached an intersection in her car as she observed a bank being held up. Tough looking men, submachineguns at the ready point were backing out of a bank, holding bystanders at bay and loading money into a getaway car. Mrs. Ardoin, afraid gunfire would break out, ducked down in her car which went out of control and plowed into the crowd. The injured were extras and a stunt man from Penelope Productions which was filming a bank robbery scene for a movie.

FBI Offer For SLA Leads Told

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The FBI was reported today to have offered a University of California student $250,000 for information leading to the kidnapers of Patricia Hearst.

FBI agent in charge Charles W. Bates said "the FBI handles its own business. I'm not going into any details."

At the same time, two persons called before a federal grand jury to answer questions about their past associations with members of the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army were ordered to jail for refusing to testify. The SLA claims to have kidnaped Patricia last Feb. 4.

The San Francisco Examiner, whose president and editor is Randolph A. Hearst, the victim's father, and KQED-TV said the report of the $250,000 offer came from John Mayfield, a University of California student who was once active in the Black Cultural Association, considered to be the predecessor of the SLA.

Mayfield said two FBI agents visited him and his wife Tuesday and opened a briefcase full of $100 bills, offering at first $100,000 and then $250,000 if they would tell where the SLA was hiding.

Mayfield said he told them neither he now his wife knew their whereabouts.

The two reluctant grand jury witnesses, Paul Halverson, 29, and Cynthia Garvey, 26, had previously been granted immunity from self-incrimination and were ordered to jail by U.S. District Court Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli when they stated in open court they still would not answer the questions.

Kidnapers Free Wife Of Banker

WAVERLY, Minn. (UPI) — A bank president's wife, seized from her home by a kidnaper and held while her husband paid a $50,000 ransom, was released today after nearly 1 ½ days in captivity.

The FBI said it first learned of the kidnaping an hour after the victim, Ardis M. Graham, 47, was freed. Agents said she was bruised but otherwise unhurt.

Mrs. Graham was taken Tuesday from her large brick home in this small town 40 miles west of Minneapolis.

Agents said one man abducted Mrs. Graham, who is vice president of the bank, but they did not know if others were involved.

The FBI said the victim's husband, Citizens State Bank President Daniel D. Graham, 55, handled the situation by himself and delivered the ransom last night to an undisclosed location.

Mrs. Graham was released shortly afterward in a northwest Minneapolis suburb.

The Grahams have been with the bank 22 years.

College Board Votes Two Free Transcripts

Faced with a suit charging that a College of Marin policy violated state law, Marin Community College District trustees last night decided to give students two free verified copies of their school transcript.

Shifting from a 3-to-3 vote on the issue earlier this month, trustees approved the change on a 5-to-0 vote, board president Frances Compton not voting and trustee Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. absent.

Following the previous tie vote, Gregory C. Fearon, a pre-law student and former College of Marin student body president, filed suit in Marin Superior Court charging that the fee violated state law.

Fearon today told the Independent-Journal he will now drop his suit.

Earlene Jones, district publicist, said trustees Martin J. Dean and Gene Turtle opposed the policy change earlier this month but changed their votes last night without giving a reason.

She said students will still be charged $1 for verified transcripts after receiving two free.

Marin Community College District Board Also:

HANDICAPPED — Agreed to cooperate with Dominican College in a program to provide housing for handicapped students at the Dominican campus in San Rafael. Funds for the program are to come from state and county sources and Dominican College.

DEPARTMENT — Told staff to prepare a report on the department system at the College of Marin to include information on how chairmen are selected, how long they serve and minimum size of departments. The department system is supported by college faculty but trustees are reviewing a systems of divisions which would divide the college into larger units.

WORKSHOP — Set a workshop meeting May 29 to discuss a proposal to expand services to handicapped students by increasing staff with state and federal funds.

COURSES —Approved new courses for physical education in intramural activities, introduction to sports officiating and scuba diving.

ARCHITECT — Approved $9,066.65 for increasing viewing screen size in the remodeled art department and $3,000 for sound barriers in the Harlan Center. Both were called for in original project specifications and costs will be recovered from former district architects Corwin, Booth and Associates of San Francisco who were fired last year.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to May 22 to tour the Indian Valley Colleges construction site and hold a workshop in the IVC educational program.

Income Down In April For Farmers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most Americans enjoyed a healthy increase in wages, salaries and other forms of income in April but farmers' earnings were down sharply for the fourth month in a row, the Commerce Department said today.

Personal income, a broad measure of consumer spending power, rose $7 billion or 0.6 per cent, last month, compared to $6.6 billion, or 0.5 per cent, in March. Personal income is now at a seasonally adjusted rate of $1,108.4 billion ($1.1) trillion. . .

Farm income dropped $3.4 billion, or 12 per cent, "reflecting further declines in prices received by farmers for both livestock and crops and increases in farm production expenses," the department said. This figure has now fallen $4.4 billion since January.

Wages and salaries advanced $4.3 billion in April compared to $3.7 billion a month earlier.

For the first four months of 1974, overall personal income was running 9.8 per cent ahead of January-April, 1973, the department said.

TRADITIONAL SCRUBDOWN

The 45th annual Tulip Festival opened in Holland, Mich., yesterday with street scrubbing, depicting the traditional Dutch cleanliness. But, as usual, things got a little out of control and the scrubbers got washed down more than the streets. Millions of tulips in various colors will be awaiting the gaze of an expected 300,000 visitors to the festival.

Former Hughes Aide Tells Of CIA Fetish

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Howard Hughes wanted his business to become a front for the Central Intelligence Agency to give him leverage with federal regulatory agencies, a former top Hughes executive testified in federal court yesterday.

Robert A. Maheu, a former FBI agent who has testified he was involved with the CIA while working for Hughes, said he refused to help the mysterious billionaire accomplish the linkup.

Oaheu testified at the trial of his $17.5 million libel suit against Hughes for the billionaire's statement that Maheu was fired as head of the Hughes Nevada empire because "he stole me blind."

Maheu has spent the week detailing for the jury the unusual nature of his work for Hughes, for which he was paid a half million dollars a year.

Hughes learned of Maheu's links to the CIA in 1960 or early 1961, Maheu testified, when he had to spend a lot of time in Miami "on a very sensitive assignment for a government intelligence agency."

Maheu identified the agency as the CIA. He did not reveal the nature of the "sensitive assignment," but the time referred to is when the CIA was mounting the Bay of Pigs invasion against Cuba.

He also was working for Hughes, Maheu said, and Hughes complained to him that he was neglecting the billionaire's interests.

"I finally received permission from my major contact in the intelligence agency to reveal to Mr. Hughes the necessity" for the Miami work, Maheu said.

Hughes was happy to learn that one of his top aides was involved with the CIA, and "he encouraged me to continue on with the assignment and any other work that might be required of me in future years," Maheu said.

Eight years later, Maheu said, "Mr. Hughes asked me if I could try to make some kind of arrangement with the CIA whereby some part of the Hughes Tool Co. could become a front for the intelligence agency.

"He pointed out that if he ever became involved with the government —with a regulatory body or investigative agency — he thought it would be very beneficial to him ...

"I told him I couldn't believe what he was telling me and under no circumstances would I assist him in such an endeavor."

In other testimony, Maheu said that Hughes wanted to gain favor with then Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and told him to let Johnson know that Hughes would give financial backing to "any candidate Johnson would like to see elected."

Arkansas Flood Town Evacuated

HELENA, Ark. (UPI) — Streets flooded with three to four feet of water sent 300 residents of this delta city fleeing from their homes yesterday. Gov. Dale L. Bumpers summoned the National Guard to help law enforcement authorities with evacuation.

"We started evacuating about six o'clock and, at first, we were putting them in the courthouse, in churches and the West Helena city hall," Phillips County Sheriff Marion Hickey said.

Two More Brands Of Hairspray Are Recalled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) today announced the recall of two more brands of hair spray containing vinyl chloride, a chemical linked to liver cancer.

The agency said the products were distributed nationwide from October 1971 until Jan. 1 of this year and it had no way of knowing how many are still on store shelves or in the hands of consumers.

Involved in the recall are "Posner Natural Hair Sheen Spray" in six and 16 ounce aerosol cans distributed by Posner Laboratories Inc. of Corona, N.Y., and "Grant's Deluxe Hair Spray" in 16-ounce cans distributed by W.T. Grant Co., New York.

The FDA previously announced the recall of several other brands of hair sprays in which vinyl chloride was used as a propellent. The chemical has been linked to several cases of a rare form of liver cancer among workers in plants where vinyl chloride was processed. The Environmental Protection Agency has banned the sale of products have been using other gases such as freon to propel the contents of the cans into the air.

EPA officials said they expect all indoor pesticides containing vinyl chloride in aerosol form.

Since the chemical has been called into question, aerosol

Electric Power Use Guidelines Softened

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California's Public Utilities Commission eased its guidelines on electrical consumption yesterday, but warned that the energy crisis will be around for years.

Commissioners suggested a 10 per cent conservation goal, instead of the previous 15 per cent, from the electrical consumption of a year ago.

Under the new guidelines, regulated firms now will be permitted to furnish power to operate decorative and ornamental fountains, but not to light them.

In addition, electricity now may be supplied to illuminate time and temperature signs and commercial displays.

Businesses will be permitted to display two advertising signs, rather than one.

In relaxing its guidelines, the commission noted heavy winter rainfall, which will provide more hydroelectric power, and the lifting of the Arab oil embargo.

But it cautioned that shortages are likely to continue for years.

Air conditioning equipment, the commission said, should not be used to cool temperatures to less than 78 degrees this summer.

A Brick Washer Has A Problem

CHICAGO (UPI) — On his 32nd birthday, Clyde Fugate started his first day on the job as a brick washer on a Chicago skyscraper yesterday. He wound up hanging outside the 19th floor for more than an hour.

Clyde and his brother, Pearl, 26, got stuck above the Loop when the motor cranking them up and down the 36-story Hyatt Regency Chicago Building got stuck.

Firemen finally lowered a new motor which got the brothers' scaffold back to the roof. Clyde said he would be back at work today. The pay is $9.20 an hour and "we don't get paid if we don't work," he said.

BART Budget Set At $51.7 Million

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The board of directors of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District has voted a $51.7 million budget for the 12-month period starting July 1.

It voted that figure yesterday after hearing from its staff that BART will still have a deficit of about $10 million that must be raised to keep the trains in operations.

General Manager B.R. Stokes told the directors he will present a "contingency" budget next week to outline steps BART could take to shut down the system should the legislature not provide aid for the debt-ridden district.

Stokes had proposed a $54.4 million "bare-bones" budget but the directors pared another $2.7 million.

Bart said reductions in marketing and advertising would hurt BART's attempts to lure riders in the off-peak hours, but the directors apparently agreed with director Quentin Kopp who said "reliable operation" would be BART's best advertisement.

Airport Land Use Commission Told Interim Land Plan Near

The Marin County Airport Land Use Commission was told yesterday a draft of an interim land use plan will be ready next month.

The commission, which is charged under state law with overseeing how lands are developed around public and military airports, will review the plan and set public hearings once it is received.

The plan will deal primarily with Gnoss Field and Hamilton Air Force Base and will serve as the basis of a final land use plan.

County Planning Director Werner Von Gundell, who serves as staff to the commission, said that until the interim plan is adopted the commission can only act as an advisory body to the county and City of Novato.

Once the plan is adopted, he continued, the commission decisions on land uses near airports can only be reversed by at least a 4-to-1 vote of county supervisors or city councilmen, depending on who has jurisdiction over the land.

The commission is attempting to determine if Smith Ranch airport in San Rafael is a "public use" airport.

If so, the airport would fall under the "public use" category and therefore under the commission's planning jurisdiction.

A Plea Made To Kidnaper

PONCE, P.R. (UPI) — Police helicopters yesterday dumped thousands of leaflets on rugged central mountains central Puerto Rico where an escaped murderer and accused kidnaper-murder has eluded a police dragnet for more than two months.

The leaflets contained an appeal from the fugitive's mother asking him to meet her and six other intermediaries— all of whose pictures are on the leaflet.

The leaflets promised police would not pursue him.

33 YEARS SERVICE

Security Found In Job With U.S. Post Office

By PAUL CANE

Edgar J. (Bud) Fisher's early years and activities were those of an all-American boy.

Born in the San Rafael firehouse, he became an eagle scout, a standout football, basketball and track athlete, and student body president of San Rafael High School.

So it should not be surprising that he ended up working for America — in the San Rafael Post Office. Fisher, 59, retired last Thursday after 33 years of work in the postal service.

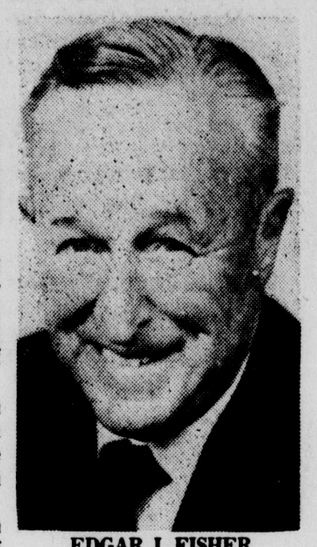
But following his graduation in 1933 from San Rafael High, a career with the Post Office seemed to be the last thing on his mind.

"I went to College of Marin for a semester after I got out of high school," Fisher recalled. "But those were the years of the Depression, and I had to get out and make some money."

He then began a long series of short jobs until he found his niche. First, he was a ranch hand on several Marin diary farms. Then he went to school in San Francisco to learn to become a diesel train engineer, but he found he could not get a job. Then he went to a barber college, but decided that cutting hair didn't appeal to him as a profession. Finally he worked briefly as a salesman for the Lafargue Laundry Co. of San Rafael.

"At that point in 1941 I was ready for a little stability and security in my work," Fisher said. "I applied for jobs with a bunch of public agencies, the Post Office, San Francisco police and fire departments, and others. The Post Office offered me a job first, so that's where I went."

And except for a three-year stint in the Marine Corps during World War II, that's where he stayed.



EDGAR J. FISHER
Retires after 33 years

Fisher began as a substitute letter carrier, a position he held until called to serve in the Pacific in 1943.

Attaining the rank of master sergeant, Fisher participated with the Fifth Amphibious Corps in action in the Marianas and Marshall Islands, and served in the "mop-up" operations on Kwajalein and Saipan.

"That as a valuable experience for me," Fisher said. "Not only did I get to know a lot of coconuts by their first names, it was a meaningful thing for me, learning to take the other guy's welfare to heart, making the group become one unit."

During his military tour, Fisher had been promoted to mail clerk at the D Street main office building, a position he held for six years until 1952.

At that time, San Rafael absorbed the Kentfield branch office, and Fisher was transferred as branch superintendent there.

In 1956 he became foreman of mails at the main office, a post he held for only six months. He was then promoted to assistant superintendent of mails, and then in 1966 was named superintendent of mails.

The new San Rafael main office opened at 40 Bellma Boulevard at this time, and soon after the office change, Fisher was promoted to assistant postmaster of the San Rafael office under Hugh Cassidy, the job he held until his retirement.

The postal system, Fisher said, is now in the midst of a tremendous state of transition. "Concepts, equipment, transportation, and technology all started to change rapidly about two years ago. I was eligible for retirement at that time, but I had a lot of curiosity to see if I could hack the big changes we were going through. It was a rewarding experience, helping the service through this time," he said.

"But now I've had enough, there are young people that need to be recognized, and I don't want to stand in their way," he said.

He, and his wife of 36 years, Helen Reed Fisher, reside at 112 San Rafael Avenue. Their two daughters, Michelle and Adrienne, are both married, and Fisher has five grandchildren.

What does the future hold?

"I really have no definite plans. I like to hunt, fish, and backpack, but I'm going to let the chips fall where they may. I have some work to do around the house, but I'm not going to be a slave to that."

Looking back on his years of service, Fisher said, "The people I've worked with have been great. Had they not been the cooperative, supporting people they are, my job would have been a lot tougher."

He recalled the most amusing incident of his years with the post office. "There was this dog that was giving one of my carriers trouble, every day it'd come out and try to bite my man. So I called the family and asked them to tie the dog up when the mailman was coming by each day. They tied it up all right — to the mailbox!"

Fire Alarm Boxes Sold As Antiques

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York City Fire Department usually sells old fire alarm boxes for scrap metal. But yesterday city officials, who had 200 worn-out boxes to get rid of, tried something new. They called an auction.

A New Bomber Comes To Life

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The first B1, the strategic jet bomber the Air Force sees as the replacement for the veteran B52, has "come to life" with a functioning nerve system, Rockwell International Corp. said yesterday.

The plane's electrical power system has been installed and turned on, and the first of four 30,000-pound thrust jet engines has been installed, the company said. "When we went to power on, it was like giving life to the airplane," said Ed Mims, director of checkout operations.

Rockwell is under contract to deliver three of the supersonic, swingwing bombers to the Air Force for flight testing, with the first plane scheduled to make its maiden flight this fall.

Disaster Relief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate passed by voice vote yesterday a $150 million aid authorization bill to provide disaster relief assistance to Pakistan, Nicaragua and drought-striken areas of Africa.

Health Still A Problem In Wallace's Campaign

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Despite his protests to the contrary, Gov. George Wallace remains a pain-packed, paralyzed little man in a wheelchair whose frail health could at any moment snuff out his ever growing ambition to be President.

Wallace has made up his mind to run for president in 1976, his campaign organization is in place, but his health remains an uncertain factor.

Wallace maintains, "I'm physically able to run any sort of campaign. I can do anything I ever did except walk."

But in quieter moments he admits, "Campaigning is rough even on a well man," and concludes, "In my condition you never know what's going to happen."

Wallace, who won renomination to a third term last week with a record 64 per cent of the vote, campaigned vigorously. But midway in the campaign, he came down with a cold — "the first I've had since I was shot" —and dropped from sight for a week, complaining of a sore throat and running a fever. In a tight race, his absence could have spelled the difference between victory and defeat.

At the end of a long campaign day he often looked weary, his spirits dragged and he complained of "discomfort."

Yet, paradoxically, the bone tired weariness of a grinding campaign is the tonic that seems to keep George Wallace alive.

"I don't see how a man in my condition lives if he doesn't have something like I do," said Wallace. "If I didn't feel I could serve, if I didn't think I had some contributions to make I think I'd probably die."

It was two years ago yesterday that Wallace almost died as he lay on the hot pavement in a Laurel, Md., shopping center, four bullets lodged in his body.

If he had not been governor —had not had that reason to live —he would not have survived the assassination attempt, Wallace has told close friends.

The assassination attempt left Wallace paralyzed from the waist down. And in the first two years, Wallace has gone to surgeons, therapists, acupuncturists and faith healers in an attempt to regain his health.

THE LIFE OF A LION

Zamba, a 3-year-old African lion, stared at the photographer yesterday as he calmly went about the business of scratching or sharpening his claws on a birch tree in front of the city hall in Portland, Ore. The lion attracted a small crowd of passersby while visiting city hall to promote the opening of Circus Vargas in Portland.

Standard Will Pay $2 Million In Age Discrimination Action

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A division of Standard Oil Co. of California has agreed to pay 160 former employes some $2 million and rehire 120 of them in the largest settlement ever reached under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Labor Department said today.

The Labor Department had charged Western Operations, Inc., of California Standard with violating a provision of the law making it illegal to discharge employes between 40 and 65 years old because of their age.

Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan said the company had signed a consent decree issued by the U.S. District Court in San Francisco providing for the cash settlements and reinstatement of some of the employes.

Labor Department solicitor William Kilberg said the illegal firings occurred between Dec. 1, 1970 and last Dec. 31 during "a series of massive layoffs" by Western Operations because of economic difficulties. He said a disproportionately large number of the employes fired were over 40 years of age.

Kilberg said the Labor Department is looking into other divisions of California Standard as well as other companies and expects to report additional moves against age discrimination within a month or so. He added that age discrimination in employment probably is "relatively widespread around the country."

The 160 persons covered by the decree were fired from positions in eight states: Alaska, Arizona, California, Hawaii, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon and Washington. Brennan said individual awards would range as high as $50,000.

The employes range from executives to workers in lower-paid positions with their annual salaries ranging from $8,000 to about $40,000.

Brennan said the 40 who will not be reinstated included those now 64 or 65 of age, those with serious medical problems, and persons "whose discharges appeared to result from age discrimination but whose job performance had been deficient."

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Standard Oil Co. announced today that all its company-owned gasoline stations in Ohio will be open Sundays.

Levenson Reelected By Homeowner Unit

Other officers elected last night were Ned Buckley, Melvin LaFranchi and Cathy Bezy, vice presidents, and Tes Jacoby, secretary.

Levenson, 40, is a native of San Francisco and a nine-year resident of San Rafael. He lives on Mountain View Avenue with his wife, Barbara. The couple has two daughters.

Levenson attended the University of California at Berkeley and graduated from Pacific University in Oregon with a bachelor's degree in biology.

He won a doctor of optometry degree from Pacific University in 1962.

HOWARD LEVENSON
Heads association

He is president of the Marin County Comprehensive Health Council board and has served as president of the San Rafael Lions Club, the Family Service Agency of Marin, and as a scoutmaster. He is a member of a number of professional optometry groups.

He said major issues facing the Black Canyon association include the city's emerging general plan and improvement of lower Mountain View Avenue.

He Wants Ugly Treated Fairly

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Danny McCoy says it is time people started fighting discrimination against ugly people.

McCoy, 29, has organized "Uglies Unlimited" to fight what he says is discrimination by many companies against unattractive people.

"The blacks, the Chicanos and the American Indians have all had their days in the sun," McCoy says. "Now it's time for ugly people."

Fireworks Ban To Go Into Effect June 7

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission today announced that its ban on firecrackers and its tougher rules for the manufacture of all other fireworks will take effect on June 17.

The commission said that all fireworks —but not firecrackers —manufactured before June 17 could be sold until supplies are exhausted.

The new ban outlaws all firecrackers.

It remained to be seen whether all varieties of fireworks will be able to meet the new safety rules and thus remain on the market.

The new regulations for fireworks cover such safety measures as the thickness of the paper wall around the charges, the length of fuses and the speed with which the fuse burns.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Appeal Lacking In Stock Plan

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am considering purchase of 100 Sheller-Globe $1.35 convertible preferred (NYSE). Would you approve of this stock for growth as well as yield? I am also investing $100 monthly in Iowa Public Service (NYSE). Would you care to comment on this? — P.H.

A. Although Iowa Public Service reported a 2.3 per cent increase in earnings for the three months through March, 12-month results were donw 10 cents a share, reflecting the warmer than normal weather last winter. Two restrictive elements which could hamper earnings growth in the next five years are: the sharp step-up planned for capital spending and delays in receiving requested rate increases. In addition to Iowa's financing requirements for expansion, some $50 million in debt issues are due to matuer in the next five years.

Should the full amount of rate relief requested by granted by the Iowa Public Service Commission, this utility would be a more attractive income investment. In fact, a modest increase in the dividend rate would be a possiblity. Also working in the company's favor is its generating fuel mix — 90 per cent coal, 8 per cent gas and 2 per cent oil. While I would continue to hold these shares, new capital should be used to diversify your portfolio.

Whether Sheller Globe $1.35 pfd. is the proper instrument for your portfolio depends on the amount of risk you are willing to assum. The company has suffered from being in the wrong place at the wrong time these last several months. As a prime supplier of original equipment to the automative industry (55 per cent of sales) and a producer of recreational vehciles (25 per cent of sales), Sheller-Globe has been hit by both barrels. Earnings in the three quarters through March were off 14 per cent year to year. Sheller's recent changeover from camper-type vehicles to smallcommuter buses and the probable turnaround in passenger car sales will benefit earnings and share price. Nevertheless the $1.35 cv. pfd., appears overpriced — trading at at 42 per cent premium over conversion value — despite the generous 8.4 per cent yield on these shares.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Handy and Harman today quoted silver at $5.97 cents per fine ounce up 16 cents.

Mobilehome Community Open For Inspection By The Public

A mobilehome community which welcomes families and pets will open this weekend for public preview off Smith Ranch Road in San Rafael, between the 101 Motor Movies and Smith Ranch Airport.

Called Contempo-Marin Family Mobilehome Community, it has 397 homesites surrounding a lake, where residents will be able to fish and go sailboating. It is being developed by U.S. Communities Inc. of Wichita, Kans.

Model mobile homes, with two and three bedrooms, wall-to-wall carpeting, electric kitchens, and landscaped surroundings are open for view. Fourteen models manufactured by six different companies are available for sale, with prices ranging from $9,000 to $25,000.

The homesites at Contempo-Marin rent for $106 to $156 per month, including water and garbage. The residents will also have use of a large recreation center and clubhouse, with separate card, billiard and banquet rooms, sauna baths, gym room, and whirlpool bath.

Keith and Martha Rogers, resident managers of the community, will look after the physical upkeep of the community and help with the myriad of living problems.

"The parks' environment restores the village atmosphere, which in turn provides residents with the opportunity to keep their identity and increase their sense of security," said Homer Townsend of Fremont, who is handling public relations for Contempo-Marin. "People know their neighbors and feel secure to walk the park's streets at night or even leave a door unlocked. Residents are secure in the knowledge that their homes and belongings are under the watchful eye of a concerned community management."

McDonald's Has A Good Quarter

OAK BROOK, Ill. — McDonald's Corp., the restaurant chain, reported record earnings, revenues and sales for the first quarter of 1974, ended March 31.

Fred L. Turner, president, said net earnings for the first quarter were up 30 per cent.

Market On Plus Side At Opening

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bargain hunting among higher priced issues lifted stock prices on the New York Stock Exchange today. Trading was quiet.

Caution deepened among traders in view of sharply heightened tensions in the Middle East, fresh uncertainties on Watergate, and the prospect of further rises in various interest rates.

In that atmosphere, investors have been unwilling for weeks to desert the sidelines to make fresh commitments in stocks.

In one bright economic spot, personal income rose 0.6 per cent in April, the Commerce Department reported.

Among higher priced issues gaining a point or more were Motorola, Texas Instruments, Fairchild Camera, Digital Equipment, McDonald's Corp., Bausch & Lomb, Merck, Upjohn and Dome Mines.

TOO GOOD TO LAST

Everything was going fine for sweet harmony choir director Lucille Ringoen (top) and the Hamiltones, performing Tuesday in the first Puget Sound Senior Music Concert, until someone hit a sour note (below). Mrs. Ringoen has conducted the mixed chorus of Tallmadge Hamilton Senior Center for the past 11 years. The concert in Seattle attracted some 500 persons. (UPI Telephoto)

Milk Boycott Leader Says Effort 'Success'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A leader of the statewide milk boycott says the effort is a "smashing success" politically, although no figures were available showing a decline in California milk consumption.

Lucy Fried, coordinator of the Los Angeles-based Coalition for Economic Survival, yesterday said the boycott "has been a smashing success politically. Milk prices have become an issue. They have become important to those campaigning for elective office and their image.

"By the time the primary election is here there won't be a candidate around who won't come out in support of a milk price rollback," she added.

The coalition and other consumer groups began the boycott last Sunday to force a reduction in milk prices. The action was prompted by state approval of a 10 per cent per gallon hike in the price of milk.

Mrs. Fried said she had no figures to show milk consumption rising or falling since the boycott began. She said those figures are "controlled" by the dairy industry.

George Woodward, speaking for dairy producers, repeated his earlier observation that the boycott was a "flop." He said only a few stores in California have been seriously affected.

Woodward said the main purpose in consumer groups announcing the boycott was to force the legislature into taking a look at state milk laws.

"That has been achieved," he said. "Both the Assembly and Senate are now conducting a comprehensive study of the milk laws."

Penny Demand Reaches Crisis

CHICAGO (UPI) — The demand for pennies has reached crisis proportions in portions of the Midwest, according to a spokesman for the Federal Reserve Bank in Chicago.

The Reserve Bank of Chicago serves federally controlled banks in most of Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin and all of Iowa.

The demand for pennies was so high last week that some storekeepers stopped giving pennies in change, instead they rounded to the nearest nickel.

True Qualifications Vs. Party Loyalty

State Sen. Peter H. Behr, with a new district that runs all the way to the Oregon border, faces a challenge within his own party based on his conservationist record and his right to the designation "Republican."

Behr now represents Marin and parts of Solano and Napa counties. But the newly drawn Second Senatorial District, in which he seeks the nomination, runs from Marin up the coast, including most of Sonoma County and those to the north.

Qualifications as a conservationist, which are an asset to Behr in Marin, may be a liability in some of the counties to the north, especially those heavily dependent on the lumber industry. Many northern Republicans claim Behr has gone overboard in opposition to timbering and water diversion and in supporting such measures as the Coastal Control Commission law, which was enacted as an initiative measure.

HOWEVER, the principal challenge being voiced by his primary opponent, Sonoma County Supervisor Bob Theiller, is of Behr's "Republicanism."

Citing a voting record which shows Behr quite often voting with the Democratic majority (for instance, he was one of a few Republicans who voted for SB 400, which would have put the union shop into the faculties of California's public schools,), Theiller claims Behr is not qualified to wear the GOP label.

Behr, of course, takes sharp exception to this. He cites a long record of Republican Party activity, and a letter from state Sen. John L. Harmer, Republican caucus chairman, at the end of Behr's first year in the Senate, in which Harmer praised him for "the tremendous loyalty you have shown to the Republican Party."

Actually, Behr's voting record as a Republican and his staunch advocacy of conservationist causes are inter-related. Some of his environmental bills have received more backing from Democrats than from fellow Republicans. This puts him "voting with the Democrats" on bills that he — a Republican — introduced.

WE DOUBT that many people look at candidates solely on the basis of party loyalty. We hope not. If they did, all Republican candidates would indeed be in sad shape this year, for party loyalty could be equated with absolute loyalty to a president who is facing possible impeachment.

The quality of representation given by an office holder certainly means more to the electorate than his slavish devotion to the "party line."

Peter Behr has, on the whole, represented the people of his district well. He deserves renomination.

Behr's November opponent will be Mendocino County Supervisor Ernest F. Banker. The only other candidate for the Democratic nomination, Leslie A. Grant of San Rafael, cannot be considered a serious contender.

Influence On Jury Of Pre-Trial Publicity Appears Overrated In Watergate Cases

A major concern for the last several months, as the Watergate publicity continued its relentless drumfire, has been whether the accused persons from prankster to president could receive a fair trial.

The outcome in several cases — Segretti and Krogh, Mitchell and Stans — has suggested that the defendants may have nothing to fear. We speak here, of course, of trials in court. If there is an impeachment and trial in the Senate of the president, we should count on the high sense of history and solemn responsibility influencing the members of Congress.

FOR YEARS NOW, the press and the bar have worried about "free press and fair trial." Lawyers have felt the danger of cases being tried in newspapers and on the air, with prosecutors, officials, defense counsel, or the media all potential violators. There have indeed been some outrages, and codes of behavior have been worked out.

The Watergate situation, though, is of a different order of magnitude. Perhaps never have defendants in court had their plight so extensively publicized in advance. Events so far, however, have suggested that the pillars of justice may be leaning over backward. Juries and judges are intensely aware of the dangers. And, while the psychology of juries is a tricky business, there is as much possibility of sympathy for the accused as there is of prejudice against them.

What happened in the Mitchell-Stans trial, while confirming these possibilities, raises questions of a more subtle and sensational character. Counsel for the two former cabinet members consulted a firm which specializes in opinion-making and probing. The consultant developed a "profile" of the kind of jurors likely to be most sympathetic to Messrs. Mitchell and Stans, and through the selection process a jury precisely to these specifications was obtained.

The judge, seeking to recognize the dangers of pre-trial publicity, gave the defense 20 peremptory challenges of prospective jurors against eight for the prosecution.

The profile drawn up by the defense's psychologists called for mainly blue-collar persons, primarily Roman Catholic, earning some $8,000 to $10,000 yearly, who read the New York Daily News. While these terms were largely filled, the man who seems to have been a dominant figure was of Hong Kong birth, a high international official in a New York bank, probably earning as much as all his 11 colleagues put together.

This subtle way of selecting jurors is not completely new. Others have used it, probably effectively. Something of the sort has no doubt been the dream of defense attorneys for many years. But as in many other forms of depth-psychological probing, there seems something sinister about it. Of course, it could be employed by both sides in what is an adversary proceeding.

ANYWAY, A TRIUMPH in jury selection and handling has taken place. Two highly placed defendants have had their day in court and have got off free. Whether any of the further defendants — and Mitchell again, who faces juries in the District of Columbia —will have any such experience remains to be seen. The conventional wisdom is that juries fairly representing the District of Columbia are likely to be hostile. But maybe not.

Thus it would seem that all the publicity has not made fair trial impossible. There are other quirks in the way, such as whether withholding of some of the presidential tapes deprives the defendants of evidence which might help in exonerating them. This is a technical point impossible to assess without greater knowledge of the tapes' content.

The ultimate trial may come in the United States Senate. The last time this happened, with the trial of Andrew Johnson, cruel pressures were brought to bear on each wavering senator-juror. In the end, history has said that justice was done, but with only a single-vote margin. There might be pressures this time, too, less overt and crass. But the majestic image of justice herself, the United States Constitution, and the integrity of American government and institutions, are surely likely to prevail.

U.S., Sweden Close Rift That Never Was Necessary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

With an exchange of ambassadors, the United States and Sweden are about to close a breach which never should have occurred in the first place.

It began in 1968, and if it proved anything it was that governments are made up of human beings.

"Few people are so pro-American as the Swedes," said Swedish Premier Olaf Palme, and American travelers in Sweden can bear witness to his words.

Yet it was Palme with an extraordinary lack of diplomatic tact who contributed most to the chill. And it was two American administrations under Lyndon B. Johnson and Richard Nixon, reacting with extraordinary harshness against an ordinarily friendly nation, that sustained it.

IT WAS THE MORE extraordinary since criticism even more harsh than that leveled against U.S. policy in Vietnam by Palme also had been voiced not only by the Soviet Union and China, with whom the United States was seeking friendly relations, but also by another supposed ally, France.

In no case was American retaliation so severe.

Palme's position was that even though neutral, Sweden still had the right to speak out on world affairs.

In the case of Vietnam, it led him:

—On Feb. 21, 1968, while Swedish education minister, to march with the North Vietnamese ambassador to Moscow in a torchlight protest against the war in Vietnam.

On Dec. 23, 1972, to issue a statement condemning the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam as an "outrage" comparable to Nazi atrocities in World War II.

On other occasions, Swedish spokesmen condemned "indiscriminate" U.S. bombing in Cambodia, and, after the overthrow of the Marxist Allende government in Chile, attacked the military junta and criticized American policy.

Schoolbooks distributed in Sweden pictured Russians dolls on the volume dealing with the Soviet Union. The book on the United States pictured black children behind a fence, suggesting segregation.

Adding to American irritation was asylum granted by Sweden to more than 400 American deserters and a Swedish announcement even before the war had ended that $40 million in reconstruction and other assistance would be made available to North Vietnam.

AFTER PALME'S MARCH with the North Vietnamese ambassador in 1968, President Johnson called home the American ambassador, William Heath, and for a year the post was not filled. Palme's strongly expressed views in 1972 led Nixon to withhold an ambassador and to tell Sweden a Swedish envoy would not be welcome.

Diplomatically, it is possible that both sides over-reacted.

Reagan Vs. Employees Dispute Unfortunate

By EARL G. WATERS

The dispute which has developed between Gov. Ronald Reagan and the leadership of the California State Employes Association is unfortunate. Both can end up losers.

The governor had vetoed practically all of the benefit bills which the employee group succeeded in passing through the legislature last year. He did so on the pledge that he would sponsor a "complete benefits" package this year. His reason for delay was that he was awaiting the findings of a management study being conducted by a private firm. The study was made and its report was made. It was a recognition that the state employes were due numerous benefits which they were not receiving.

Reagan announced that he would keep his promise and act upon the report. He also agreed to confer with the employe leaders. He assigned the responsibility of conferring to Agency Sec. James G. Stearns.

THE EMPLOYEE LEADERS came away from the conferences disillusioned. They claimed that the "complete package" wasn't as much as was contained in the bills vetoed by the governor before the study, despite the fact the study supported those added benefits. They said Stearns had been put in the impossible position of "being a negotiator without power to negotiate".

The governor's forces dispute the employee contentions. They maintain that the governor has kept his word and, for the first time in history, provided the employees with a planned benefits program. This, they say, will assure the employees of improved benefits year by year.

There is validity to both points of view. Stearns was not acting as a negotiator. The governor has never agreed to negotiate, merely to confer and consider. The benefits proposed for this year are not so good as some that were contained in the previous legislation. And some benefits which had been provided in the vetoed bills are not contained in the new legislation. But the governor's package does offer a planned program of benefits for the first time. If adopted, it would provide some certainty for the employes in the future.

THE EMPLOYEES CALLED on the governor to submit the issues to mediation. With his background as a negotiator for the Screen Actors Guild, they thought this would strike a sympathetic note with Reagan. Whether it would or not, the request came out as a demand accompanied by the threat of strike. Reagan isn't an easy one to club. He reacted angrily by announcing that those who struck would be fired.

Asked if replacing 100,000 employes might not be hard to do, Reagan said, "Well, maybe we might find out how few people you could get along with in running the state."

Reagan is firm in his belief that it is wrong to delegate to someone not elected by the people the right to arbitrate and possibly impose greater tax burdens upon the people.

But perhaps there is still room for reasonable men to arrive at a solution. The state employee leadership must know that the strike threat is dangerous, if not wholly idle. And judging from the past, the number who would walk out would probably be less than 10 per cent.

On the other hand, the governor knows that no great harm could come in submitting the issues to an independent arbitrator. For whatever his findings, both houses of the legislature would still have to pass upon the proposals.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Proposition Three Benefits Expounded

I write this letter in support of Cal-Vet Proposition Three on the June 4 ballot.

Proposition Three is a $350 Million Cal-Vet Bond Act. It would authorize the state to sell bonds and provide, from the monies acquired, loans for California Veterans to purchase homes and farms in our state at a reduced interest rate. Funds for this model state program, which has been in being for over half a century, will be gone by June of this year.

The beauty of this program, in addition to providing low cost home loans to California Veterans instead of a cash bonus plan used by most other States, is that it costs the taxpayer absolutely nothing, it is completely self-supporting. The mortgage payments cover not only the repayment of the bond issue but the administrative costs as well. . .

In my opinion, no one can question the right of these men and women, who answered the call of their country in a declared national emergency, to share in home ownership, just as thousands before them.

Alternative Chairman Not Backing Filante

For those who might have confused me with the Ken Howard, who is William Filante's finance chairman, I would like to say that I am supporting Joan Seminario and the other candidates for the water board endorsed by the Marin Alternative and the Committee for a Conservationist Majority on the MMWD.

I have for several years opposed the Intertie (connecting us to the Russian River) and the inordinate expansion of the Marin water supply, and for this reason among others I am supporting the conservationist candidates.

Outrage At Nixon's Expletives Phony

Not long ago, there was a big to-do about the obscene language used by the California state legislators during sessions of the Legislature. It was further stated that this language was used during visits of school children to these sessions.

Now, these upright public figures are claiming to be "shocked" by the language indicated in the deletions of the presidential tape transcripts. They are not alone — the state of shock seems to be nationwide. These sanctimonious hypocrites would have us believe that their lips have never been soiled by the use of an "expletive". Bull!

In my nearly 55 years on this earth, I have never seen such a "witch-hunt"! It's as though an effort is being made to destroy Richard Nixon so thoroughly that he'll never be able to lift his head again. I suspect that there is wide-spread fear that he has not committed any impeachable offense and so, those who want him out of office are seeking any means to bring it about.

I believe the son of God, Jesus Christ, had the best advice when he said, "Let him who is without sin among you cast the first stone."

College Production 'Exciting Performance'

I sincerely hope the review by Gerald Genese of "Six Characters in Search of an Author", now playing through Saturday in College of Marin's Theatre II will not keep lovers of fine drama away.

First off, it is less than two hours in length (8 p.m. to 10 p.m. with a 15 minute intermission). The College of Marin cast performed nearly flawlessly when we saw the play, and had the audience completely absorbed in the play. I saw this play off Braodway in New York several years ago, and in comparison, the College of Marin's translation is easy to follow and to understand . . .

Even less sophisticated theatre goers should be able to imagine a life filled with poverty and tragedy, and to be asked to re-live it on stage evening after evening after evening, as is the story of the six characters.

It's truly an unusual offering for Marin and Bay Area audiences and one that should not be missed. Granted, it is a serious play. I left with the feeling that I had just viewed an exciting performance of an exciting work, and I didn't see a bored soul in the audience. "Six Characters In Search of An Author" will linger in my thoughts for a long time to come. A departure from the shallow electronics fare we are so conditioned to receive in the entertainment world.

Issue Raised In DeFunis Case Must Be Settled Eventually

(Reprinted from Wall Street Journal)

The Supreme Court perhaps was prudent to dodge the issue of reverse discrimination for the present, but this question will be with us for the next generation. By declaring the celebrated DeFunis case moot, the court sidestepped a final judgment on the widespread practice of giving minority groups preferential admission to law schools, in particular, and higher education, in general. On Monday, it had refused outright to hear a quota hiring case from Massachusetts in which a lower court upheld that state's right to require state construction contractors to hire at least 20 per cent of their workers from racial minorities.

These are obviously very touchy cases. The court can be defended for not rushing to decide them. But the issue eventually will have to be settled. Lower level practice of the federal "equal opportunity" agencies often seems to contradict the spirit, if not the letter, of congressional prohibitions against racial quotas. Universities and professional schools, unsure of the law but anxious to help minorities, frequently dissemble on their preferential admissions policies. The confusion has led to a Kafkaesque atmosphere in which well-meant dishonesty threatens to corrupt the moral tone of our finest institutions.

The air needs to be cleared. It can be by a definite court decision, either for or against reverse discrimination. (Although we hope it would be against.) We hope that the mooting of DeFunis is only the first step in the careful building of argument that will finally settle this question.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By GEORGE NEVIN

High Percentage Of Drug Users Should Not Surprise

The judge was surprised, the prosecutor was alarmed, and the defense attorney was pleased.

Of the 36, 17 freely admitted to the judge that they had used or did use marijuana or cocaine. Another four said they had close relatives who were users.

Of the jurors actually chosen, five were professed users of illegal drugs.

The judge privately admitted he was surprised. "There's no doubt this reflects a change in the general attitude toward drugs, especially marijuana," he said.

WHILE THE HIGH proportion of users may be unusual, the judge might not have been so surprised had he looked into the recent spread of many "soft" drugs into general society.

Ours has long been a nation of drug users, legal and illegal, we are told by researchers.

The judge further might not have been surprised if he had checked into the votes cast in the 1972 marijuana initiative, in which a sizeable minority of Marin residents voted in favor of decriminalization, according to figures released by the California Marijuana Initiative.

The highest yes vote statewide was in Berkeley, with 71 per cent in favor. Sausalito, with 70 per cent, was second, while other Marin towns in the top 10 were Fairfax (62 per cent), Mill Valley (60), San Anselmo (51) and the unincorporated areas (51).

Even such supposedly staid communities as Ross and Belvedere had large numbers of pro-marijuana citizens, with those cities registering 48 and 47 per cent respectively.

IT DOESN'T TAKE much casual questioning to learn that marijuana users can be found in almost every segment of Marin society, the juror questioning showed.

Policemen, businessmen, attorneys, newsmen, doctors, architects, teachers, shopkeepers and housewives, young, middle-aged and old — some of each class will privately admit to using illicit drugs, mostly marijuana.

$2 Million Pay Order Announced

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Standard Oil Co. of California has been ordered by a court to pay $2 million to approximately 160 employees discharged in violation of the federal Age Discrimination in Employment Act.

The consent decree order signed yesterday by U.S. District Court Judge Spencer Williams applies to workers of a Standard subsidiary called Western Operations Inc.

The U.S. Department of Labor brought the action, charging that Western Operations had dismissed employees in eight different states because they were between the ages of 40 and 65.

The Standard subsidiary was ordered by the consent decree to make offers of reinstatement to 120 of its previously terminated employees.

The company is directed to pay a total amount of $2 million to be distributed to about 160 persons in compensation for their lost wages and benefits.

The order also directed that the company adjust upward monthly pension payments to reflect the pensions due had they remained on the payroll through May 15, 1974.

Actress Prefers Separate Beds

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joanne Woodward, wife of actor Paul Newman, claims that togetherness between husbands and wives has been "blown out of all reasonable proportions." The actress, writing in the June issue of Good Housekeeping magazine, said that in order to maintain her separateness, she was all for chucking out the Newmans' double bed.

But she added that her husband was dead set against the idea. She wrote: "A double bed is fine for making love but not for sleeping. I like waking up alone, having time to fix my head and hair before facing the man I love."

ART BUCHWALD

Alice And The March Hare Attend A Press Briefing

WASHINGTON — Alice was walking down Pennsylvania Avenue when the March Hare asked her, "How would you like to go to a White House press briefing?"

"What's a White House press briefing?" Alice asked.

"That is where they deny what they have already told you, which is the only reason it could be true," the March Hare said.

"It sounds like fun," Alice said.

THE MARCH HARE brought Alice into the press room. A chess pawn was standing at a podium.

"Who is that?" Alice asked.

"That is the press secretary. He talks in riddles. Listen."

"Why are transcripts better than tapes?" the press secretary asked.

"I don't know the answer to that one," Alice said to the March Hare. "Why are transcripts better than tapes?" she shouted to everyone's surprise.

The press secretary looked at her with cold blue eyes. "I refuse to comment on that."

Alice looked confused. "Why did he ask us a riddle if he can't give an answer to it?"

THE MARCH HARE SAID, "They don't tell him the answers; they just give him the riddles."

"What a stupid thing," Alice said. "Why is everyone writing in their notebooks?"

"They write down everything he says even though they don't believe him."

"Why don't they believe him?" Alice asked.

"Because he makes things up. He has to or there would be no reason to have a briefing."

THE PRESS SECRETARY spoke again. "All the evidence is in and it proves beyond a reasonable doubt that the king is innocent of all crimes, ergo, ergo, ergo, et cetera."

"But what about the evidence the king refuses to turn over to the committee?" a dormouse asked.

"That is not evidence," the press secretary replied. "If there was further evidence to prove the king guilty, he would have gladly given it to the committee. The fact that he hasn't turned it over means regretfully there is none. It's as simple as that."

"It doesn't sound very simple to me," Alice said.

"WHY CAN'T WE HEAR all the tapes," the Mock Turtle asked, "so we can decide for ourselves who is innocent and who is guilty?"

The press secretary replied, "If you heard the tapes it would only prove the innocent are guilty and the guilty are innocent and it would serve no purpose but to confuse you. Besides what you would hear is not what you have read and what you have read is not what you would hear, so it's better not to hear what cannot be read. Isn't that perfectly clear?"

"I feel I'm back at the Mad Hatter's tea party," Alice said.

"Now I will give you some important news today," the press secretary said. "This is on the record. 'Twas brillig and the slithy toves did gyre and gimble in the wabe: All mimsy were the borogoves, and the mome raths out grabe."

Everyone wrote it down.

"What did he say?" Alice asked.

Wife Seeks Child Custody

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — When Gordon Dale became Kathy Ann, Carolyn Ann decided she wanted a divorce.

Carolyn Ann Eathorne has filed for divorce and asked custody of her son, 5, on the ground tht her seven-year marriage was "irretrievably broken" when her husband underwent sex change surgery in 1972 at Casablanca, Morocco.

After the operation, performed by Dr. Georges Burou, Casablanca gynecologist, the name of Gordon Dale Eathorne was changed to Kathy Ann Eathorne.

"It is something that simply has to be done. Carolyn and I are good friends and I see her and the boy from time to time," Kathy said.

Senate Narrowly Rejects Curbs On Racial Busing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — By the margin of a single vote, the Senate has refused to join the administration and the House in endorsing far-reaching curbs on the busing of students to achieve racial balance in the nation's public schools.

Grudgingly, however, the Senate gave way and accepted a set of much milder antibusing strictures.

Voting yesterday only two days before the 20th anniversary of the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregated schools, the Senate rejected a proposal that would have banned virtually all busing of students for desegregation purposes.

Offered by Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., as an amendment to a four-year, $23 billion extension of the federal education act, the proposal was defeated 47-46.

The Gurney amendment would have prohibited the busing of a student beyond the second closest school to his home and would have allowed school districts now under court order to bus students to revamp their programs to comply with the amendment.

The anti-busing forces, beaten in their major effort, then rallied behind an amendment offered by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind. It would permit busing within downtown city school districts or within suburban districts. It would permit busing between city and suburbs provided both districts involved had practiced discrimination in the past. Interdistrict busing such as proposed in Indianapolis and Detroit would depend on there being a finding of such past discrimination.

An earlier effort by Bayh to substitute his amendment for the Gurney proposal was crushed 84-9.

Also defeated was a so-called "freedom of choice" amendment by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C. The vote was 55-38.

New attempts at writing stronger anti-busing legislation into the bill were expected before final passage of the education measure next Tuesday.

Unless the Senate reverses itself, legislation dealing with the highly-volatile busing issue will have to be worked out by Senate-House negotiators. The Gurney amendment already has been passed by the House.

The Senate debated anti-busing legislation from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. and the debate was almost exclusively centered on the Gurney amendment.

"I think Americans are sick and tired of being used as social guinea pigs," Gurney said. "To treat students as pools of racial resources to cure racial imbalance is repugnant and is certainly not required under the 14th Amendment."

But Sen. Clairborne Pell, D-R.I., said the amendment would "turn the clock back" and lead to new "friction and hostility."

Poll Reports Public Baffled About Prop. 9

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Poll said today that the public is still baffled by Proposition 9, the complicated proposal aimed at reforming the state's campaign spending and lobbyists.

The poll said that only 31 per cent of those questioned felt they knew enough to venture an opinion. Of that 31 per cent, 24 per cent felt they would vote to support the measure and 7 per cent were opposed.

In April, the poll found that 77 per cent had not formed an opinion.

Proposition 9 is designed to place controls on campaign of candidates, public officials and legislative lobbyists. One factor confusing the voting public has been that political figures within both parties have come out on both sides of the question of its merits.

"The other day foar American tourists walked in and filled the place," he said. "And they didn't even buy a drink."

Energy Chief Sees Easing Of Arab Oil Restrictions

By STAN BENJAMIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Energy chief John C. Sawhill says the United States has indications that Arab nations will increase their oil production, allowing this country to import all the Arab oil it can use.

Sawhill said in an interview this was a favorable development but does not completely remove U.S. energy problems, because a refinery shortage and the threat of a new Arab oil embargo would persist.

He said the steep oil-price increases imposed by the Arabs last winter would cost the United States some $12 billion to $14 billion this year. But he forecast that the foreign oil prices would begin to drop within the next few months.

Sawhill also has been designated to head the Federal Energy Agency, recently authorized to replace FEO, and is awaiting Senate confirmation.

Q. Do you have any indication the Arabs will increase their oil production and let us have adequate supplies for the next couple of years, or do we face a tight situation indefinitely?

A. We had a team in the Middle East for the past two weeks. They came back optimistic that we would see increased production.

Q. Does that mean primarily Saudi Arabia?

A. Well, not only Saudi Arabia. I think the team just felt that, in general, we would see higher production over the next few years from these countries because they feel they have an obligation to expand production, and they are anxious to fulfill that obligation.

Q. Does this mean we would expect no recurrence of oil shortages here for the foreseeable future?

A. I don't think we can say no recurrence of shortages, because we still have a shortage of refinery capacity in this country.

And, while today we are optimistic about increases in production, I don't think we can necessarily count on those increases in production . . . We've got to get ourselves in a position where we are less dependent on it.

Q. Have you reached any conclusion about how dependent we can afford to be.

A. No. Some have argued that we should be dependent for

JOHN C. SAWHILL
Fuel problem persists

no more than 15 per cent of our total petroleum consumption. I think that figure might be a little bit low . . .

Q. Once such a level is decided, will it require an import quota or tariff to maintain that limit?

A. That's one of the things we are working on right now . . . I would be very reluctant to see a reimposition of a quota system. The quota system built up a lot of vested interest in maintaining that system and freezing the quotas at certain levels, and removed a lot of the flexibility that we could get if we had, for example, a variable fee system.

Q. What do you mean by a variable fee system?

A. As the import price gets lower, the fee on imported oil would increase so that the cost of the imports to this country would remain about the same.

Q. Where would the fee go — to the U.S. Treasury?

A. Yes.

Q. Is there a hazard of foreign oil producers cutting their prices to undermine U.S. development of alternative energy sources.

A. Well, that's a possibility, but again I think something like a variable fee system could help there. The other alternative would be, as suggested by Commerce Secretary Frederick Dent, to guarantee the prices of at least a certain portion of the output of these alternative energy sources.

Q. What about the balance of payments problem caused by Arab oil-price increases?

A. It is serious. Until we see lower prices, the United States, and especially the developing nations, are going to have balance of payments difficulties.

On the other hand, I think we are going to see some downward movement over the next few months as the supply and demand forces begin to work in the world marketplace.

The higher prices have already begun to result in significantly lower consumption, not only in Europe but in the United States.

Q. How large an impact will the recent higher oil prices have on the U.S. balance of payments?

A. We have said it could be as much as $12 billion to $14 billion in 1974 for increased oil payments over 1973. It will, in effect, wipe out the balance of trade surplus that we had in 1973.

Q. What is the consequence of that — more inflation?

A. It could have an inflationary impact, yes. What it will mean is that we will either have to find ways of exporting more American goods abroad or reducing our imports in other areas.

Q. What are the major elements of your long-range planning?

A. Well, certainly in the immediate future we are going to have to focus on energy conservation, because it is going to be hard to increase our supplies quickly . . . I think we ought to try to reduce the rate of energy growth in this country from the 4.5 to 5 per cent it has been running to something like 3 per cent.

Q. How fast can that be done?

A. I think we ought to be able to do it in a two-or three-year period. Much of the reduction we're talking about is in industrial processes . . . things like recirculating hot water, insulating pipes more effectively . . .

Also, I think we're going to see more energy-efficient cars come on the market.

Q. Do you favor legislation to require better gasoline mileage?

A. Before I come to a conclusion on that, I want to meet with the auto industry and see what kind of goals they are willing to set for themselves, and I do plan to do that this summer.

Transit Firm Can Hike Fares

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The state Public Utilities Commission yesterday authorized Northgate Transit Co. of San Mateo County to increase its fares.

The basic fare will be 30 cents, instead of 25 cents, and the fare for students will be 20 cents, instead of 15 cents.

Northgate operates in Daly City, Colma, South San Francisco, Pacifica, San Bruno and parts of San Francisco.

Disney Productions Is Ready To Build Dream

The announcement came last night in Philadelphia from E. Cardon Walker, president and chief operating officer of WDP. He made the announcement after accepting an award from the American Marketing Association.

The community, envisioned by the late Walt Disney when he planned Walt Disney World near Orlando, is called an "Experimental Prototype Community of Tomorrow (EPCOT)." It will be designed to house and serve people in the most advanced designs that can be assembled.

Walker described it as a "community of tomorrrow that will never be completed, bat will always be introducing the testing and demonstrating new materials and new systems.

"EPCOT will always be a showcase to the world of the ingenuity and imagination of the American free enterprise system," he said.

Because the corporation is two years ahead of schedule in completing the recreational magic kingdom theme park here, with completion of the Tomorrowland area by the end of 1975, Walker said, Disney productions can now go ahead with final planning of EPCOT.

He said Disney executives will soon begin to confer with leading businessmen, industrialists, scientists and artists and begin organizing research teams to attack the problems involved. The job will be more than one company can handle, he said.

The first project will be to construct an international showcase for nations of the world to show their culture and products. Next will be an American industry showcase followed by first elements of the low and high density housing areas which Disney envisioned.

Plastic Balls Cut Evaporation Loss

FREEPORT, Tex. (AP) — Hollow plastic balls, not much bigger than ping pong balls, are used at a chemical complex of the Dow Chemical Co. here to reduce heat loss and save energy. Hundreds of the plastic balls are allowed to float on the surface of previously uncovered collection tanks where they insulate heated liquids.

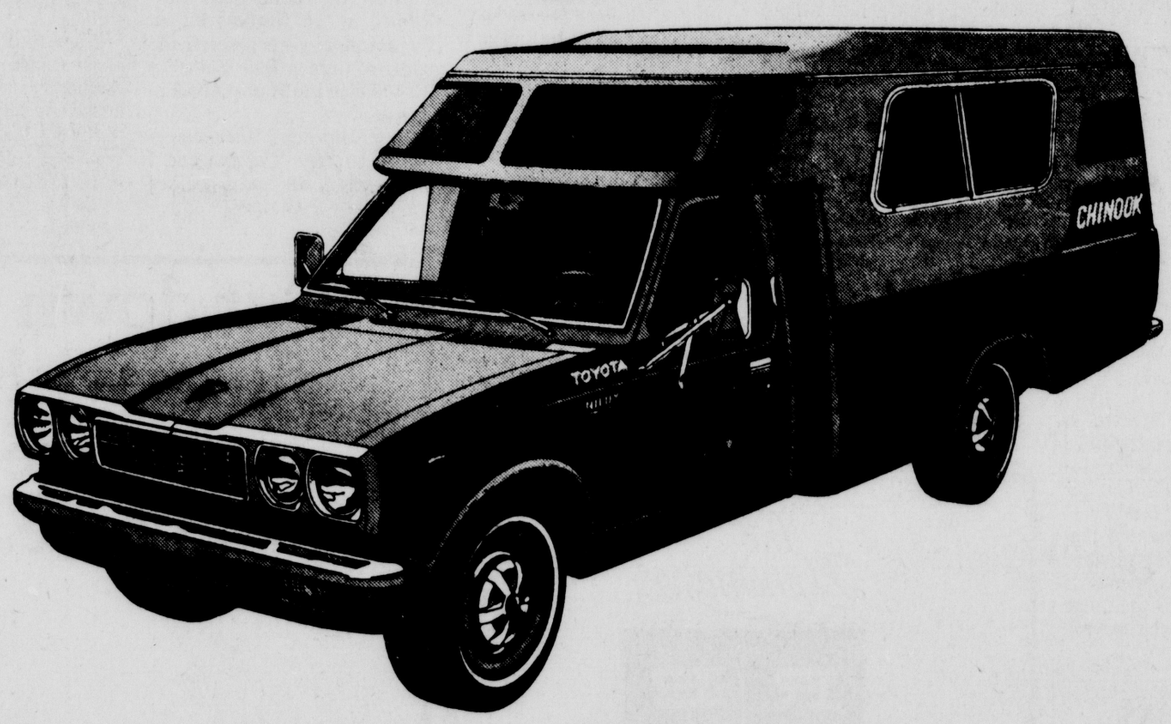
Now you can go to Santa Cruz or the Russian River or Clear Lake and get back again.

On one tank of gas.*

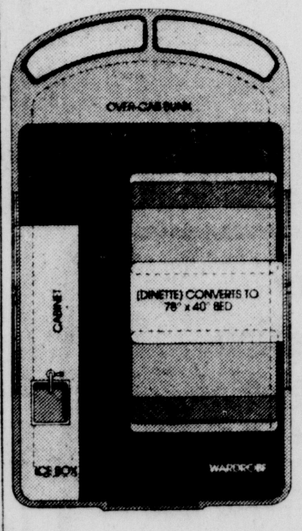


Introducing the Toyota-Chinook Round Tripper.

It takes you just about anywhere within a 120 mile radius and back again! On one 13.7 gal. tank of gas.

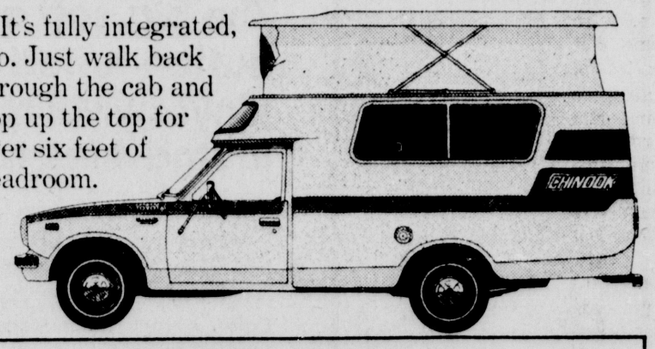
That's something you wouldn't expect from a bigger camping vehicle. But this one gets over 19 miles per gallon! (Tests, verified by an independent testing laboratory, were conducted over mountain roads, city streets and freeways in Southern California.)

Yet, you still get the basics you expect in the bigger vehicles. Like a sink. A dinette. An ice box. Carpeting. And a couple of beds.



*Distances were measured, according to the AAA, from city hall to city hall by the most direct route. Actual gas mileage, of course, depends on personal driving habits and road conditions.

It's fully integrated, too. Just walk back through the cab and pop up the top for over six feet of headroom.



The Long Bed 2000 Half-Ton truck, the solid foundation the Round Tripper is built on, was chosen "1974 Pickup Truck of the Year" by Pickup, Van and 4-Wheel Drive magazine. Its bed is almost a foot longer than any other truck in its class. You get a powerful 1968cc engine, standard. A 4-speed transmission. Biggest tires in its class. Big cab (4 inches more legroom than last year). And much more.

HE'S OFF — and hasn't returned. A young homing pigeon is released by pigeon fancier Charlie Tweedle of San Rafael carrying half the answer to the FYT School children's riddle in its leg capsule from the Mill Valley school. The flight plan was to return to the San Rafael FYT School, but the bird hasn't made it home yet from its maiden flight eight days ago. Instead, the children have spotted the bird flying around the Mill Valley area. Children from left are Rachel Mayeri, Jon Woodmansee, and Kristi Siegel.

Pigeon Pupils Keeping Sharp Eye On The Sky

By BARBARA HOSMER

If you see a young pigeon flying around the Marin skies carrying half of the answer to a riddle, don't be surprised.

"One of them is still out," said Jaki Albright, director of the Formative Years Training Schools in San Rafael and Mill Valley.

The whole thing came about last fall when each school acquired two pairs of homing pigeons and the idea was to train them to fly messages written by the young school children back and forth between the schools as a reading and writing project.

But with the rainy weather and the Mill Valley school's pigeons attracting mice, the program has worked out a bit differently.

First, the birds have multiplied — there were soon eight at one school and 10 at the other, said Mrs. Albright. And some of the adult birds went home to Marin City to the man who sold the school the birds. Training with the wet weather and the many young offspring has been another problem. "We waited for warm weather," Mrs. Albright said.

"Then we had too many birds. We have had to give some away," the director explained.

"We've had birds flying all over."

LAST THURSDAY the director took two young birds from San Rafael to Mill Valley and one adult pigeon from Mill Valley to San Rafael and turned them loose with the children's riddle in the message capsules attached to their legs. They contained two parts of the children's riddle, "Why does the bird sit on the telephone wire? So he can make a long distance call." The children are at the age when they love to make up riddles, the director added.

Well, the adult bird made it to Mill Valley all right and one other came in the next day, but one of the young ones is still out there. "If anybody finds it, the message won't make sense because it is half of the riddle answer.

"The children write so large that we have to cut the paper in half and carry them in two birds," Jaki Albright explained.

"The children still see the young bird flying around and he comes to eat, but hasn't really returned," she said. It is his first message flight.

Tomorrow some of the San Rafael children will take an excursion to Samuel P. Taylor Park and let loose an adult bird with another message. The hope is that it will arrive back at the San Rafael school within three hours so the little children still there can have the fun of getting a message.

One of the San Rafael birds released in Mill Valley in a prior homing experiment brought a message back from the Southern Marin children about a field trip they took, so San Rafael children wanted to go on one, too, the director explained.

THEY WILL be taking one of their best flyers to Taylor Park, "so he should make it back," Mrs. Albright said hopefully.

In the past months the children have had the experience of seeing the eggs in the nests turn into young pigeons. "They grow so fast. They look like little rubber dinosaurs without feathers, then in two weeks they look like small adult birds but are still waiting in the nest to be fed," Jaki Albright said.

San Rafael homing pigeon authority Charlie Tweedle has come to the schools to tell the children about the birds' growth and training.

"It's mainly the fun of the children having the bird come," said the director.

A scheduled air service, it isn't.

And if anyone should find the missing bird, the message won't make any sense, Mrs. Albright repeated with a laugh. The riddle answer is still "blowin' in the wind."

Marin Women

Marianne Koford Wed To David M. Jewhurst

Hamilton Air Force Base Chapel was the setting for the wedding of Marianne Louise Koford and David Michael Jewhurst at noon, Saturday. The ceremony was a combination of Danish and American customs.

Marianne is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Norman S. Clark of Novato, and David is the son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. John Jewhurst of Hamilton.

Mrs. William Lang of San Francisco was matron of honor for the bride, and bridesmaids were Marcia and Sue Jewhurst of Hamilton, sisters of the bridegroom, and Anna Marie Loy and Loretta Loy of Novato.

John H. Jewhurst III of Hamilton, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and ushers were Jaffe Le Tourneau, of Seattle, James Mackey of Hollywood and Joel Koford Jr. and Robert Koford of Novato, brothers of the bride.

Following a reception at the bride's parents' home, the couple went on a wedding trip to Hawaii. They will live in Phoenix, Ariz.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School. She is also the sister of Michael Clark of Novato and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Clark of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. S. Verner Jensen of Denmark.

The bridegroom was graduated from Sylvania High School in Ohio and Big Bend Community College in Washington. He also attended Central Washington State College. He is the grandson of John Hunter Jewhurst of New York.

Mary Elizabeth Clarke Engagement Announced

Mrs. Charles Cushing Clarke of Kentfield has announced the engagement of her daughter, Mary Elizabeth Clarke, to Thomas Case Ver Hoef of Long Beach.

The couple plan to be married June 22.

Mary is a graduate of the Katharine Branson School and the University of California at Santa Cruz. She is employed in San Francisco by Dinkelspiel and Dinkelspiel law firm. The sister of John Kimball Clarke of Princeton, N.J., she is the granddaughter of Mrs. John V. Slaninka of Bellingham, Wash.

Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Ver Hoef of Long Beach and the brother of James Walker Ver Hoef of San Francisco.

He is a graduate of Lakewood High School and U.C. at Santa Cruz and has been employed in San Francisco.

After their marriage the couple will attend the University of Oregon, where Mary will study law and Thomas will begin preveterinary studies.

Presbyterian Women Elect Margaret Pitts President

The United Presbyterian Women of Westminster Presbyterian Church in Tiburon has elected Margaret Grace Pitts president.

Mrs. Malcolm Pitts, who has lived in Tiburon for two years and been a member of the UPW for a year, has served on the church Board of Deacons, and as a member of the Outreach Church and Society Commission.

She sees the purpose of the organization as "to support the mission of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States; to help one another grow in faith and understanding, and to act with Christian concern for all people."

The activities of the church women include monthly meetings of two circles for social and spiritual purposes; three luncheons a year with programs; sponsoring a yearly church dinner; supplying two board members and assisting with the staffing of the Village Salvage Shop in Tiburon, and assisting with mission work by packaging and mailing goods collected by church members.

"Any woman who is a member or friend of the church is eligible for membership," Mrs. Pitts said.

Mrs. Pitts is also active with the Marin Suicide Prevention program, and the Marin Interagency Committee on Child Abuse.

She was born in Phoenix, Ariz., and received the bachelor of arts degree in philosophy from the University of Arizona at Tucson, and the master of social work degree from Portland State University in Portland, Ore.

Malcolm Pitts is an account executive with an advertising firm. They have two children, Amanda Joan, 4, and Michael Robert, 2. Mrs. Pitts enjoys reading, working with people and cooking.

Other new officers are Mmes. Harry S. Winblad, vice president and Salvage Shop representative; James Ballard, secretary and circle chairman; Paul Steward, treasurer; Marvin Denekas, circle chairman; L. W. Orr, representative to the San Francisco Theological Seminary Auxiliary.

In celebration of their centennial year members of Marin Alumnae of Sigma Kappa Sorority will have a silver tea Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Edmond Carlson Jr., 201 Jamaica in Tiburon.

Rides for alumnae without transportation will be provided, according to Mrs. Carlson, in hopes that elderly members will be able to attend the centennial celebration. A national celebration will be held in June at Wentworth-by-the-Sea in Portsmouth, N.H.

Proceeds from the tea will be used toward recolonization of Lambda Chapter of Sigma Kappa sorority at the University of California at Berkeley.

THE JOLLY Rogers Chapter of Children's Home Society will have its annual spring ball Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the Meadow Club in Fairfax.

Mrs. Lee Moon is dance chairman. She will be assisted by Mmes. Robert Braaten, Edward Brown, Sid Stockwell, Chris Werner III and Peter Wuertz.

SEMI FINALISTS for the Marin County Panhellenic Association's five scholarships will be feted Sunday at 2 p.m. at a party at the home of Mrs. A. P. Celia, 1321 Idylberry Road in San Rafael.

Five high school seniors will receive $100 scholarships on the basis of scholarship and leadership. They will be announced by June 1.

THE MARIN Jewish Community Center Singles Group will have a swim party and barbecue Sunday at 4 p.m. at the center in San Rafael.

THE ANNUAL mother-daughter night of the Wilson School Parent-Teacher Association will be held tonight at 6:30 p.m. in the community building of the school in Petaluma.

Chairmen of the event are Maureen Friedrichsen, Helen Johnson, Pat Dinic, Sandy Garcia, Pat Cunningham and Betty Farrington.

A play, "The Puppet Prince," written by Alan Cullen will be presented by the Sonoma County Actors Theater for Children.

Admission to the pot luck dinner and play will be one May basket made by daughters for their mothers. The baskets will be used as centerpieces on the dinner tables.

SAN RAFAEL Assembly 195, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, will have a faiths tea Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the home of Judy Brichetto, 35 Somerset Lane in Mill Valley.

Honored will be new members, Cathy deHeer, Virginia Tuttle, Darcey Wilde, Beth Fegan, Mary Hoffman and Key Evans.

"A SPRING Fling" will be held by the American Little League and the Little League Auxiliary Saturday at Herzog Hall in Petaluma.

The evening will begin with cocktails at 8 p.m., followed by dancing. A breakfast will be served at 1 a.m.

"IMPRESSIONS OF South America" will be presented tomorrow at the Couples Section of the Novato Branch of American Association of University Women meeting by Mr. and Mrs. Grant Morse at 8 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Palmer in Novato.

Marin City Girl Wins Scholarship

Gloria Dickens of Marin City, a student at Idaho State University in Pocatello, received an award from Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity, Epsilon Theta Chapter at the university, at a scholarship award night.

She was honored for her "active concern" during a scholarship fund raising effort. Members of her sorority, Delta Sigma Theta, Lambda Delta chapter, and the fraternity raised $300 for a scholarship to be presented to a student in financial need.

Shelley Lynn Wallace To Be Married

The engagement of Shelley Lynn Wallace and Michael Wayne Carty has been announced by the future bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Wallace of San Rafael.

Shelley is the sister of Steven Wallace of Santa Rosa and Duane Wallace of San Rafael. Althea Hampton of San Rafael is her grandmother. She is a graduate of Terra Linda High School and is employed by the Retail Clerks Union in San Rafael.

Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Carty of Castlewood, Va. He is the brother of Billy, Tom, Brenda and Judy Carty and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Carty and Thomas Robinson, all of Castlewood. The future bridegroom was graduated from Thomas Dale High School in Chester, Va., and attended Emory and Henry College in Emory, Va. He is in the Navy, stationed at Pearl Harbor in Hawaii.

Court St. Agnes One Host For State Convention

Court St. Agnes 1428, Catholic Daughters of America, has been selected as one of six courts in the state to host the California State Catholic Daughters convention, according to Alfreda Schunk of Fairfax.

The convention will be held May 22 through 26 at the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco.

Members of Court St. Agnes will host the awards banquet the Friday evening of the convention. Committee members are Mrs. Schunk and Mrs. Edmond Bruschini of Fairfax and Margaret Holland of San Anselmo.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

At 16, She's Madly In Love And Wants To Speed Things Up

RAP:

I am 16 and madly in love with a guy who thinks of me only as a friend.

Last time I wanted a guy to love me, I ended up slashing my wrists because I couldn't wait until he came around. He never did anyway.

I get depressed easily and don't know how long it will be before I'm desperate again.

I don't need a shrink. I just need love. How can I speed things up? — E.M.

E.:

If you get so desperate you try suicide — just because you "can't speed things up" — you may need a shrink more than you think.

Talk to a counselor about these desperate moods. — SUE

DEAR E.:

The surest way to "slow things down" is —desperation. Few boys will take a chance on a girl who needs love so badly she'd die for it.

Settle for friendship until you understand yourself more thoroughly. — HELEN

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

Can you beat this? My sister who has always resented me, is crazy-jealous because I'm having a baby. Last night she screamed I only did it to make Mom feel sorry for me, and get her consent for marriage.

Everything I have, she wants, including my guy. Mom signed the papers for me, so there'll be a wedding, and my sister is trying her meanest to break it off.

She even told my fiance the baby isn't his, but she could have a baby for him anytime he said the word.

I'm afraid that just to spite me, she'll turn up pregnant. She told me last night that if she does, she'll swear the father is my guy.

So far, both of us are trying to ignore her, but when she's chasing him, and trying to persuade me she's already got him, it's hard. To top it off, Mom wants her to be maid of honor at our small wedding, planned for late June.

What do you suggest? — SISTERLY HATED

DEAR S.H.:

We'd suggest a smaller, sooner wedding, like about next week, with only your parents attending. Scratch the maid of honor — you don't need one who schemes to edge you out of the running. — HELEN AND SUE

RAP:

My mother hates my best girl friend: first because she was "wild," and now because she's "too changeable."

See, my girl friend wasn't ever rotten, but she took chances, so Mom figured she was a bad influence. Then my friend became a Christian, and Mom now says she's a Jesus freak, and "one extreme is as bad as the other." She's not extreme!

Would you please say something to mothers about letting children choose their own friends? — JENNY, AGE 17

DEAR MOTHER OF JENNY:

Your girl will face bad and good influences all her life. Your job is to teach her the difference between them, not seal her off from all "contamination." — HELEN

DEAR MOTHER OF J.:

Since when is Christianity a "bad influence"?

Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

Newlyweds Will Live In Novato

Janis Moschetti and Paul Pellegrini, both of Novato, were married at Our Lady of Loretto church in Novato on May 5.

Janis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Moschetti of Novato, and Paul is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pellegrini of San Rafael.

Maid of honor was Marcy Moschetti, the bride's sister. Bridesmaids were Cindy Tornai and Jo Anne Hunter of Novato, and Launa Beuhler and Michele Benjamin of Mill Valley.

Tom Solari of San Rafael was best man, and ushers were Bob Nave of Terra Linda, Bob Mariani of Kentfield and Ed Mestre and Biff Buchignani.

The wedding reception was held at the Marin Country Club. The couple went on a wedding trip to Yosemite National Park. They will live in Novato.

The bride was graduated from Tamalpais High School and College of Marin. She is employed at the dental office of Dr. Frederick A. Zulch in Greenbrae.

She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Martina Moschetti of Eureka and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Tobias of Huntington, Ind.

The bridegroom was graduated from Terra Linda High School and is attending College of Marin. He is the brother of Toni and Terry Pellegrini and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Milani of San Rafael.

Prepare Summer Meals In Advance

With springtime yard activity, hurried schedules of school activities, end of year school functions and the start of summer sports, it's hard to get the whole family to sit down for a leisurely meal.

One good way to beat the spring scurry is to fix the meal ahead of time so that it can be served almost at a moment's notice.

Spruce Up Sale At Salvage Shop

The Tiburon Salvage Shop will have a spring spruce up sale Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Merchandise will be displayed for sale outside the store at the Tiburon Boulevard entrance to Hilarita.

At the same time volunteers will be holding a "paint in," giving a green, yellow and white front to the shop, as part of a refurbishing project, according to Mrs. Caroline Maskell, president of the salvage shop board of directors.

The shop started in 1952 to raise funds for the Reed School District and St. Stephen's, St. Hilary's, Community Congregational and Westminster Presbyterian Churches. More than $150,000 has been raised through the sale of recycled household goods and clothing.

'Puppet Prince' To Be Presented

"The Puppet Prince," a fantasy play for children, will be presented Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at Tomales High School by the Actors' Theater for Children.

The actor's theater was established in 1971 to bring live theater to Sonoma County youngsters. It is the only community children's theater company in Sonoma and is the recipient of a California Arts Commission Grant Award.

The play, with a cast of eight, follows a formula developed in a 1973 survey of 475 school children that called for a story with "... funny people, lots of chases... no singing, lots of action rather than talk... with a happy ending."

Older Woman's Scholarship

The Faculty Wives' and Women's Club at Sonoma State College is offering a $500 scholarship for a Sonoma County woman 25 years old or older.

Applications are open to women who are planning to attend Sonoma State in the fall. Applicants must send two letters of recommendation, transcripts of previous college work and a biographical statement including reasons for wanting and needing the scholarship to Susan Ziblatt, 3560 Acreage Lane, Sebastopol, 95472.

Applications, which are due by June 30, must also include a Student's Financial Statement, available in the college Financial Aid Office.

Preference will be given to a student who is not already enrolled at the college.

"Many women, after entering the labor market or marrying, are prevented from returning to school because of financial constraints or a feeling that their previous decision was irrevocable. We hope that this scholarship will encourage women to return to school if they desire to," said a club spokesman.

FOR DIPLOMATS' WIVES

Taking Mystery Out Of America

By LUCIA MOUAT
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — To a foreigner, suddenly having to adapt to the American way of life can be a bewildering experience.

For one thing, there is all that confusing kitchen gadgetry to be mastered. For another, there is the mundane matter of knowing when to put out the garbage. And how do you go about finding a baby-sitter when you speak only Japanese or Portuguese?

A volunteer organization in Washington called The Hospitality and Information Service (THIS) positively thrives on such queries. Indeed, its willingness to dabble with the nitty-gritty adjustment problems faced by the 2,000 diplomatic families living here is one reason it has proved so enduring over the years.

Sponsored by wives of presidential Cabinet members and manned by some 300 screened volunteers, THIS involves itself in everything from Mardi Gras balls and family picnics to seminars on the women's movement and English conversation classes. The thick monthly calendar of activities is such that it is sometimes a toss-up as to whether the diplomats or the volunteers are having more fun.

It all started back in 1961 when then Chief of Protocol Angier Biddle Duke made the suggestion. He was concerned that diplomats often stayed several years in Washington without making informal contracts and really getting to know the area.

"The town was filled with people looking for housing and shopping information," recalls Lillian Owen, cofounder whose basement provided the group with its first meeting place. "We filled a need at the time and, like Topsy, we just grew."

Once the visiting committee of this highly organized group learns that a new diplomatic family has arrived in town, it telephones to set up an appointment. In addition to answering personal questions, the caller turns over to the newcomer a hefty welcome kit listing everything from potential baby-sitters and hospitals to Washington art galleries and an explanation of the American electoral system.

One enclosure, usually of lasting use, is a little blue paperback titled "The Kitchen" which explains such taken-for-granted U.S. cookbook terms as "par" and "pit," converts U.S. measurements into their metric equivalents, and includes a graphic map translation in French and Spanish of various beef and pork cuts in place on the cow or pig.

Each new family — and there are 500 to 600 a year, with the rush falling in the summertime — is invited to an "Introduction to Washington" reception held monthly at Meridian House, a handsome French-style home of a former U.S. ambassador to Spain and headquarters of several international groups in Washington.

There, amid potted chrysanthemums in an elegant museum-like setting, the visitors pass through a receiving line of Cabinet wives and are free to visit the roughly 20 informational booths representing various THIS committees.

A newcomer can sign up for anything from a needlework class to supper in an American home. For the children, there are ice skating, pizza parties, and dances. Cooking classes include a demonstration, often complete with a view of the ingredients still in the box or can, and a full sampling.

"Differing customs don't always allow everyone to eat everything, but they're definitely interested in learning about American cooking," says Jennifer Johnston, chairman of the cooking committee.

The organization's financial support comes largely from the Meridian House Foundation. However, the group sponsors fund-raising events and the volunteers pay an annual membership fee themselves for the privilege of serving. All volunteers are screened for committee work by Mrs. Byron White, wife of the Supreme Court Justice, and the talent bank is considerable.

"With a little noitce we can rustle up an interpreter in almost any language," comments Mrs. John Carter Good, the group's treasurer. "There's one obscure African dialect we haven't been able to find anyone for. . . but mainly what we're interested in is warm, outgoing people."

Washington's diplomatic community clearly appears to have gotten that message.

"I've met people through THIS who have become real friends," says Mrs. Henry Armstrong, wife of a Canadian diplomat. She explains that often a diplomat's only other contacts are cocktail receptions where the talk is polite but rarely leads to genuine friendship. "I'm an enthusiastic supporter — THIS fills a need that is not met in many other capital cities."

Three Injured In Golden Gate Bridge Collision

A Tiburon pediatrician, her sister-in-law and grandniece were injured yesterday in a two-car collision on the Golden Gate Bridge.

Her sister-in-law, Thelma Thelander, 72, of Long Beach, was also reported in fair condition at the hospital.

Dr. Thelander's grandniece, Elizabeth Bextaso, 19, of Livonia, Mich., received a broken vertebra in the accident and was reported in fair condition at Mission Emergency Hospital in San Francisco.

The Highway Patrol had no details of the 11:30 a.m. accident which involved cars driven by Dr. Thelander and Kathleen A. Phillips, 21, of San Francisco.

Leftists Free Army Colonel

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Lefist guerrillas yesterday released unharmed an Argentine army colonel kidnaped more than six months ago.

"He is well and is in his house," said army spokesman Lt. Col. Carlos Menviel.

His wife had repeatedly said his health was in danger and that he needed constant medical treatoent as a followup to an operation he had last year.

Suit Asks A Full Probe Into Black Boy's Death

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A federal Civil Rights suit was filed yesterday to force an investigation into the death of Tyrone Guyton, 14-year-old Emeryville boy killed by police last November.

An organization called the committee for Justice for Tyrone Guyton asked the U.S. district court to order Alameda County District Attorney Lowell Jensen to "vigorously prosecute" criminal charges against three Emeryville policemen involved in the fatal shooting.

It also asked that the Alameda County Grand Jury be ordered to return criminal indictments against the three and that the City of Emeryville be ordered to take "appropriate disciplinary action" against them.

The court was also asked to appoint a special prosecutor to oversee the case and see that the court orders were carried out.

The black youth was shot to death on Nov. 1, 1973, and the suit alleged that two subsequent presentations to the grand jury were made "in bad faith, presenting the case incompletely and without appropriate prosecution vigor." The grand jury twice failed to return indictments.

The complaint also said the killing of Gutyon was "arbitrary, capricious and done with discriminatory intent, based on the fact that Tyrone Guyton was black and his killers were white police officers."

Students Learn To Think International

By MARY LEYDECKER

Nigeria's permanent representative to the United Nations pushed back a lock of her dark hair, smiled and said, "the first year you have to get your feet wet."

Nineteen-year-old Bobbie Jacobs, a sophomore at Dominican College, isn't really the ambassador from Nigeria, but after playing the role at the annual Model United Nations in Portland last month, she has learned "to think Nigerian."

BOBBIE JACOBS
This year's ambassador

DOUG VAN AMAN
Next year's representative

The big conference, held each year for colleges and universities in the west, this year attracted 72 delegations to Portland.

The frustrations of trying to get resolutions through committees and finally the General Assembly were recounted by some of the 11-member delegation, most of whom attended for the first time.

Miss Jacobs said that the first year at the Model U.N. was apt to be especially frustrating because of lack of experience with the realistic international politicking, modeled on that of the real U.N.

Most college delegations, she said, work hard at representing the viewpoint of the country they represent. James Boitano, instructor for the Dominican group, said that without the real economic pressures that real countries can bring to bear, the students depend more on parliamentary procedures to accomplish their ends.

In order to "think Nigerian," the delegation spent weeks studying the country, preparing to deal with such diverse issues as apartheid, Portuguese colonies and the territorial limits of countries in the world's oceans and seas.

"You have to really know your country and then just use your own tuition," one young delegate said.

(Boitano said that two years ago Dominican was assigned Sierra Leone as its country, and that researching the small nation was difficult "with the limitations of a small college library.")

Nigeria, however, was considered much more of a plum, since it is a leader among the African countries.

This year, Miss Jacobs said, the government of Niger (Nigeria's northern neighbor) was overthrown. She added that it would have been most interesting to have been involved in the conference when the Portuguese government was overthrown, shortly after the students returned home, because so much discussion about the Portuguese colonies took place.

Most of the delegation related their experiences, the subjects with which they dealt and the resolutions they sponsored in polite classroom voices.

One student, however, Katie Buxton, 20, in describing her committee's discussion of West South Africa, ended with a frustrated, "the things they do to those people!"

All the students agreed that the hours of work they put into getting ready for the U.N. conference bring them a greater awareness of current events plus a "new view of your own country."

Plans are already under way for next year's U.N. conference, with 20-year-old Doug Van Aman of San Rafael, a junior political science major, named as the ambassador for a as-yet-unnamed country.

"We're starting right now," Van Aman said, to raise the money for a delegation to travel to Anaheim next spring.

The students hope to interest various local civic groups, banks and businesses in contributing. The young people figure they need about $800 for transportation alone.

Hill Hits Public Employee Strikes

A. Alan Hill of San Rafael, candidate for the Republican nomination in the Ninth Assembly District, has urged that strikes by public employees be prohibited by state law.

"Public employment is a trust, with protection from dismissal provided to those employees," he declared.

Calling for an antistrike law tough enough to work, Hill said current law should be changed to provide "an absolute prohibition on strikes by public employees," penalties against the leaders of employee organizations that strike, financial liability for the membership of striking employee organizations for damage to the public resulting from a strike, and denial of dues deduction from paychecks and other privileges granted employee organizations if they advocate illegal activities.

Hill said he was "totally opposed" to AB 1243, by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, a measure pending in Sacramento to make strikes by public employees legal. "It is a fuzzy-headed attempt to impose private sector collective bargaining on public employment," Hill said.

"Employee relations in the private sector are an entirely different field," he said, adding: "They do not fit with public employment."

A coffee for Hill will be at 8 p.m. May 24 at the Cotati home of Lucien G. Libarle, 705 West Railroad Avenue. The event originally was scheduled for today.

SILVESTRI — George J. Silvestri Jr. of Novato, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Ninth Assembly District, has called for elimination of the sales tax and suggested it be replaced with increased personal and corporate income taxes. "As well as being more equitable," he said, "this will have positive land use planning effects by removing the false incentive of sales tax revenues as a justification for commercial development."

FARLATTI — Ben A. Farlatti of Tiburon, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 5 seat, has criticized district directors for increasing water rates. The district's "margin of profit was substantial" under the old rates, he said, arguing the rates should be cut instead. If more money were needed, economy measures should have been ordered instead, Farlatti said. Citing the 15 per cent rate hike which will go into effect July 1, he said "the customer will pay more, yet there will be no increase or improvement in services."

MEYER — Peter C. Meyer of San Rafael, candidate for Marin County clerk, has promised that, if elected, he will work to assure protection of county workers in plans for future automation of government services. "Once the machine has eliminated old established human services it may be too late to rescue the worker," he said.

A coffee for Meyer will be at 8 p.m. Monday at the San Anselmo home of Joseph Spanier, 27 Indian Rock Court.

CONNICK — Harry A. Connick of San Rafael, candidate for Marin County district attorney, has proposed creation of a county youth commissioner to "the consolidate and unify all of the governmental and divid organizations working with children." The commissioner, he said, "would have the responsibility of establishing hobby, work, and recreational programs to keep children actively engaged in projects that would benefit their minds and bodies."

SMITH — A wine and cheese party for Dr. Darrell F. Smith of Kentfield, candidate for Tamalpais High School District trustee, will be held at 4 p.m. Sunday at the Mill Valley home of Lee Sherry Smith, 221 Lovell Avenue.

ROBERTSON — Conie R. Robertson of Weaverville, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, has said the 17 other hopefuls for the nomination are more interested in the welfare of big business or special interest groups than of ordinary working people. "I feel it's time we had someone in office that is more interested in the citizens of the state than anything else," he added. Robertson is state forest ranger in charge of the Weaverville Ranger District in Trinity County.

MASTRANGELO — Tally P. Mastrangelo of Sausalito, candidate for the Republican nomination in the Board of Equalization's Third District, has named Philip T. Smith of Mill Valley as his finance chairman and chairman of his campaign committee. H. Lyman Emerson, also of Mill Valley, was named secretary and vice chairman of the committee.

Magee Seeks To Move Trial To Los Angeles

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Convict Ruchell Magee, a survivor of the 1970 Marin Hall of Justice shoot-out which left four dead, is attempting to have his trial moved to Los Angeles.

Magee, charged with aggravated kidnap, said yesterday in a petition that he could not receive a fair trial in any state court in the San Francisco Bay Area. The petition asked for a trial in U.S. District Court.

Last Friday in Santa Clara County Superior Court he pleaded guilty of aggravated assault but asked on Monday to change that plea to innocent.

Superior Court Judge William A. Ingram delayed at least until tomorrow Magee's request to change the plea.

Court sources in Los Angeles said it would be "a few days" before a ruling on Magee's petition.

The 33-year-old convict was Angela Davis' codefendant in the murder and kidnaping case stemming from the Aug. 7, 1970 violence in which Judge Harold J. Haley, two convicts and their accomplice died. Miss Davis was acquitted of all charges in a separate trial in 1972.

Two N. Indian Concerts Set

Lakshmi Shankar, a north Indian classical vocalist, will give concerts of classical ragas tomorrow and Sunday in San Rafael.

Sponsored by the Ali Akbar College of Music, the concerts will be at the San Rafael Improvement Club, Fifth Avenue at H Street, at 8 p.m. Friday, and at the Congregation Rodef Sholom, 170 North San Pedro Road at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Shankar will be accompanied by Zakir Hussain on the tabla in each concert.

More Data Wanted On Animal Health Outlay

More data is needed before the Marin County Animal Health and Control Advisory Committee can recommend what to do about the high cost of veterinary care for sick or injured stray animals, the committee decided yesterday.

The board of supervisors on Tuesday asked the committee to review a recommendation from the county administrator's office that the Marin County Humane Society take over all such care, to cut costs. State laws provide that poundmen and peace officers must take all injured or ailing strays to the nearest veterinarian to determine whether the animal should be killed or treated.

If the owner cannot be located, the veterinary bills become a levy against funds from dog license fees. In the fiscal year to end June 30, the cost is estimated to be $23,000 while the county has budgeted only $16,000.

At its monthly meeting yesterday, the animal committee discovered it needs more specific information on how many such cases occur annually, the length of treatment, amount of bills and other factors including how many owners pay the bill if they can be located.

"Practically none," estimated John Gill, humane society executive director. Therefore, many of the animals wind up being killed after the claiming time limit passes. The county foots the bill, out of license fees which also must help support the pound and other animal-related activities.

The humane shelter has no facilities for emergency medical care and cannot provide them unless ordered to do so by the society board of directors, Gill explained Tuesday.

Ben A. Farlatti, vice chairman of the animal committee and a humane society director, said the issue would be taken up by the society board today.

Animal committee members voted unanimously to instruct chairman John E. Zimmerman to ask the supervisors Tuesday for county staff help in obtaining data and evaluating state penal and agricultural code laws.

Hearings On Budget Set By Larkspur

The Larkspur City Council last night scheduled 1974-75 budget hearings and interview sessions with applicants for city commissions.

Budget hearings will be held on June 3 and 17 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. No date was set for a third hearing which will be sent to the council Friday or Saturday.

Applicants for the three vacancies on the design review board will be interviewed Monday at 7:30 p.m. in city hall and applicants for the vacancy on the Park and Recreation Commission will be interviewed May 28 at 7:30 p.m.

Discussion of a request by Marin Sanitary Service to increase collection rates will be held at the June 5 council meeting. The company has asked for a 15 per cent total rate increase for the next three years.

The monthly rate would rise to $3 for one can and $4.85 for two cans in level areas and up to a dollar more in hilly areas.

The Larkspur City Council also:

SALARIES — Adopted unanimously, with councilman Charles H. Corley absent, an ordinance giving councilman $50 for each council meeting attended with a maximum of $150 per month.

MEETING — Met in closed session to discuss litigation over property zoning but made no decision.

LICENSE —Approved unanimously a business license application by Rose Collet, 94 Madrone for a therapeutic massage operation.

ALARM — Approved unanimously the installation of a burglar alarm monitoring system at the police station which would connect with business and private alarm systems.

Marin Groups Are Assured Of Help In Planning For Disasters

All local government agencies in Marin can call on federal and state officials to help them plan what to do in the event of an earthquake — and eventually in other types of disasters, county, city and local district fficials were told yesterday.

Harry Braze, chief of the federal Defense Civil Preparedness Agency Region 7, and Frank Temple, director of the state Office of Emergency Services, outlined plans to help the local agencies dovetail their disaster plans to the Bay Area Earthquake Response Planning project. The help is more in manpower than money.

City representatives from Corte Madera, Mill Valley, San Anselmo and Sausalito; school, water and fire districts and several county departments were among the 50 persons attending the orientation luncheon at Nero's restaurant in Novato.

Braze and Temple said their offices will assign — if requested — state and federal experts to survey the local government jurisdictions, inventory abilities and shortcomings in emergency reaction and help draft response plans.

Frank J. Kirby, county coordinator of emergency services, said the on-site assistance teams will conduct workshops for all local agencies, probably June 6 and June 7. He said each city soon will receive a copy of the massive Bay Area earthquake response plan, with local chapters designed to help the individual agencies.

The federal and state on-site teams, in effect, will supplement work already begun by Kirby's office in assisting local agencies' planning. The assistance plan is helping 500 communities nationwide, many of which have lacked the type of assistance given at the Marin County level in the past two years, Braze noted.

He explained that on-site assistance has nearly completed the planning for San Diego County and the City of San Mateo.

Also at yesterday's luncheon, county officials presented a special commendation to the Marin Amateur Communications Society for its service in last Friday's earthquake disaster training exercise. Volunteer radiomen supplied two-way message capability with 35 points throughout Marin, flew five aircraft and manned a message center at the Marin County Civic Center for the drill.

Woman Reports An Attack Try

A 27-year-old San Rafael woman was the victim of attempted rape at 11:40 p.m. yesterday when a man grabbed her by the neck and threw her to the sidewalk in the 300 block of Bellam Boulevard, San Rafael, but fled when a car approached, San Rafael police reported today.

The man was described as blond, about 20 years old, five feet, six inches tall, of medium build and wearing black jacket and pants and a white shirt.

Two Inmates Stabbed At San Quentin Prison

Two San Quentin inmates — both named Smith — were stabbed yesterday, prison information officer William D. Nyberg said today.

Charles Smith, 45, suffered stab wounds in both lungs and his right arm when attacked with an ice pick-style weapon in the East Block during the afternoon. Nyberg said he is in serious condition in the prison hospital.

Smith is serving 10-to-14-year terms for grand theft and forgery in Monterey County.

The stabbing of Donald H. Smith, 36, in the North Block earlier in the day was reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal. He is in good condition in the prison hospital, Nyberg said.

James Smith, the prison's officer of the day at the time of the second stabbing, reported that there have been 17 stabbings in San Quentin this year, two of them fatal.

Woman Is Bilked Of $3 By Youth

Kisaburo Tsujihara, 117 Novak Drive, reported that a youth about 14 years old, wearing a tan jacket and hat appeared on her doorstep at 3:30 p.m. yesterday to inform her she had won a color television set in a Boys Club contest.

Mrs. Tsujihara was told that if she paid a $3 delivery charge the set would arrive Saturday. She complied, and the boy left.

Suspecting afterward that something was amiss, the woman called the Boys Club and learned that there was indeed a contest but that the winner would not be chosen until May 26.

Seminary board chairman

New Board Chairman Announced

San Francisco attorney Raymond L. Hanson has been elected chairman of the board of the San Francisco Theological Seminary of San Anselmo.

Hanson, the seminary's legal counsel since 1948, succeeds James R. MacKay who has been board chairman since 1965.

He has been president of Presbyterian Hospital, Pacific Medical Center, Inc., Northern California Presbyterian Homes, Inc., and the San Francisco Metropolitan Young Men's Christian Association.

Donald A. Duerr of San Rafael was named secretary and treasurer of the board of trustees.

Sonoma Candidates To Present Views

Sonoma candidates for second district supervisor, sheriff, district attorney and recorder will present their platforms at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Five Corners Community Center, English Street and Western Avenue, Petaluma.

The forum is sponsored by the Petaluma Branch of the American Association of University Women. A spokesman said all candidates have agreed to participate.

ALMANAC

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Today is Thursday, May 16, the 136th day of 1974 with 229 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

American educator Elizabeth Peabody was born May 16, 1804.

On this day in history:

In 1866, the U.S. Treasury Department was authorized to place in circulation the first five-cent piece, to be called "The Nickel."

In 1929, the first "Oscar" awards were announced. Janet Gaynor won the best actress award for her role in "Seventh Heaven." Emil Jannings was voted best actor for his role in "The Way of All Flesh."

In 1962, U.S. forces arrived in Thailand to bolster the Asian nation against a spread of fighting from neighboring Laos.

In 1973, G. Bradford Cook resigned as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission. He was alleged to have deleted from an SEC complaint references to a $200,000 cash contribution by financier Robert Vesco to President Nixon's re-election campaign.

A thought for the day: The Roman poet Virgil said, "Yield not to misfortunes but press forward boldly in their face."

South Isn't Too Much At Fault; Defense Is Perfectly Executed

We have an unusual kind of bridge problem for you today. You will be told the result, and it will be up to you to work out how it happened. The result seems impossible, but nobody did anything really bad.

AT FOUR SPADES

South played the hand at four spades, and West opened the deuce of diamonds. South went down two tricks, but was more to be pitied than blamed. How did this happen?

The answer is that East put up a brilliant defense. After winning the first trick with the ace of diamonds, East shot back the queen of clubs?

It's easy for us to see from our armchairs that South could win the rest of the tricks by putting up the king of clubs. But South didn't have our advantage of seeing all of the cards.

REASONABLE ASSUMPTION

South assumed that East had led from a club suit headed by the queen-jack. If this were true, South's best chance to win a club trick was to play low.

When East's queen held the trick, he continued with the eight of clubs. South still assumed that East held the jack of clubs, in which case it was still correct to play a low club.

West won with the jack of clubs and returned a club to the ace, thus defeating the contract.

GOOD DEFENSE

Don't go away. Remember, South was beaten two tricks. How did that happen? To add insult to injury, East led his last club, and West ruffed with the jack of spades. Dummy had to use the king of spades to overruff, and now East made a trick with the queen of spades.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 2 NT and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - J 5
♥ - 9 8 4 3
♦ - 8 7 6 2
♣ - J 7 6.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The opening bid of two no-trump is not forcing to game, but only highly invitational. You need about four points to raise to game, and this hand is worth only two points.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and TV Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and Parents' Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael City Library.

FAMILY

"Neptune Factor" — A rescue mission in locating an oceanographic laboratory that has fallen into an abyss during an earthquake is the plot. Breathtaking underwater photography.

"Twelve Chairs" — A hilarious examination of greed done in slapstick style. Jewels sewn into one of 12 chairs create havoc among those trying to trace them.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Bang the Drums Slowly" — A young baseball catcher is really not very talented. When his teammates learn he is dying of Hodgkins disease they join forces to help him. Some cursing.

"Conrack" — Based on true story of a white southern teacher using unorthodox methods to awaken a group of near-illiterate black children to education. Well acted, very frank language.

"Day for Night" — Behind the scenes story of making a movie, serio-comic about the realities of creating illusions. Subtitles.

"Day of the Dolphin" — Behavioral scientist learns to communicate with a dolphin. Agents try to use the animal in an assassination. Cursing.

"The Great Gatsby" — A quixotic hero accumulates a fortune for the love of a rich Southern belle and was then destroyed by her carelessness. Elegant 20s trappings relegate characters and story to the background. Some violence.

"Poseidon Adventure" — Escape melodrama in the best Hollywood tradition. A ship filled with passengers is overturned by a tidal wave. Their frantic efforts to seek safety keeps suspense very high.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Conversation" — Low-key film deals with downfall of a wire-tapper who gets involved in spying on a pair of young lovers. Story gets monotonous and boring. Nudity.

"Lady Sings the Blues" — This drama is well told, its message on the subject of drugs is a biography of blues singer Billie Holiday.

"M-A-S-H" — Satire set during Korean conflict, of life style of three Army surgeons.

"Papillon" — A long, well-acted but grim movie about the evils of the old French penal system. Very brutal, cursing.

"Serpico" — Engrossing true story about a New York policeman who fought a one-man war against corruption. Vulgar language is constant, violence, sex, nudity.

"The Sting" — Comedy-drama set in the 1930s in Chicago is about fleecers, fleecing fleecers. Fast moving, filled with surprises, well acted but violent.

"Thief Who Came to Dinner" — A disillusioned man turns jewel thief, a likable rogue. Even the insurance investigator is conned into letting him escape. Another dose of crime-does-pay tale, the last thing we need.

ADULTS ONLY

"Badlands" — Based on Starkweather murders of 1958. This film is a blood-soaked tale of the murderous rampage of two young people who kill everyone who crosses their path, without remorse. Very violent.

"Cries and Whispers" — Psychological drama in early 1900s in Sweden. The fortunes and personalities of two sisters, who have returned home to a sister who is dying, is revealed. Nudity, sex.

"Deadly Trackers" — sheriff shriff turns into a maddened desperado when his family is murdered by vicious bank robbers. Repulsive violence. Film PG rating makes a mockery of the MPAA rating system.

"Easy Rider" — A pair of motorcyclists, after a fast profit from smuggled drugs, attempt to travel in the south. Though peaceful, they are treated brutally because of their appearance. Very violent.

"Emperor of the North" — Vicious and sadistically violent melodrama about a railroad conductor of the 1930s who kills all hobos who try to hitch a free ride. He is finally pitted against the king of hobos.

"Godfather" — The bloody warfare between five families in the Mafia, over the narcotics trade. Most violent film ever made.

Hong Kong Hits Litterbugs Hard

HONG KONG (UPI) — The government has collected more than $200,000 from litterbugs in the past 17 months.

Government figures showed 56,000 of Hong Kong's four million residents were fined a total of $262,674 since an antilitter law was imposed in November, 1972.

A fine of $4 is imposed for throwing a cigarette butt onto the street. The fine is even more for empty cigarette wrappers.

Defense Talks

KUALA LUMPUR (UPI) — William Rodgers, British secretary od state for defense, confers today with Malaysian leaders on his country's plans to reduce its defense commitments in Southeast Asia.

Trial Of Five Blacks Ends In A Hung Jury

NEW YORK (UPI) — The trial of five black militants charged with killing two policemen in 1971 ended in a hung jury yesterday after nearly two months of testimony and two days of deliberation.

The judge declared a mistrial and said a new trial date will be set May 28. The jury, which comprised six blacks and six whites, began deliberations Monday and announced last night it could not agree on a unanimous verdict on any of the five defendants.

The defendants, Herman Bell, 26, Anthony Bottom, 22, Albert Washington, 32, Gabriel Torres, 27, and his brother, Francisco Torres, 24, were charged with ambushing police officers Waverly Jones and Joseph Piagentini outside a Harlem housing project May 21, 1971.

Daley Observes 72nd Birthday

CHICAGO (UPI) — Richard J. Daley celebrated his 72nd birthday yesterday, and received word that he probably would be released from Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital within a week to rest at his Grand Beach, Mich., summer home before undergoing surgery.

The Chicago mayor, who entered the hospital May 6 after a mild stroke, was presented a candle-less cake by hospital workers. But his doctor, Eric Oldberg, said he probably didn't eat any.

"He's on a special diet," Oldberg said.

Oldberg said the surgery will be performed in about three weeks to remove blockage in an artery in the mayor's neck.

ART REVIEW

Strange, Provocative Imagery Being Offered By Sausalitan

By ADA GARFINKEL

Sausalito artist Diana Brewer, in an exhibit of paintings, lithographs, and etchings at Metes and Bounds Gallery in Sausalito, offers strange and provocative imagery.

An avid reader of Carl Jung, she frequently incorporates his concept of the male-female principle within the human psyche, of water as the symbol for the universal unconscious, and the mandala format which represents the whole mind.

Magical "Golden Cities" are scattered minutely throughout her work. She calls them, "places one wants to get to, difficult to reach, but possible to find." And there are dryads and leprechauns, mermaids and mermen and other hybrid zoomorphic and androgynous forms.

Mrs. Brewer explains that her profuse and piled-up montage effects of her dream-inspired imagery are neither contrived nor premeditated; they simply occur when she sits down at her worktable.

Limpidly fluid, low-keyed watercolors are an extraordinarily suitable medium for the ghostly vaporous, dreamworld stillness of "Ladies of the Lake,", "Dreamboat for Jo," and the surreal and sculptural coral forms of "Underworld."

Mrs. Brewer's etchings combine linear work with an air of unfathomable mystery in "Red King and Queen" and an unusual format in "A Cup Running Over."

The former, a large plate in monochromatic terra-cotta shows the principle figures as humans, nude but crowned, fondling their two-headed-and-horned offspring while a rather large, free-wheeling bird whizzes by — his neck and body intersected with a grinning, contemporary male face.

"A Cup Running Over" in black-and-white presents a monstrous-sized goblet in which a host of marine and quasi-human creatures disport themselves in a watery haven while Columbus-like sailing vessels float on the surface.

Some of Mrs. Brewer's other far-out inventions include a gigantic serpent-bird which dwarfs the earth and fills the sky in two versions of her etching "The Other Desert Sky," and a parrot-headed, guitar-playing frog in "Aurora," a visionary oil on canvas.

In a few instances — in "Dreamboat for Jo" and in "Aurora" members of her own family appear in archetypcal roles.

A frankly experimental note is conveyed by different color runs and modulations for the same plate in three versions of "Forest in the Trees" and "The Dance," which answers a sometime expressed question: "I wonder what it would look like in a lighter or darker hue?"

This show of work by Mrs. Brewer will continue through June 15 with viewing hours from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Metes and Bounds Gallery is located at 215 Second Street.

White Water Accidents Claim 26 Lives In '73

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — White water river drownings in California in 1973 totaled 26, nearly triple the figure for the previous year, the state Department of Navigation and Ocean Development said yesterday.

In 1972, the department said, five deaths were attributed to inflatables such as rafts, three were in canoes and one involved a kayak.

In 1973, 17 deaths involved inflatable craft, eight were in canoes and one involved a kayak.

"When compared to the statewide boating picture, these craft claimed over 20 per cent of all boating deaths in California," the department said.

"We are very concerned with the unprecedented increase in white water boating deaths," said Frak Torkelson, acting department director. "We are making every effort to contact canoe and kayak groups as well as those who rent craft for single outings."

$1,600 Donated To Marsh Fund

The Marin Ecology Center has presented a check for $1,600 to Lee R. Miller of the Heerdt Marsh Acquisition Fund.

Funds will go toward the purchase from private ownership of 95 acres of viable marsh in Corte Madera for a preserve and interpretation center.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Demos Modify Appointments Stand

Led by Senate Democratic leader George Moscone of San Francisco, 17 of the Senate's 21 Democrats earlier this month signed a petition to "oppose any new appointments whose terms would last beyond the term of the present administration."

But following a closed-door caucus meeting of Democrats yesterday, Moscone announced that only "bad" appointments would be opposed, and in such a way to try to avoid a bitter struggle on the Senate floor, where many of Reagan's appointees must be confirmed.

Moscone said Reagan appointees would be scrutinized when their names are first submitted to the Senate Rules Committee. If a Democrat found any appointee "philosophically objectionable" the committee's majority of three Democrats would be notified.

Presumably, if the objection was found to have merit, confirmation of the appointee would be withheld under the plan outlined by Moscone.

Moscone said about 150 appointments could be made by Reagan before he leaves office —about 50 of which would be for terms extending beyond Reagan's stay in office.

Democratic caucus leader Nicholas C. Petris of Oakland said he expected the plan would "stop several" appointees from being confirmed.

Without Senate confirmation, most Reagan appointees could continue to serve until the inauguration of a new governor, Moscone said.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, clean air.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources but the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

FORECASTS

San Francisco Bay Area: Partly cloudy tonight and tomorrow; high tomorrow in the 60s except the mid to the upper 50s near the coast; low tonight in the mid 40s to the low 50s; small craft advisory for westerly winds 15 to 30 m.p.h.

Sierra Nevada: Partly cloudy through tomorrow, except becoming cloudy with scattered showers of rain or snow from about Lake Tahoe northward tomorrow; snow level near 6,000 feet in the showers; slightly cooler; windy over ridges.

Napa and Sonoma valleys: Partly cloudy tonight and tomorrow and chance of scattered showers tomorrow; low tonight and high tomorrow at Santa Rosa 44 and 65; west to northwest winds 10 to 25 m.p.h.

Two Charged In Bank Defrauding

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Federal grand jurors charged a real estate broker and a banker yesterday with defrauding the Security National Bank of $288,000.

Those indicted are Eugene Borelli of Burlingame, the real estate man, and Raymond Parianik, former assistant manager at a Security National branch in San Francisco.

Paul FitzPatrick, an assistant U. S. attorney, said Borelli approved false loans and Borelli used the money for real estate investments, paying the banker $28,500.

Usher Is Already Paid $25,000

The city manager of Mill Valley, Ronald L. Usher did not request a raise in salary as part of his 1974-75 budget proposal. The Independent-Journal stated incorrectly yesterday that Usher asked for a $3,028 increase to $25,000 per year.

Usher was hired last fall by the council at the $25,000 salary. The difference in what was budgeted this year for the city manager's salary and what Usher is requesting for 1974-75 reflects the fact that Usher was hired at a higher rate of pay than the previous city manager.

Keys To Monkey Cages Are Stolen

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Because a set of keys were stolen, workmen started changing the locks yesterday on the monkey cages at the San Francisco Zoo.

An attendant reported the keys and a rifle had been taken from a closet.

FLU SHOTS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill making it easier for California senior citizens to protect themselves against the flu was signed yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The measure (AB3157) by Assemblyman John E. Thurman Jr., D-Modesto, requires the state to provide flu shots free or at "minimal" cost to all Californians age 65 or older. It allocates $420,000 for the purchase of flu vaccine.

State health officials said part of the cost of the program, to be carried out by governmental or private nonprofit agencies, would be offset by savings in Medi-Cal programs which currently pay for flu shots for some elderly residents.

CAMPAIGNS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill providing for public financing of political campaigns and clamping a limit on private campaign contributions has advanced in the Senate.

The measure (SB1660) by Democratic Sens. Arlen Gregorio of San Mateo and Anthony Beilenson of Los Angeles cleared the Elections and Reapportionment Committee yesterday on a 4-1 vote and was sent to the Finance Committee, which killed a similar measure in January.

The bill provides for reimbursement of campaign expenses in general elections up to a maximum based on the number of registered voters in the election.

NOTARY BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill designed to prevent Spanish-speaking persons from being fooled into believing they are consulting and paying for a lawyer when they visit a notary public was signed yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The problem involves the Spanish language translation of notary public, Notario Publico, which in Mexico means an attorney of high standing.

The measure (AB286) by Assemblyman Alex P. Garcia, D-Los Angeles, requires that a notary public when advertising as "notario publico" post a specified notice in English and Spanish relating to the legal advice and fees he may charge.

CHILD ABUSE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill creating a state office and advisory board on the problem of child abuse and its prevention has won final legislative approval from the Senate.

With no debate, the measure (SB354) by Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles, was sent to the governor on a 22-10 vote yesterday.

Even if signed into law, the bill would have no effect unless federal funds were made available for the new agency in the state Health Department.

SCHOOLS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — There is only a "remote" possibility that last month's landmark Serrano decision on school financing will be reversed in the courts, the Senate Education Committee has been told.

John McDermott, an attorney in the Serrano case, told the committee yesterday that under the ruling the state has a six-year deadline to completely restructure the system by which schools are financed.

McDermott, of the Western Center of Law and Poverty, briefed the panel on the April 10 ruling handed down in Los Angeles Superior Court.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Tick Paralysis Is Interesting And Can Be A Deadly Disease

Tick paralysis is, perhaps, the most interesting of all the diseases passed along by these ticks. Fortunately, it is rare. Children, especially girls, are affected most often and the tick usually is attached to the scalp and hidden by the hair. A few days after the youngster is bitten, she becomes restless, irritable, and complains of numbness and tingling of the extremities, lips, and face. Later, the paralysis involves the trunk, arms, neck, tongue, and throat. Unless a tick is suspected, searched for, found, and removed, the paralysis worsens and death ensues. Removal of the tick is followed by recovery within 48 hours.

MANY YEARS after a South Carolina woman read by first column on this disease, she visited a friend whose child was paralyzed. Remembering the column, she suggested that the mother mention to the physician the possibility of ticks. To everyone's surprise, he found a tick near the back of the child's head. once the insect was removed, the youngster made a miraculous recovery.

The remedy is simple, provided the physician suspects the tick. This is understandable, because tick paralysis is easily confused with poliomyelitis. Apparently, while feeding, the tick introduces a toxin that affects the brain and produces these symptoms.

TICKS ARE a potential threat to anyone who walks, sits, camps, or works in fields and forests. Not only are these insects annoying, but there is an outside possibility that they harbor the microbes capable of causing Rocky Mountain spotted fever, tick fever, tick paralysis, or encephalitis. People exposed to these critters should inspect their bodies at least once a day. If any ticks are found, they should be removed carefully — never crush or squeeze them.

Ticks burrow into the skin headfirst and back out whenever their posterior is touched with gasoline, tincture of iodine, lighter fluid, or a lighted match. Prevention is easier and better. Apply a repellent and wear long pants, hunting boots, and shirts with tight cuffs.

Dr. Van Dellen welcomes reader questions. While he cannot reply to them individually, he will answer those of general interest in his column. Write to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

TONGUE BITING

T. J. writes: Why would an older woman bite her tongue severely while asleep? When she awakens, it is bruised on the sides and underneath. She refuses to see a doctor.

REPLY

This is a free country and nothing can be done if this woman refuses to see a physician. It is possible she is biting her tongue while having a convulsion during sleep. A brain wave test (electroencephalogram) would help make the diagnosis. If I am right, her physician can prescribe medication to control the convulsions.

VITAMIN LEGACY

A reader writes: A friend's husband died two years ago. He took vitamins by the handful and there are at least eight bottles left in the refrigerator. She would like to take them and wonders if they are still useful.

REPLY

They should be, assuming the bottles have been sealed and the tablets or capsules have not disintegrated.

'Miss Jane Pittman' Leads Emmy List With Four Awards

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman" collected four Emmys today to lead all television shows of the 1973-74 season in a preliminary vote of the National Television Academy.

The winning show, the touching story of a black woman spanning 100 years, collected an Emmy for its star, Cicely Tyson, as well as honors for writing, direction and music.

The academy reorganized the annual Emmy awards this year and announced the preliminary votes at a news conference in a small hotel room. None of the winners was present.

The winners will receive their Emmys in a national television show on May 28 and at that time the overall best actress and best actor will be announced.

The only regular weekly series to win as many as three Emmys were "The Carol Burnett Show" and the "Mary Tyler Moore Show."

CICELY TYSON
As 'Miss Jane Pittman'

Individual Emmy winners for the year were Mary Tyler Moore, best actress in a comedy series; Michael Learned, best actress in a dramatic series ("The Waltons"); Mildred Natwick, best actress in a limited series ("The Snoop Sisters") and Miss Tyson, best actress in a drama.

Actors winning Emmys were Alan Alda, best actor in a comedy series, ("M-A-S-H"); Telly Savalas, best actor in a drama series, ("Kojak"); William Holden, best actor in a limited series, "The Blue Knight"); and Hal Holbrook, best actor in a drama, ("Pueblo").

The preliminary Emmy voting by special blue-ribbon panels did not include best series or individual shows. The results of that balloting will be announced on the May 28 television show.

Of the total 48 Emmys awarded in the preliminary voting, ABC won seven, CBS 26, NBC 14 and syndicated one.

Voted best actor in a daytime drama was MacDonald Carey ("Days of Our Lives") while Pat O'Brian ("The Other Woman") won an Emmy for a special program.

Elizabeth Hubbard won the best actress in daytime series drama for "The Doctors" and Kathleen Nesbitt for best actress in a special program, "The Mask of Love."

Best host of a game show honors went to Peter Marshall of "The Hollywood Squares" while Dinah Shore won best daytime hostess laurels for "Dinah's Place."

In addition to Miss Tyson's Emmy, "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman" also won Emmys for best writing in drama, Tracy Keenan Wynn of Mill Valley; best direction in drama, John Korty, and best music competition for a special program, Fred Karlin.

Moretti Proposes Televised Debate With Rival Demos

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly speaker Bob Moretti yesterday proposed a televised debate between himself and rival Democratic gubernatorial contenders Secretary of State Edmund Brown Jr. and San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto.

In a letter to Brown, the Van Nuys lawmaker said results in the latest California poll showed the candidacies of the three "have developed a significant amount of public support."

The poll showed Brown now enjoyed the support of 36 per cent of the Democrats surveyed while Moretti was in second place with 18 per cent and Alioto followed with 16 per cent.

Moretti said "ideally" he would prefer a debate between himself and Brown but was proposing a three-way debate because Brown had not replied to his earlier call for a two-way encounter.

Moretti said television station KNBC in Los Angeles had offered time for such a debate and suggested Brown dispatch representatives of his campaign to meet with Moretti representatives to arrange for a three-way debate.

He said he also has directed his campaign staff to seek television debate time in San Francisco and Sacramento.

Davis Is Sorry He Hugged Nixon

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Sammy Davis Jr., who made the front pages in 1972 when he was photographed hugging President Nixon, is disappointed about the Nixon administration now.

He also gets miffed when he is asked about that hugging picture.

"In a world where there are ghettos and children are dying," he asked a news conference yesterday, "what the hell difference does it make whether or not I hug the President?"

Davis campaigned for Nixon in 1972 and embraced him when he appeared at a rally during the 1970 Republican convention.

Centennial Art Work On Display

Student art works keyed to the history of San Rafael are being shown this week in nine locations in the city in honor of the upcoming centennial celebration beginning Friday.

Kindergarten through eighth grade students have produced more than 200 student drawings, paintings, and three-dimensional art works interpreting San Rafael's earliest days. They are on display in local department stores, banks, and coffee shops.

Did Helicopter Cause Fatal Building Leap?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police prolonged the life of Mark Matays, 21, for one hour yesterday while they tried to talk him out of jumping off a high rise apartment building.

But a private helicopter passed overhead and seconds later Matays, who had been standing so close to the edge that part of his shoes overlapped the building, stepped off and let go.

He landed on a lawn 23 stories below and died a short time later in a hospital.

Police said they never use helicopters to rescue persons threatening to jump for high places because it can often trigger the victim to jump. A spokesman said police would try to find out who the helicopter belonged to and why it was in the area.

Stolen Property Sentence Given

Ronald Walker, 21, of Santa Rosa, has been sentenced to 60 days in Marin County Jail after pleading guilty to possessing property stolen March 21 from a San Rafael home.

Municipal Judge Peter Allen Smith also placed Walker on two years' probation.

A second man accused along with Walker, John Lauren Mott, 22, of San Rafael, is to go into municipal court June 13 to change his innocent plea or have a trial date set. He is charged with misdemeanor burglary.

The pair was arrested after a citizen reported seeing them flee the Daniel Rosenthal home on D Street.

Envoy To Sweden

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert Strausz-Hupe has been sworn in as the new U.S. envoy to Sweden, a post which has been unfilled for almost two years.

No Permit Needed For Dredging

An environmental impact report will not be required for Synanon Foundation to dredge 10,000 cubic yards of gravel from Walker Creek near Marshall.

Marin County environmental hearing officer Joel E. Rubey approved Synanon's request that no report be required but limited use of the gravel to road repairs.

A Synanon proposal to use some on creek banks to prevent erosion was rejected. Rubey said that would require a report and Synanon officials dropped the proposal.

The dredging of Walker Creek must next be approved by the county environmental-protection committee which has jurisdiction over projects near creeks and shores. That hearing was slated for 2 p.m. today at Civic Center.

Canal Advisory Group To Meet

The San Rafael Canal Advisory Committee will meet at 4 p.m. May 22 in city hall, a spokesman said today.

Speakers will include Joseph Kramm, marina supervisor of the City of San Leandro.

College Choir Will Sing At St. Vincent's

Indian Valley Colleges will present a spring concert entitled "Musical Retreat" at the cathedral at St. Vincent's School for Boys in Marinwood at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Soloists for the "Requiem" will be soprano Frances Medeiros and baritone Thomas Scott.

Rev. James Adams, pastor of the Greek Orthodox Church of Marin, will open the program with a Greek Byzantine chant, which demonstrates the "amazing acoustics" of the building, according to Miss Johnson.

Soprano Anna Secrist will sing a passage from the "St. Matthew Passion" by J. S. Bach. Organist Lois Jones will perform compositions by Brahms, J. S. Bach and Flor Peeters.

Governor's Belly Dancing Daughter

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Joanne Shapp, daughter of Gov. Milton J. Shapp of Pennsylvania, appeared as a belly dancer Tuesday night in the suburban San Marco restaurant.

The 24-year-old dance student, performing under the name of "Yasmin," revealed it was her professional dance debut. She said: "I think it's a fun thing, but they (her parents) don't want me to make a full-time career of it." Miss Shapp plans to become a family counselor.

JAMES A. DIXON

James Dixon Demanding Conductor

By PAUL CANE

"Only the best is good enough. I expect my students will play better than they really can," said orchestra conductor James A. Dixon, one of about 15 musical artists-in-residence for the Forest Meadows Festival of the Arts Aug. 1 - 11.

"I'm an unusually strong person. I get right down to business, with no gimmicks, because people, especially young people, will respond to quality. I treat them like adults," he said.

Dixon, 46, is professor of music at the University of Iowa, and will be living in Marin this summer to teach in the first Forest Meadows art festival. He will work with many of the approximately 150 students, aged 14-19 who will come from nine western states and from part of the East Coast to attend the 10-day comprehensive music training classes.

Organized by Ted M. Blair, chairman of the Dominican College music department, the festival uses what Dixon calls the "apprenticeship method of learning" to teach music skills. During the day, students will rehearse and practice under the direction of well-known artists-in respective fields — for example, violinist Leonard Sorkin of Chicago's Fine Arts Quartet will coach string players, and members of the Los Angeles Brass Quintet will work with brass students.

After rehearsals all day, students will gather for public evening concerts in the Forest Meadow's amphitheater to watch and learn as the teachers perform.

To help pay for bringing the approximately 15 artists to the music camp, students will be charged $170 for the 10 days. Day students will pay $125, according to Blair.

Also, fund-raising concerts around Marin are held every few weeks.

Blair said approximately 60 young musicians have applied thus far, and said the quality of applicant is "just outstanding."

And they must be outstanding, or at least extremely serious about their music, to study well under Dixon, a self-proclaimed disciplinarian. "I just say, 'Stop acting like damn kids,' when I feel they aren't giving me everything," Dixon said. "And then they do.

"Kids who've had the discipline that comes from playing an instrument several hours a day for five years or more have such an investment in their music they don't want to act foolishly," he continued.

Dixon is a graduate of the University of Iowa, and holds a master's degree from that school. He conducts the school orchestra, as well as the Tri-City Symphony for the group of cities around Davenport, Iowa.

"Actually, there are now six cities in a cluster around Davenport," he said, "But we're a little hesitant about calling ourselves the 'Sex-City Orchestra,' so we left the name the same."

Dixon was formerly conductor of the Seventh Army Symphony in Germany, and has been associate conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony, guest conductor of the Chicago, Boston and Minneapolis symphonies, and the National Orchestra of Greece, and has recorded with the Royal Philharmonic of London.

He has received the James Conant Award, the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Award, and the Gustav Mahler Medal for conducting.

HARD TRAINING ON SHORE

Redwood Crew Team's Success Secret

By RON LENT

Redwood High School's 1974 championship crew team wins in the water because of its conditioning program on the shore.

The Giants, under advisor Bob Cumming, stress conditioning. "Crew is an endurance sport. It is 80 per cent conditioning and 20 per cent technique," said Cumming.

The 69-year-old silver-haired crew leader believes that "our training has gotten us this far. We hope it will help us when we go to Klamath Falls."

Redwood, which shared the Bay Area Rowing Association (BARA) title with Oakland High last year and won it outright in 1971 and 1972, is looking forward to the Oregon venture.

"It will climax our season," the mustachioed advisor said. After winning the crown this year and 17 of 18 matches, Redwood began rigorous training for the West Coast Region Junior Championships May 25-26.

Redwood started in 1970 with one crew and no league affiliate. Emphasizing training and fundamentals, Cumming developed team members. In 1971, Redwood joined Oakland, Skyline, Berkeley, St. Joseph's and Mt. Tamalpais in the BARA.

Redwood has dominated since. The team is spearheaded by an unbeaten (under 155 pounds) lightweight varsity four of Tod Moody, Bob Darlan, Jim Carbone and Brennan Agajan with coxswain Tim Davis.

"This group works hard and works well together," said Cumming. "They've been with us three years, and it shows. Jim Phelps is our best sculler. Agajan is our best lightweight."

Both Phelps and Agajan are veterans, and therein lies the key, according to Cumming. "Crew is too strenuous for freshmen. We use freshmen to build them up and fill in on practice runs. We teach them the rudiments and give them strengthening exercises. They will grow into bigger roles later. Meanwhile, we train them by working them in singles. They must become proficient in that before moving up. You're on your own in singles; it shows what you can do."

The varsity can do plenty, particularly in practices. "We practice every day (Monday through Friday, 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.) from January until school lets out (in mid-June). We have fall training (from Sept. 15 to Nov. 15) and work out an hour and one-half per day."

In the fall, basics are taught to the new people recruited on a one-day drive in September. Equipment and movies are shown and assignments taken at the brief recruitment session. "We depend on word of mouth to recruit. We get more than we need in signups."

After wooing the recruits, Cumming works them — hard. "We row at least five miles a day on Corte Madera Creek. After rowing, we go for a two-mile run, which includes running up and down hills."

Cumming sometimes schedules Saturday morning practices if there is a big sectional meet coming up.

Why is the training so rigorous? "Repetition is the key. If they work hard and do well in practice, they'll work hard and do well in races," Cumming said.

Cumming's youngsters apparently respect his tight regimen. After striving three years to save $3,000 for a four-oared racing shell with coxswain, the team voted to name the boat "Bob Cumming." The vote was endorsed by the sponsoring Marin Rowing Association, and the boat was so named when purchased in January.

While the boat bears the advisor's name, Cumming stresses that 'I'm not the coach. Gordon Van Zee is. It's a school team, so the faculty appoints a coach. I'm not a member of the faculty, so I'm just an advisor."

Cumming, a retired Pacific Telephone engineer, serves without pay. "This is my hobby. I do it for the love of it."

He has been rowing since 1920 and was runnerup in the national lightweight single sculls in 1931 and 1933.

2nd Base For A's A Dangerous Spot

Gaylen Pitts, the latest A's second baseman, could be excused for being somewhat cautious out on the field. That position hasn't been exactly the lucky spot for the A's.

It all started back on April 9, barely into the season, when Dick Green, the regular A's second baseman injured his instep making a double play at Kansas City. He was put on the 21-day disabled list.

His replacement, Manny Trillo, pulled a thigh muscle April 20 and he was put on the 15-day disabled list. So Ted Kubiak was put on second. That lasted only until May 6 when Kubiak had to be switched to third to replace Sal Bando who was hit on the right calf with a pitch. That put Sal Bando out of action for nine games.

That meant the A's would have to call up second baseman John Donaldson from Tucson. Two days after replacing Kubiak at second, Donaldson injured his shoulder in a collision with center fielder Bill North and was sent back to Tucson. Good try, John.

The A's then signed free agent Dal Maxvill to play second, but in only Dal's second game he was spiked by Twins' Tony Oliva. The wound required 20 stitches and Dal was put on the 21-day disabled list.

That's when the emergency call went out to Tucson for Pitts, a 27-year-old player getting his first chance in the Bigs after nine years in the minor leagues. After one game at second he got lucky and was switched to third, Kubiak going back to second.

Pitts got the game-winning hit in the second half of a twi-nighter Tuesday against Kansas City. His double scored Kubiak from first base in the bottom of the 10th to give the A's a 2-1 victory.

Although Pitts realizes his major league job is only temporary, he has five hits in 14 at bats for a .357 average. But he better hope he stays at third base. Second base for the A's is not exactly the safest place in the world.

TWO MARIN COUNTY girls, Leslie Clark of San Anselmo and Lynne Vogensen of San Rafael, will be among the half dozen members of the University of California at Davis women's track team competing at the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women track and field championships at Denton, Tex.

Leslie will be in the 400-meter hurdles trial tomorrow and both gals will be in the mile relay trials. That mile-relay team brought its time down from 4:07.5 to 4:00.5 in qualifying and will be trying to break the 4-minute barrier in Texas. Cal Davis was fifth last year at the first college women's championships.

BARRY MAC KAY of Ross has been very busy lately organizing the Canon Tennis Club in Fairfax and doing other tennis administrative things but he's not too busy to get out of the office now and then for a bit of tennis. He's scheduled to take on Don Kierbow tomorrow in the fifth annual Marshall Ward Tennis Extravaganza at San Francisco's downtown Golden Gateway Tennis Club. Prize money for this tourney which continues through Oct. 18 is $2,700.

RICK PUCCINELLI, former football star at Redwood High and College of Marin who played one year at University of Nevada, Reno before being injured, will be linebacker coach next season for U. of Nevada. At 21, Puccinelli will be the youngest full-time assistant coach in the college ranks.

Gamble By Reds' Nelson Pays Off Against Giants

Nelson came within six outs yesterday of becoming the first Cincinnati pitcher to toss a no-hitter at Riverfront Stadium, the four-year-old home of the Reds.

He survived two late-inning home runs in helping to pitch the Reds to a 4-3 triumph over the San Francisco Giants.

Nelson, the key figure in a 1972 trade with the Kansas City Royals, found himself at low ebb last season when beset with elbow injuries for the first time in his career.

It was the third time in less than a month that the 29-year-old Nelson made a no-hit bid for more than five innings. While the other two efforts failed to produce decisions, yesterday's work bore fruit.

"I knew I didn't have good stuff out there, but I guess I was a little lucky," said Nelson, now 2-3 for the season.

He finished with a two-hitter, with last-out help from Pedro Borbon. The losing pitcher was Tom Bradley, 4-4.

Bobby Bonds shattered Nelson's no-hit dream in the eighth inning with a two-run homer. Then Chris Speier's solo homer in the ninth sent Nelson to the showers.

Seeing his shutout vanish disappointed Nelson as much as missing the no-hitter. "That bothered me," he said. "When you pitch a two-hitter, you shouldn't give up three runs."

Catcher Johny Bench supported Nelson with three runs batted in on his seventh homer of the season and a sacrifice fly.

Pete Rose's sacrifice fly gave the Reds a 4-0 lead after seven innings, but it wasn't enough to make Nelson feel comfortable.

Manager Sparky Anderson missed Nelson's bid. He slept through it in the locker room, still in a fog from ear surgery earlier in the day.

Revenge Obtained By Petaluma Netters

Petaluma High School gained revenge yesterday.

After losing a North Bay League tennis match, 5-2, to Vallejo Monday, the Trojans (6-7) came back with a 4-3 victory over the visiting Apaches yesterday.

Minnesota Tops Gaters With A 2nd Half Rally

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — The Minnesota Buckskins came back from a two point half time deficit to defeat the Golden Gaters 32-30 before a crowd of 1,505 in World Team Tennis action last night.

Golden Gater Lesley Hunt led off with a 6-1 victory over Ann Haydon Jones and her replacement, Mona Schallau.

In the second half women's set, Miss Hunt squeaked out a 7-6 tiebreaker win over Miss Schallau to give the Golden Gaters a 23-20 lead.

In men's singles, the Buckskins dominated play with Bob Hewitt winning over Golden Gater Player-Coach Roy Emerson in a first half tiebreaker, 7-6. Buckskin Player-Coach Owen Davidson defeated Dick Bohrnstedt, 6-4, in the second half.

Mixed doubles proved to be the deciding factor in the match as David Lloyd and Wendy Turnbull defeated Frew McMillan and Denise Triolo.

PREP STATISTICS

Bacigalupi Takes Lead In Batting

For the fourth time in four weeks, a different name occupies the top spot in the Marin County Athletic League batting averages.

Now it's Phil Bacigalupi, slugging third baseman from Redwood High School, who will go into tomorrow's final game with a .488 average and a chance to hit .500 for the league season, according to statistics compiled by the Independent-Journal.

In a year dominated by the hitters, Bacigalupi has taken over the lead from Terra Linda's Buck McCusker (.467). Alvin Hall of Tamalpais is third at .442 and leads in runs batted in with 16.

Redwood pitcher Ed Andersen will fall short of the MCAL victory record of 10. After Andersen reached 8-0 last week, coach Al Endriss gave Jeff Lucchesi three consecutive starts, and the left-hander responded with three victories to raise his record to 4-0 while retaining his earned run average lead at 0.70.

Wildcats' Comeback Tips Drake

Marin Catholic High School rallied from a 11-1 deficit to edge visiting Drake, 13-12, in a Marin County Athletic League baseball game yesterday.

The Wildcats scored 12 runs in the fifth and sixth innings to win. Eight of Marin's runs came with two out in the sixth.

Unbeaten Burnett Knocks Out Clark

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Undefeated Los Angeles light-heavyweight Jesse Burnett won his 15th pro fight against one draw last night by scoring a knockout over George Clark of Las Vegas at 2:08 of the third round.

Burnett had all the best of it in the first two rounds and finally floored Clark with a short left to the jaw and the local fighter took the full count. Clark's record is now 14-3.

San Anselmo Softball

Marin Supply thrashed Shoe Fair, 19-2, last night in San Anselmo Parks and Recreation department adult softball league play at Hidden Valley School.

Wood Vs. Holtzman Tonight

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two of last season's 20-game winners, Ken Holtzman of Oakland and Wilbur Wood of Chicago, try to regain a little of that form this time around when they match pitches tonight.

Holtzman, now 3-4, has yet to finish a game, although he has won three of his last four. The knuckleball-tossing Wood is 5-5 but was 1-4 earlier in the season so he, too, might be getting back to old form.

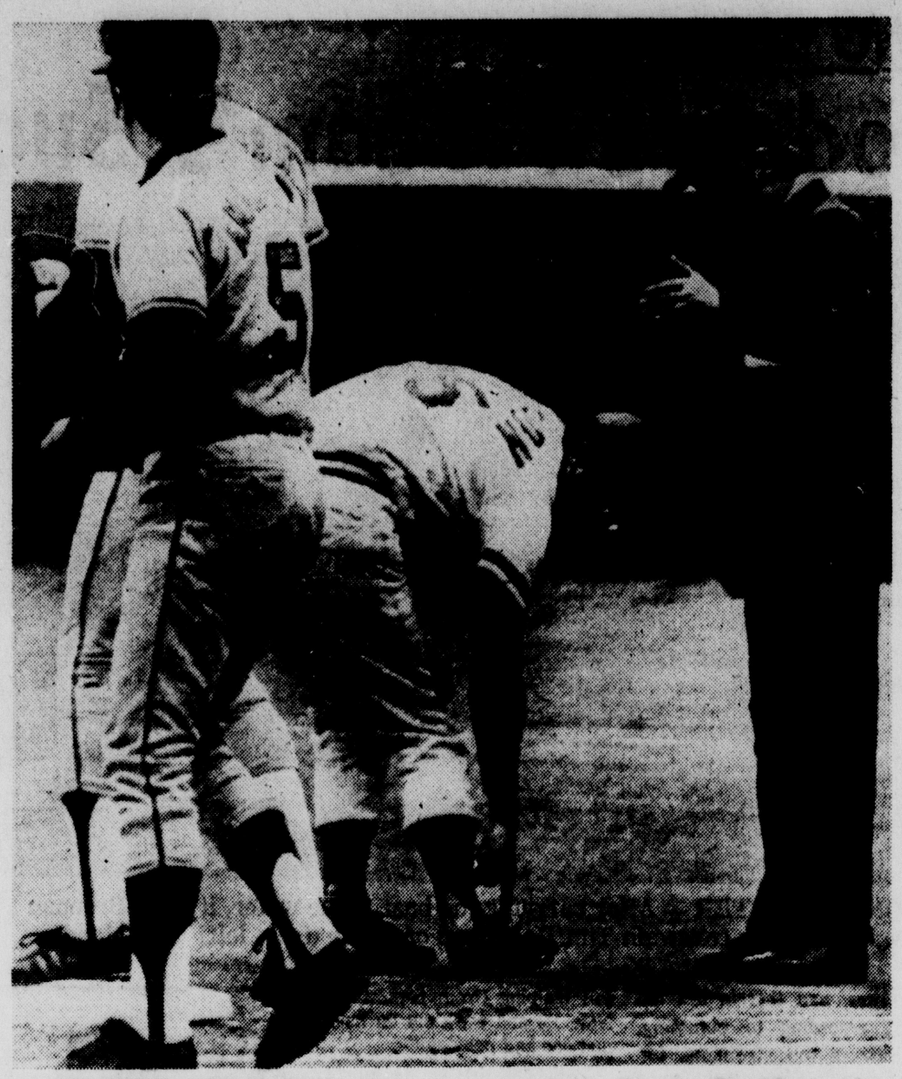
The A's open their road swing with Reggie Jackson, Sal Bando, Manny Trillo and Dick Green shelved by injuries, with the latter two on the disabled list.

The two teams enter the fray in a virtual dead heat for first in the American League West, but there is only 2 ½ games from the top to the bottom of the whole division.

The A's were idle Wednesday.

Crosby Pro-Am

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The Bing Crosby National Pro-Am will be held in Pebble Beach Jan. 23-26, according to the official Professional Golfers Association schedule released yesterday.



'I TOUCHED THE BASE' — Cincinnati Reds' pitcher Roger Nelson yesterday pointed to his shoe indicating to first base umpire Bill Williams where he touched the base. San Francisco's Gary Thomasson hit a grounder to first baseman Terry Crowley who threw to Nelson covering the bag. Williams ruled Thomasson was safe. Giants' coach Joe Amalfitano (5) and Thomasson waited for the rhubarb to end in Cincinnati. (AP Wirephoto)

Three Schools Join Baseball West Regionals

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — University of California at Irvine, Cal State Fullerton and Puget Sound will compete in the National Collegiate Athletic Association College Division Baseball West regionals, the selection committee announced.

The fourth team in the regionals May 24-26 at Tacoma, Wash., will be either Cal State Hayward, UC Davis or Sacramento State, still vying for the Far West Conference championship.

UC Irvine, 41-7, has a 26-game winning streak and is rated no. 1 in the country in the college division.

The winner of the regional will advance to the NCAA college Division Championships next month in Springfield, Ill.

Public Relations Spot For Knodel

Knodel completed his eighth year as head basketball coach at Rice this spring. He had only two winning teams but one was a Southwest Conference champion.

A graduate of Miami of Ohio, Knodel has a master's degree from Xavier in Cincinnati. He has coached at Vanderbilt and at two high schools in Ohio.

Stanford Loses Net Star Mayer

Combined AP & UPI

STANFORD — Sandy Mayer, defending National Collegiate Athletic Association tennis champion, has quit the Stanford team for "personal reasons" on the eve of the Pacific-Eight championships.

"He's been thinking about it for a month," said Stanford coach Dick Gould. "I have a thorough understanding of the matter and so does the team. He has no disagreement with me or any of the other players. He has been our leader and we're going to miss him."

Mayer, who was a semi-finalist at Wimbledon last year after upsetting Ilie Nastase, would say only "I'm really down. Lots of things are on my mind. I'll talk about them when I'm ready."

Gould said Mayer told him tennis was "simply not fun anymore" and that he had no immediate plans to join the pro circuit.

Stanford was favored to edge UCLA and USC for the Pac-8 title and perhaps the national title in the NCAA tourney June 17-22 in Los Angeles. But now the Cards are the underdogs.

NorCal Track Meet Has Four Marin Runners

With the state meet as their goal, four College of Marin runners will travel to Pleasant Hill Saturday for the Northern California junior college track and field meet at Diablo Valley College.

Competition will start at 7:10 p.m. with the 3,000-meter steeplechase, which will include Marin runner Dan Turek, who qualified on Tuesday.

Three other Tars qualified last Wednesday at Modesto Junior College. They are Alfred Kellough in the 120-yard high hurdles, Greg Biber in the 440 intermediates and Pete Sweeney in the three-mile run.

The top four finishers in each event will advance to the state meet May 25 in Bakersfield. The last Marin Tar to qualify was George Stewart, who won the NorCal mile and two-mile and was third in the state mile in 1969.

Terra Linda Wins

Champion Terra Linda High School (10-0) Tuesday concluded its Marin County Athletic League season by walloping host San Rafael (4-6), 55-22, in girls basketball.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

Lead With Hands

By LEE TREVINO

A golfer's distance and accuracy depend on keeping his hands ahead of the clubface as he strikes the ball. Even the best putting strokes belong to players who never let the club get too quick.

Byron Nelson, one of the greatest, says he can tell when pressure is getting to a player by the way he flips his putter in ahead of his hands.

You can't make firm contact on a putt or get a solid hit from tee or fairway when your hands get lazy. The only time a club leads the hands is when you're trying to snap the clubhead at the ball as when an obstruction prevents a follow-through.

Action photos of the better players show the hands ahead of the clubhead as it approaches impact. The longer the impact can be delayed, the faster the hands must move to bring the club into the ball.

The back of the left hand faces the target. The left wrist is bent and ready to uncoil. The more the wrist is bowed in the hitting area, the more power is released.

I don't want this to sound like a physics lesson because this game is tough enough as it is. But remember to keep the hands ahead of the ball, and all those theories will add up to pars.

PREP NOTES

Post-Season Cage Playoffs Cause Stir

By LEW CODDINGTON

The decision to create post-season basketball playoffs in the North Coast Section seemed to be a simple one, but like a rock dropped into a placid pool, it is sending out wave after far-reaching wave.

Such matters as the quality of basketball in Marin, the future of the Tournament of Champions and the possibility of statewide playoffs are all touched by the decision.

The challenge to the TOC is direct and severe. The NCS Board of Managers announced last Friday that the champions of the 14 leagues in the section would be required, not just permitted, to go to the NCS playoffs. The board also scheduled the NCS for the same time and place as the TOC — March 6-7-8, 1975, in the Oakland Coliseum Arena.

This gives the Bay Area two tournaments involving league champions, an unnecessary duplication, especially since five of the eight spots in the TOC are filled by winners from within the NCS. They are the Alameda, Catholic, Hayward, East Bay and Marin leagues.

The next move is up to TOC officials, who will meet May 28. Marin's representative is Jack Hayes, principal of Drake High.

What will they do? One possibility is to kill the TOC and quietly bury its 28 years of tradition and basketball excellence. That is doubtful.

Another possibility is to go one-up on the NCS by converting the TOC into a tournament for sectional champions. That is not too far-fetched. Three sectional champions already play in the tournament, since Oakland and San Francisco are separate sections and the Central Section winner has been invited the past three years.

Add the North Coast champion and the TOC would become, in effect, a Northern California championship — and that is only one step away from a state playoff.

The NCS specifically disavows this motive. "Any attempt to establish a relationship between the . . . section's decision to sponsor playoffs and state wide competition would be unfounded conjecture," said commissioner Paul Gaddini.

California is one of only two states in the union which do not have state playoffs. (New York is the other.) The NCS was the only one of the California Interscholastic Federation's 10 sections which did not have playoffs.

The trend toward playoffs has been a strong and rising one recently. The last three years, playoffs have been created in soccer, water polo and golf; additional playoffs have been added in golf, wrestling and basketball; and additional ones have been contemplated in football and swimming.

Any kind of advanced playoff system in a large state brings with it a classification system based on enrollment. In baseball, for example, the board has agreed on two classifications, AAA for the larger schools and AA for the smaller.

The classification system will vary with the sport, said Gaddini. In baseball, where one or two pitchers' arms can make all the difference in the world, a small school can compete more effectively than in football, where 22 are needed.

The NCS moguls have been trying for months to figure out a classification system for basketball, with little success. The problem which is giving them trouble is what to do with the Marin County Athletic League.

Current thinking calls for three classes, A through AAA. The AAA would contain seven well-known powerhouse leagues — Alameda, Catholic, Diablo Valley, East Bay, Foothill, Hayward and Mission Valley.

That is the class of basketball which Marin aspires to play. While not winning any titles, Marin teams have played respectably against those teams for the past decade in the TOC and in non-league games.

Class AA, on the other hand, has a geographical lure, since it would contain the North Bay and Sonoma County leagues in addition to the Humboldt-Del Norte.

Any proposal must make its way through several bureaucratic layers within the NCS, one of which is the section's coaches' committee, including Bernie Schneider of Tamalpais High, who says he will recommend that Marin compete in AAA with the big boys.

Bocce Ball Returns To Fairfax Park

An ethnic-oriented sport returns to Fairfax Sunday.

The Italian sport of bocce ball comes back to Marin Sunday at 1 p.m. when Fairfax dignitaries participate in an exhibition.

Police Chief Charles A. Grasso competes against Fairfax Park and Recreation Commissioner Leo Cronin to highlight the "grand opening," said Ernestine Healy, Park and Recreation Commission secretary. Commission chairman Joann Walla is coordinating the event.

The opening of Marin's only public outdoor bocce court in Town Park ends a five-year absence of such facilities.

"There used to be a court at the rear of the Ole Timer Bar. But it's not there anymore," Mrs. Healy said.

Now there is a court next to the Women's Club Building, 46 Park Road. The inaugural is open to the public. She added: "All bocce players are welcome. If you don't know how to play, you can come and learn. And music will be provided by the Susila Cultural Association (of Fairfax)."

The game is played on a long, narrow court of clay. It is akin to lawn bowling. The object is to roll a large bocce ball as close to the jack as possible. The jack is white and is the size of a golf ball. A point is scored by rolling the ball closer to the jack than the opponent. When two are playing, the goal is 15 points.

Facilities and equipment will be available free from the recreation commission in Town Hall during the week and at police headquarters on weekends.

The idea to build a court was conceived last summer. After recreation commission and town council endorsements were obtained, the court was built in the fall.

Rancho '9' Wins; Gap Remains

The Cougars (9-4) took an 11-7 Sonoma County League baseball victory from host Healdsburg, but remained one game behind Piner (10-3), which beat El Molino (Forestville), 13-5, yesterday in Santa Rosa.

To gain a share of the SCL title, Rancho Cotate would have to beat Casa Grande (7-6) tomorrow while Piner loses to seventh-place Cardinal Newman (Santa Rosa). If the Prospectors win, they earn the championship regardless of how the Cougars fare.

In other high school baseball games yesterday, Petaluma raised its North Bay League record to 5-8 with a 4-3 victory over visiting Vallejo.

Cranston Lists Funds From Speaking Rounds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Alan Cranston, a member of the Senate Banking Committee, has accepted $7,500 in speaking honorariums from banking or related businesses, it was disclosed in his financial statement released yesterday.

Cranston, D-Calif., made public his 1973 joint financial statement in which he and his wife listed income of $58,562.

They paid $9,213 in federal income tax and $2,008 in California income tax.

Cranston's statement listed 18 sources for honorariums, totaling $11,394.

Cranston, who is seeking reelection, received $500 for speaking before the California Real Estate Association, the Agricultural Council of California, the American Association of Dental Schools, Yale University's Poynter Fellowship, and the Association of American Book Publishers.

By far, the largest fees were from banks and related businesses.

He received $2,500 for speaking to the annual meeting of the Interbank Card Association MasterCharge in Santa Barbara. Another $2,500 came from a speech before the 82nd convention of the California Bankers Association in San Francisco.

Cranston collected $1,500 from a speech in San Francisco to the Charge Account Bankers Division of the American Bankers Association.

He received $1,000 for a speech before the 53rd annual convention to the Consumer Association in Newport Beach.

Asked about the banking honorariums, Cranston said: "I did not pocket it for personal income. It goes into an office account to pay expenses which the Senate does not pay for. This is very different from feathering my own nest."

He said the regular Senate allowances do not cover the expense incurred from trying to represent 20 million constituents. He said he has a full and part-time staff of 55 persons in the nation's capital and 15 in California.

HELPS A COMRADE — An Israeli soldier carries a wounded comrade to safety after Israeli troops stormed a schoolhouse in Maalot where three Arab terrorists held students hostages. Warplanes Attack Camps In Lebanon

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Waves of Israel warplanes today carried out two bomb, rocket and machinegun attacks on Palestinian refugee camps in South Lebanon and on Beirut's outskirts in retaliation for an Arab guerrilla attack that left 30 persons dead and 87 wounded in the Israeli village of Maalot.

Lebanese sources said the twin raids less than two hours apart by Israeli Phantom and Skyhawk jets were the most widespread air attacks on record in Lebanon. Israeli sources said they were the heaviest and deepest since the October war and were aimed specifically at camps housing the organizations that raided Maalot.

A brief Lebanese communique said the toll in lives and damage was not known, but promised a detailed communique later. Newsmen who toured the sites of Palestinian refugee camps estimated the overall death toll at about 15, with an unknown number wounded.

Israel said its planes hit Arab guerrilla bases in two 30-minute strikes directed against guerrilla training bases, depots, offices, headquarters and workshops near Beirut, around the southern coastal cities of Tyre and Sidon, and in southern Lebanon.

Israeli planes which took part in the first raid swooped low over the village of Safed during funeral services for 18 of the Israeli teen-age schoolchildren killed in the Wednesday raid on Maalot.

Palestinian guerrilla attacks against Israeli settlements have invariably been followed by massive Israeli retaliation. Prime Minister Golda Meir gave a hint of such action last night when she vowed to "cut off the hands" of the guerrillas responsible.

The Israeli announcement said the 30-minute attack hit guerrilla targets near Beirut, around the coastal city of Tyre south of the capital, and in southern Lebanon above the frontier. Israel said all the Phantom jets returned safely.

The Israeli announcement said specifically that some of the targets belonged to the two groups that claimed responsibility for the Maalot attack —

Increase In Cities' Valuation

Preliminary assessed valuation figures for Marin's 11 cities show Fairfax, Larkspur and Novato each increased more than 20 per cent in property value during the last year.

According to Assessor Bert W. Broemmel, San Anselmo had the lowest percentage increase with 2.2 per cent. Broemmel's appraisers concentrated on that city last year.

Increased property values averaged 12.2 per cent countywide, he said, adding "This is indicative of the dynamic growth of the county as well as soaring building costs and land values."

In terms of market or actual value, the estimated increase puts Marin's tax base close to the $4 billion mark.

In 1960, the market value of property reached $1 billion, he said. It hit the second billion in 1966, the third in 1972 and will exceed $3.75 billion this year, he continued.

While market value indicates the real value of property, assessed value is 25 per cent of market value and is used for tax purposes.

Of Marin's 11 cities, Fairfax heads the list with a 21.3 per cent estimated increase. It's total assessed valuation rose to $24,207.591.

Totals for other cities (with percentage increase in parentheses) are:

Belvedere, $24,930,144 (17.6 per cent); Corte Madera, $39,963,165 (16.7); Larkspur, $55,085,212 (20.8); Mill Valley, $60,447,845 (11.5); Novato, $101,703,806 (20.4); Ross, $17,451,416 (15.8); San Anselmo, $42,679,086 (2.2); San Rafael, $217,787,013 (12); Sausalito, $47,027,246 (7.3), and Tiburon, $40,192,556 (10.2).

In the unincorporated area of the county the assessed valuation increased 9.2 per cent for a $273,370,667 total.

Centennial To Open Tomorrow

The curtain goes up tomorrow on the San Rafael Centennial, 10 days of civic celebrations marking the biggest birthday party in the city's 100-year history.

A cast of 130 — with performers aged 8 to 80 — will present the rousing centennial opener at San Rafael High School at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow: "Jubilee," an original musical review by Paul and Valerie McMullen and telling in lyrics and music the history of San Rafael from Mission days to the present.

From tomorrow onward, the city's calendar is jammed with birthday events including concerts, art exhibits, historical tours, civic luncheons, a costume ball, country fair, yacht regatta, church services and one of the longest parades in northern California history.

A volunteer committee of 300 persons under program chairman Jean Kelly has been planning the centennial since October. More than 12,000 persons are scheduled to participate including 5,000 in the parade, 3,500 school children on historical tours, and as vendors and performers at the Centennial Fair. Judge Thomas F. Keating is general chairman of the celebration.

The city is already decorated with red-white-and-blue flags. Store windows abound in centennial art, created by San Rafael school children. City hall and library, the Marin Historical Museum, civic center branch of the Marin County Library and the Archbishop Alemany Library at Dominican College are

Adverse Impact Report Accepted

An environmental impact report that says a residential subdivision proposed for Wolfback Ridge in Sausalito would "serve to degrade the quality of the environment" was accepted last night by the city planning commission.

"Adverse environmental impacts outweigh any beneficial aspects of the project and the adverse impacts, as a whole, serve to degrade the quality of the environment," according to the impact document prepared for the city by Brown and Heldt Associates of San Francisco.

The report deals with three development alternatives, ranging from 312 dwelling units to 160 units, proposed by Edward Fitzsimmons and Associates for 156 acres on the scenic ridge west of Highway 101.

Damaging to the environment would be the change in visual quality of the ridgeline, the development of uphill single-family lots on steep terrain, the change in visual quality of those areas visible from the Golden Gate National Recreation Area lands, increased water supply demand, increased sewer generation and, for most alternatives, public costs would be in excess of public revenues generated by the project, the report declares.

The report also finds that total cost to the city for public services would, under all alternatives, exceed city revenues from the project.

"This does not preclude the possibility the project can be approved," said planning director Herb Case. "But it suggests that mitigating measures would have to be introduced to reduce adverse impacts."

The report suggests as mitigating measures that ridgeline lots be deleted and recommends a host of technical methods involving siting of buildings, soil preparation, traffic circulation and others that would lesson the strain on the environment of the project.

On the plus side, the impact study finds that the project would be supplying housing for a certain segment of the market (average value of a home is proposed at between $80,000 and $100,000), and that construction would provide jobs and stimulate the economy.

The report was accepted on a 4-1 vote, commissioner Dorothy Gibson dissenting. She said more alternative projects should have been included in the environmental assessment.

Nixon Tells Writer He Will Not Resign Under Any Circumstances

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will not resign "under any circumstances" nor will he temporarily relinquish office under pressures of the Watergate scandals, he said in an interview published today.

Nixon vowed to fight impeachment "as effectively as we can," and expressed confidence that he could run the country and his own defense simultaneously if the House votes to impeach him and he is put on trial by the Senate.

In an interview with syndicated columnist James J. Kilpatrick, his first meeting with a single newsman since 1972, the President discussed Watergate and the controversial White House tape recordings as well as his views on conducting United States foreign policy.

On foreign policy, particularly, he said "it would be wrong" for him to step aside because of the gap it would create.

The interview took place Tuesday in Nixon's Oval Office, lasting 80 minutes. Kilpatrick said he recorded Nixon's comments in shorthand.

"I would have to rule out resignation. And I would have to rule out the rather fatuous suggestion that I take the 25th Amendment and just step out and have Vice President (Gerald) Ford step in for a while," the President said.

"If the House should vote an impeachment, and we go to trial by the Senate, of course I would follow that course. It would be immensely time-consuming, but I could do it, and I would do it for reasons that are not —what do you call it — those of a toreador in the ring, trying to prove himself, but I would do it because I have given long thought to what is best for the country, our system of governnment, and the constitutional process."

Later in the interview, the President reinforced his point by saying: "I will never leave this office in a way which resigning would be, or failing to fight impeachment would be,

Kleindienst Admits Misdemeanor Count

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst pleaded guilty today to a misdemeanor charge for refusing to testify about a 1971 conversation in which President Nixon told him to drop an antitrust suit against International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.

Kleindienst faces a sentence of one month to a year in jail and a fine of $100 to $1,000. The sentence could be suspended by the judge.

A letter by special prosecutor Leon Jaworski to Kleindienst's attorney said in return for the guilty plea, all other possible present charges against him would be disposed of. It did not close the door to future charges if "new evidence develops."

The misdemeanor charge — contained in a criminal "information" filed by Jaworski — was based on Kleindienst's refusal to testify at his Senate confirmation hearings about conversations with Nixon, White House staff members and his predecessor at the Justice Department, John N. Mitchell.

Herbert J. Miller, Kleindienst's attorney, said it was the Nixon conversation about which his client had refused to testify.

Shortly before Archibald Cox was fired last fall as special prosecutor, Kleindienst is said to have told Cox that Nixon had telephoned him in 1971, when Kleindienst was deputy attorney general, called him a vulgar name and said, "Don't you understand the English language?"

The President then told him to drop the case which centered on ITT taking over six other companies, Kleindienst said. Kleindienst told Cox he threatened to resign and Nixon withdrew his demand.

The White House later said Nixon was only conveying his attitude that "bigness per se" was not grounds for antitrust action.

Foes Of Busing Reintroduce Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate antibusing forces, narrowly defeated yesterday in a move to severely restrict busing, reintroduced the proposed bar in a surprise move today.

Assistant Senate Republican Leader Robert P. Griffin proposed a cutdown version of the proposal, defeated by one vote yesterday to prohibit the busing of a student beyond the second closest school to his home.

Unlike yesterday's proposal, Griffin's plan would not allow school districts, now under court order to bus, to revamp their plans to conform to the amendment. the Griffin amendment would apply only to future cases.

A HUG FOR HELMUT — Newly elected West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt was hugged by Hans Hermdorf, his former undersecretary in the Finance Ministry, after the results of the election in which he was named to succeed Willy Brandt as chief of government was announced today in the Bundestag (UPI Telephoto)

Brandt Seat Is Assumed By Schmidt

The Bundestag, parliament's lower house, chose Schmidt without debate by a vote of 267 to 225.

"We dare not sacrifice the stability of our economy and the prosperity of our citizens and their confidence in the future for a community incapable of action," Schmidt said in a warning to West Germany's Common Market partners just before his election.

Schmidt moved up from his post as finance minister to form a government when fellow Social Democrat Brandt quit the chancellory 10 days ago after security authorities discovered a Communist spy on his personal staff.

The new chancellor had been expected to take a harder line with the eight other countries of the Common Market than Brandt did.

Schmidt also said he would dedicate his government to closing the "fear gap" he believes exists among workers and employers, saying it was poisoning the republic's economic life.

"Uncertainty is poison," Schmidt said in the policy analysis published in part by the Hamburg weekly, Die Zeit. "The primary goal of policy must be to close the fear gap."

Schmidt said he intended to overcome the gap with budgets based on economic stability, and in close cooperation with the Central Bank. He rejected the idea of wage and price controls.

Hypertension Drugs Urged

HOUSTON (UPI) — Hypertension specialists said yesterday that high blood pressure, an affliction for one in every seven Americans, could be cured by proper drugs.

Dr. Edward D. Freis of the Veteran's Administration Hospital in Washington said eight different drugs were being used in the treatment of hypertension and combinations of those could control disability in 85 per cent of the cases.

"Alone, or in combination, they (the drugs) will control high blood pressure in the vast majority of patients," Freis said.

Freis and Dr. Marvin Moser, chief of cardiology at White Plains Hospital in White Plains, N. Y., were part of a group of 30 specialists flown to Houston to operate a two-day "hypertension hotline"

Quick Rein Asked On Tax Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lawyers for charitable groups say Congress should act quickly to limit sweeping powers given the Internal Revenue Service yesterday by the Supreme Court to revoke tax exemptions for charitable organizations.

Under the court's ruling, IRS can revoke such an organization's exemption and the group then must immediately begin paying its taxes.

The organization cannot sue to block the revocation, the court said. It can sue to recover the taxes, but it must pay these taxes while the suit is being litigated. Lawyers say this can take years and that, meanwhile, donations to the organization will dry up because donors can no longer claim what they give as exemptions on their own taxes.

Thomas A. Troyer, representing the Council on Foundations, which has 600 member organizations, said yesterday's decision could spell doom for young charitable groups which do not have lists of regular, dedicated donors.

But he added that legislation now pending in the House Ways and Means Committee as part of the tax reform bill would limit the broad IRS powers.

Justice Lewis F. Powell spoke for the court in two parallel decisions. The court ruled 7 to 1 that a group called Americans United for Separation of Churrh and State, could not keep its tax exemption for contributors while it challenged the validity of an IRS revocation ruling. A unanimous ruling forced Bob Jones University, Greenville, S.C., to pay income tax while it contests an exemption loss.

Reagan Says State Can Boost Energy Output 30 Per Cent

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California has the potential to increase its hydroelectric energy production by nearly 30 per cent within the next 15 years, Gov. Ronald Reagan says.

But the governor yesterday also said the increase only would be possible if private and public utilities and governmental agencies start conducting "detailed" studies into potential hydroelectric projects, including evaluation of "environmental factors, costs and financing."

Reagan took the 30 per cent figure from a state Department of Water Resources' report on existing and potential water-driven power projects in California.

The 63-page report, issued along with Reagan's statement, concludes that if potential projects identified in the report are built, they could produce more than 9 billion kilowatt hours of smog-free electricity. It said this would result in an annual equivalent saving of 15 million barrels of oil.

The report said a 30 per cent expansion of the present hydroelectric system "would require a very large investment of capital from both private and public sources." But it contained no costs estimates for carrying out potential projects.

Reagan said the increase is possible without including any projects in areas where development is restricted by laws protecting state and federal wild and scenic rivers and national parks.

The department's report said current hydroelectric generating plants produce 30 per cent of the state's present supply of electrical energy.

It said that while there are "many significant opportunities" to increase hydroelectric energy production, most of the state's anticipated growth in electrical energy requirements still will have to be met by other sources such as nuclear and fossil fueled steam plants.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Magruder Watergate Book Due

Magruder

In "An American Life: One Man's Road to Watergate," to be published next month by Atheneum, Magruder says he was "unprepared" for the pressures of the highest levels of American political life and that his unswerving acceptance of President Nixon's standard of political behavior had "tragic . . . results."

"I think that . . . I am a fairly representative member of my generation," Magruder writes. "And, looking back over my life, I think that I and many members of my generation placed far too much emphasis on our personal ambitions, on achieving success, as measured in materialistic values."

Strike Support

BELFAST (UPI) — Protestant youths hijacked buses and threw up road barricades in Belfast today in a bid to enforce a strike called to protest the alleged sellout of the Protestant cause in Northern Ireland.

Gangs of youths setting up barricades in the Shankill road area hijacked and burned a bus. Others in East Belfast used a commandeered bus as a barricade, police said. The bus company ordered all its vehicles off the road.

Two of Northern Ireland's five power stations shut down yesterday when workers walked off the job.

Northern Ireland's Labor Union party asked the army to run power stations to head off a threatened province-wide blackout.

All work stopped on the Belfast docks and many factories closed down as truckloads of masked men armed with ax handles roamed the streets enforcing the strike.

Town, Bases Fall

SAIGON (UPI) — Tank-led North Vietnamese forces overran a district capital and two defending bases in the Central Highlands today, field reports said

Military officers said the loss of Dak Pek base and town, 300 miles north of Saigon, left all 570 troops and more than 3,000 civilians killed, wounded or missing.

The Saigon command confirmed loss of the 369-man ranger base and said half its defenders had been put out of action by Communist fire. It had no report on loss of the 200-man militia base or the town.

Cabinet Named

In addition, Communist-backed Avelino Antonio Pacheco Goncalves, former head of a militant bank clerks union, was named labor minister.

Gurney Probe

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — A federal grand jury investigating a $400,000 "booster fund" for Sen. Edward Gurney, R-Fla., yesterday returned a sealed indictment, but Gurney was not named, according to courthouse sources.

The sources said the indictment was sealed because the person named was not in custody.

The fact that the person charged was not in custody apparently rules out three key figures in the jury investigation, all three of whom have been indicted.

Death Sentences

Tito's Job Is For Life Now

BELGRADE (UPI) — The newly constituted Yugoslav parliament today elected President Tito to office for life and cofirmed the appointment of the nine members of the state presidium which Tito intends should lead the country after his death.

Twenty-one gun salutes sounded around the country as Tito, who will be 82 on May 25, took the oath of office and pledged to hold the country on a steady course.

"The task of the state presidium and myself is to preserve the unity and brotherhood of Yugoslavia and cohesion from the top to the bottom. We must vigilantly preserve the achievements of our revolution and post-war development," Tito said in the nationally televised ceremony.

"Nothing will change in our foreign policy," Tito said in his speech. "We want to have good relations with our neighbors, with all countries in the world, but we also must safeguard our independence and integrity."

The ceremony set the stage for the crucial 10th party congress in two weeks time which will be the culmination of a two-year ideological shakeup.

Thousands of party members have been purged and thousands more have lost their jobs as Tito tried to ensure that the country is in the hands of a strong and unified Communist party when he leaves the political scene.

Brown Opposed To New Mansion

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — If elected governor, Secretary of State Edmund Brown Jr. plans to "do everything I can" to prevent construction of the proposed new $1.45 million governor's mansion.

Brown yesterday said he would rather live in the fashionable state-leased home of Gov. Ronald Reagan in Sacramento or in the existing century-old governor's mansion "or some other appropriate place."

At a luncheon with newsmen, Brown called the proposed structure in suburban Carmichael a "totally impractical white elephant" and a "Taj Majal" meant for royalty rather than an elected public official.

Union Leader Cited By Police

STANFORD (UPI) — Police cited a union local's president yesterday in the four-day strike against Stanford University.

James Burk of the Service Employes Union was accused of blocking a public thoroughfare on which a crane was being moved to a hospital construction project.

Nearly 950 technical, maintenance and food service employes are striking in an effort to obtain a labor contract covering their pay and working conditions.

Classes have not been picketed.

Rags-To-Riches Saga Is Ended

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Police ended a rags-to-riches saga when they confiscated an emerald-studded gold chain found by an old woman scrounging through a garbage dump.

The Press Trust of India said the old woman, dressed in rags, took her treasure to a pawnbroker in Bangalore.

When the broker offered her only $12 for the chain, which police valued at $5,000, the woman began to wail. A crowd gathered and the police were called.

Police say they will attempt to trace the owner.

NAMES IN THE NEWS

Two Students Win Training Honors

Two Marin students, Bill Fox of Novato and Frank Morrill of San Rafael, have received awards for their outstanding performance as Army Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets at the University of San Francisco.

Quirin

Fox, a freshman biology major, was presented the Society of Scabbard and Blade Military Excellence Medal for displaying "qualities of a good and efficient officer."

Morrill, a sophomore majoring in government, received the Association of the U.S. Army Military Historay Award for outstanding knowledge of military history.

QUIRIN — Navy Airman Apprentice Frederick L. Quirin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Marsh of Novato, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center in San Diego.

PERRY — Pvt. Joseph C. Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Perry of Petaluma, has completed seven weeks of basic infantry training at the Army Traning Center at Fort Ord.

COCHRAN — Naval Aviation Officer Candidate Daniel W. Cochran III of Larkspur has begun basic flight training at Pensacola, Fla. He is a 1973 graduate of the University of California, Berkeley.

NIKAS — Karyn Nikas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Nikas of San Rafael, has been signed by the Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Summer Reprertory Musical Theater for the 1974 season. She is a theater arts major at College of Marin.

SCHAU — Stephanie Schau of Terra Linda has received a bachelor of arts degree from the University of California, Berkeley.

A Warning To Golfing Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Indonesian radiologist has some advice for beginning golfers who hit the dirt instead of the ball: watch out for fractured ribs.

Dr. Sjahriar Rasad, head of the department of radiology at the University of Indonesia School of Medicine in Jakarta, speaks from personal experience. After three weeks on the driving range as a beginning golfer, Rasad said he felt consistent discomfort on the left side of the back near the shoulder.

He had a chest X-ray made and discovered he had fractures of two ribs and probably of a third. They healed naturally in a few years.

More than 90 per cent of the agricultural crops harvested in California receive irrigation.

exhibiting artifacts of San Rafael and Marin history.

Beards are in fullbush, and the last touches are being put on costumes of the 1800s, appropriate wear for all events on the Centennial calendar. Twenty-two thousand Centennial programs have been distributed, 500 silver and uncounted hundreds of bronze commemorative coins have been sold, and 10,000 school children and adult citizens are sporting buttons proclaiming, "I am part of San Rafael Centennial."

Tomorrow night's fanfare for "Jubilee" marks the end of months of anticipation. Opening night has been sold out for days, but tickets are still available at the centennial office in city hall for six remaining performances Saturday, Sunday, next Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

SATURDAY

A full day's events are scheduled Saturday. At 11:30 a.m., the city's new half-acre Beach Park will be dedicated on the San Rafael Canal. Alma, a hay scow-schooner which once carried cargoes to San Rafael from the wharves of San Francisco, is scheduled to run past the park, en route from the San Francisco Maritime State Historic Park to its mooring at San Rafael Yacht Club where it will be open for public tour from Monday through Friday next week.

The Senior Citizens Art Show will open at Whistlestop, 930 Tamalpais Avenue, at noon, continuing to 5 p.m. At 1 p.m., Terra Linda and San Rafael High School film students will show the film they made, "San Rafael Illustrated," to an invitational audience at Montecito Theater. "Jubilee" will be repeated at 8:30 p.m.

SUNDAY

Missa Viscaina, a mass written by one of the four Franciscan friars who founded San Rafael Arcangel in 1817, will be performed at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at St. Raphael's Church. The Senior Citizens Art Show, coupled with an open house, will continue from noon to 5 p.m. "Jubilee" will be performed at 8 p.m.

MONDAY

Monday marks the beginning of daily open-air concerts at Northgate and at Fourth and A Streets in downtown San Rafael. Orchestras, jazz ensembles, choirs and bands from San Rafael and Dixie district schools will perform.

The San Rafael City Schools Music Festival, an annual event, becomes part of the Centennial celebration with performance of the "San Rafael Carnival Souvenir March," first performed at a Labor Day carnival in 1908, and the singing of a new choral work, specially commissioned for the Centennial, by Earl Zindars to lyrics written by Paul McMullen. The Music Festival will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

Continuing Monday through Friday of Centennial Week will be "Centennial Trails" tours by 3,500 school children to the Mission San Rafael Arcangel, Marin Historical Society Museum, City Hall, Library, fire station and police department, Dixie Schoolhouse and the Miwok Archaelogical Preserve. Student groups have been scheduled through each landmark every 20 minutes of the school day in tours that began yesterday.

A number of student tours have been arranged aboard Alma during the week, but the adult public is welcome from 1 to 3 p.m. daily.

TUESDAY

WEDNESDAY

The Senior Citizens Annual Awards Luncheon, with the Centennial Fashion Show and presentation of Senior Citizen of the Year award, will be held at Veterans Memorial Auditorium beginning at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday. Noon concerts, and the "Jubilee" music review at 8 p.m. are again on the calendar.

MAY 23

May 23rd's biggest event, a champagne "Pioneer Evening" honoring San Rafael's oldest residents, will be held at the San Rafael Improvement Club from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Noon concerts and a repeat of "Jubilee" at 8 p.m. are also on the docket.

MAY 24

A Centennial Civic Luncheon at Caleruega Hall, Dominican College, has been scheduled for noon May 24, with 500 guests expected to view the Centennial Fashion Show and hear music by the San Rafael High School Stage Band. Sponsors are the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

May 24 starting time for the final performance of "Jubilee" is 8:30 p.m.

MAY 25

Musicians, dancers and the ascension of the hot air balloon Aquistapace will be entertainment highlights of the Centennial Fair May 25 at 10 a.m. at Forest Meadows, Dominican College. More than 100 booths will dispense food, games, handcrafts and Centennial memorabilia during the event, scheduled until 4 p.m.

The San Rafael Volunteer Fire Department is sponsoring the Centennial Costume Ball at 8:30 p.m. at the Veterans Memorial Auditorium, when dancers dressed in the bustles and cutaways of the 1870s will sway to the music of Ernie Hecksher's orchestra.

MAY 26

Climax of the 10-day celebration will come May 26, with a full calendar of events, beginning at noon with a Centennial Mass of Thanksgiving, open-air ecumenical services on the steps of the Mission Chapel at St. Raphael's where the city had its origins in recorded history.

At 1 o'clock, the downtown area will resound to the cadence of marchers, horses, bands and bagpipers as the three-hour Centennial Parade commences its movement from Fourth and E Streets to the grounds of San Rafael High School. A flotilla of decorated yachts will move onto the San Rafael Canal at 4:30 p.m. At 9 p.m. the Centennial celebration will end in a burst of color and glory as fireworks are set off on the waterfront of East San Rafael.

Cyclist Hurt In Collision

The California Highway Patrol said Smith, 21, of 631 I Street, apparently ran a stop sign, rounded a curve at a high speed and drifted into the left lane, where his Harley-Davidson struck a pickup truck driven by Patrick J. Farrell, 21, of Healdsburg.

Attorney Says Nixon Wants Open Hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's Watergate lawyer said today that at Nixon's request he would ask the House Judiciary Committee to open up its closed impeachment hearings so as to prevent news leaks.

Attorney James D. St. Clair deplored the leak of a hitherto secret presidential transcript in which Nixon threatened retailiation against the Washington Post for its Watergate coverage.

Sources said Nixon threatened to retaliate against the Post for its pre-election Watergate coverage in the Sept. 15 meeting with Dean and H. R. Haldeman, then his chief of staff.

"The main thing is The Post is going to have damnable, damnable problems out of this one," Nixon was quoted as saying. "They have a television station ... and they're going to have to get it renewed."

"I'm going to ask that these hearings all be made public," St. Clair told reporters as he arrived for today's closed session of the Judiciary Committee hearing into Nixon's role in the Watergate cover-up.

St. Clair said he would like transcripts of this week's two earlier closed sessions to be made public and would like to see material provided the impeachment inquiry by the Watergate grand jury released.

St. Clair has no direct way to formally propose such a move but could urge Republicans on the committee to do so.

St. Clair also said he would not meet the committee's deadline demanding a reply today to its April 11 request for 66 more tapes dealing with milk prodacers' contributions and the ITT case.

Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said yesterday he would call a meeting for next week to issue still more subpoenas if no reply from Nixon was received today.

Rep. Edward Mezvinsky, D-Iowa, said the tapes left him "depressed." Another Democrat said they gave him "a sense of revulsion."

Rodino announced that public, televised hearings — originally scheduled to start next Tuesday — would be delayed until Wednesday and possibly until May 28.

Meantime, the committee abruptly backed away from another confrontation with President Nixon. It scrapped plans to issue a subpoena today for 20 tapes on the ITT affair and 46 on the milk producers' $2 million campaign pledge.

Rodino said he wanted to be certain that Nixon had made an "absolute refusal" to give up the 66 tapes before he sought to subpoena them.

The controversy over whether the 1,300 pages of transcripts Nixon made public were purposely incomplete and inaccurate arose after the panel heard the Sept. 15, 1972, tape and one from June 30, 1972, John N. Mitchell's last day as Nixon's re-election campaign manager. On Sept. 15, John W. Dean has testified, Nixon congratulated him for his handling of Watergate.

A Democrat, speaking off the record, said the actual tape showed Nixon went into far greater detail in that conversation than the transcript indicated when he discussed his intentions for post-election retaliation against his political enemies.

The congressman said Nixon named names of individuals "the White House would get and get good." He refused to repeat the names.

Rodino said he would withhold judgment on whether the differences between the White House-edited transcripts and the tapes were "deliberate or otherwise." He said that was up to each member to judge for himself.

He said the committee's technicians had been able to translate many of the segments of the tapes which were marked "inaudible" on the White House transcript.

Said Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., a Jesuit priest: "When you hear how they planned and plotted, your worst suspicions are aroused. When you hear the President of the United States say, 'We were fools for not using our clout before, but next term we're going to get these guys...'"

Was the tape damaging to the President, Drinan was asked.

"Oh, yes."

More damaging than the transcript?

Said Rep. Jerome D. Waldie, D-Calif., an impeachment advocate: "If one felt from reading the transcripts that the person occupying the White House was shabby and of little principle, it will be enhanced by listening to the tape. Not just shabby, dangerous."

Picketing At Novato Schools Set

Novato Teachers will start picketing schools tomorrow in a push to speed up negotiations on their requests covering pay raises, working conditions and policies.

Members of the Novato Teachers Association, with a few dissenting, agreed yesterday on an "action plan" that started today with the wearing of green arm bnads, to symbolize a "go" on negotiations.

Teachers, who had set yesterday for completion of negotiations, believe that after 75 hours of negotiation, the district's representatives are lagging on several issues, including class size limitation, salary, grievance policy and granting elementary school teachers preparation periods.

The teachers, who originally sought a 22 per cent pay raise, are now seeking 18.5 per cent, while the district has countered with an offer of 3.5 per cent.

Under the "action plan," teachers will picket at each school for 30 minutes before and after the school day and continue to picket until negotiations are settled.

The plan calls for a mass demonstration at the district office at 4 p.m. Monday, the wearing of red arm bands Tuesday, and if a settlement isn't reached by May 28, a vote then on whether to have a one-day strike May 29 and to authorize a month-long strike in September.

that would make it more difficult for future Presidents to make tough decisions."

"I will not resign," the President repeated, "and I will of course present the case on impeachment before the House as effectively as we can. I shall receive the verdict in good grace, but I know that the United States of America means something in the world today not just because of its military and economic strength, but also because it has stability in its leadership.

"Resignation or impeachment would have the traumatic effect of destroying that sense of stability and leadership. And as far as this particular President is concerned, I will not be a party under any circumstances to any action which would set that kind of precedent."

In foreign policy, Nixon foresaw some "great issues" still ahead, Kilpatrick said, and said he feels able and experienced to handle them. In this area, where Nixon feels his greatest accomplishments lie, the President said:

"I have to be here, and I intend to be here."

Nixon said it would create a gap for him to say, "Well, I've been impeached by the House, and I'll just step aside, and somebody else will step in."

In his view, he declared, "that would be wrong!" Asked if he could manage the affairs of the nation and look after his own defense at the same time, Kilpatrick said the President answered grimly, "Yes. And I intend to."

Some Nixon critics and others have suggested that he invoke the 25th Amendment and let Ford become acting President pending outcome of the impeachment proceedings against him.

Under the 25th Amendment, added to the Constitution after President Dwight D. Eisenhower's serious heart attack in 1955 while Nixon was vice president, a President may declare himself temporarily unable to carry out the duties and powers of the office.

The vice president would then become acting president, serving until the President declared himself able to resume his duties.

The President also said during the interview:

The late J. Edgar Hoover once told him that his campaign plane in 1968 was bugged during the final two weeks of the presidential race.

Some national security incidents involving the White House "plumbers" unit have not been made public and "never will." The President said that Sens. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., and Howard Baker, R-Tenn., chairman and vice chairman of the Senate Watergate committee, "know of these unpublished matters."

In restrospect, Nixon said he believes his "major error" in the entire Watergate affair "was not doing what many persons very appropriately criticized me for doing in previous campaigns —and that was always running my own campaign." In 1972, he said, "I just didn't pay enough attention to the campaign."

Kilpatrick, a conservative columnist for the Washington Star Syndicate and a strong supporter of Nixon in the past has recently been highly critical of administration handling of the Watergate affair.

He said the President looked to him to be "well and strong," but said Nixon "also looked his full 60 years."

Kilpatrick added, however, that it appeared to him that the President "has lost some of the edge of sharp incisiveness that he exhibited a few years ago. Mr. Nixon's conversation tends to run off on tangents ... but plainly is in command of his situation."

The raid came as the Israeli nation was burying its dead from the Maalot attack, the costliest guerrilla raid in the nation's history. The death toll of 30 included 18 teen-age Israeli schoolchildren and the three guerrillas who carried out the raid.

Lebanon had feared some sort of massive retaliation and the foreign minister called in the ambassadors of the United States, Soviet Union, Britain, France and China and asked them to use their influence to restrain Israel from carrying out its threats.

It was the fourth consecutive day of Israeli air strikes into Lebanon against Arab guerrilla bases, but today's was by far the strongest and deepest the planes had staged into Lebanon since the October war when they destroyed a radar station and hit other guerrilla bases.

Warplanes returning from the raids swooped low over the Israeli village of Safad where 10,000 mourners were burying 18 of the teen-age victims. The funeral services themselves were cut short by uncontrolled grief and shouts for revenge against the Arab guerrillas.

Israel put its entire northern tier on full alert today for other Arab guerrilla attacks. Death of the children raised a larger outcry than a raid April 12 which killed 18 persons at the border village of Qiryat Shemona.

Villagers at Maalot, a town of 5,000 lying just below Lebanon, demonstrated this morning chanting "death to the terrorists!" Newspapers and opposition politicians called for revenge strikes into Lebanon, from where the raiders were said to have come.

Newsmen in southern Lebanon said the Israeli Phantoms, sweeping in in pairs, bombed the Ain Helweh refugee camp on the outskirts of the southern port city of Sidon.

OBITUARIES

Vida McAlister Dies At 98

Funeral for Vida McAlister, longtime Petaluma resident, will be at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at Sorensen Funeral Home.

She was born in Petaluma, and she taught school in rural Southern Sonoma for several years after graduating from the San Jose State Normal School in 1897.

During the first two decades of this century she and her husband, John A. McAlister, operated a grocery store at Washington and Main streets, which is now Petaluma Boulevard North. On the death of her husband in 1928, Mrs. McAlister moved to San Francisco, where she worked for the city as an auditor for the Municipal Railroad.

She retired in 1946 and returned to Petaluma.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Petaluma.

Mrs. McAlister is survived by a son, John McAlister of San Francisco, two grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Burial will be private at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

GORDON JONES

A private funeral for Gordon Scott Jones, former longtime San Anselmo resident, will be held in San Francisco under the auspices of Crocker Lodge No. 454, Free and Accepted Masons.

Jones died Tuesday in Sachelt, British Columbia after a brief illness. He was 75.

Born in San Francisco, Jones and his family came to San Anselmo after the 1906 earthquake and fire. His father became the first mayor of San Anselmo, and Jones attended local schools. For many years he was owner of Jones Stevedoring Co. He retired a few years ago and moved to a ranch in British Columbia with his wife, Myheera Fleming Jones.

He also is survived by a son, G. Scott Jones Jr. of San Rafael; a daughter, Carole Jane Leopold of Walnut Creek; a sister, Elizabeth Jones Rudy of Seattle, and two brothers, Allen Hughes Jones of San Francisco and W. Ernest Jones of Piedmont.

The family prefers contributions to the Heart Fund.

JEFFREY WATSON

A memorial service for Jeffrey C. Watson, 22, of San Rafael, will be held at 6:30 p.m. Saturday in the Sausalito Presbyterian Church.

Watson is believed to have died in the crash of a Petaluma based light airplane into Lake Berryessa on May 7. Neither the plane nor the bodies of the two men believed to have been aboard have been recovered from the deep water.

Watson is survived by his wife, Nancy, and his mother and father, Bette S. Angell of San Rafael and Theodore J. Watson of Brookfield, Conn.

LESLIE ATKINSON

Leslie D. Atkinson, 75, died in a coma at Marin General Hospital yesterday, two hours after being found unconscious on the floor of his bachelor apartment at 1330 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

The Marin County coroner's office said he appeared to have been in a coma for several days. There was no indication of foul play; an autopsy is pending to learn the cause of death.

Atkinson was a retired accountant.

He was born in Petaluma, served in the Marine Corps during World War I, and moved to Marin County about 25 years ago. He is survived only by a sister, Mabel Miller of San Rafael.

A private funeral was held today.

KATHERINE H. BENDER

Funeral for Katherine H. Bender, longtime Marin resident and former restaurant owner, will be tomorrow at 10 a.m. at Russell and Gooch Funeral Home in Mill Valley.

Mrs. Bender, 77, died Tuesday at a local convalescent hospital following a long illness.

A native of Ohio, Mrs. Bender hitchhiked to California about 50 years ago. She lived in San Francisco, Sausalito, Mill Valley, San Rafael and finally Corte Madera, where she resided on Chapman Drive until her illness.

She worked as a waitress and also owned restaurants in several cities, including the Black Cat cafe in Sausalito.

She was the widow of John H. Bender, who had served in the Marines at Mare Island Naval Station and retired with the rank of sergeant.

She is survived by a niece.

Burial will be private at Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno.

MRS. PHILLIPS

Blythe H. Phillips, mother of Thomas N. Phillips, owner of a Mill Valley coffee and tea firm, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital following a brief illness.

Mrs. Phillips, 84, was a native of Illinois. She and her husband the late James Phillips, lived many years in Honolulu where he was a businessman. Following his death, Mrs. Phillips came to California and had spent the last 25 years in Berkeley and the last six months in Mill Valley.

She was a member of the Christian Scientist Church.

She is survived by two sons, Thomas Phillips of Bolinas and Honolulu, owner of Phillips Coffee, Tea and Spices; John K. Phillips of Anchorage, Alaska, and a daughter, Jean Mary Keegan of Sullivan's Island, S.C., five grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

Private service was held. Burial will also be private at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

ZITA LUDEMAN

Mass of Christian Burial for Zita Ludeman of Petaluma will be offered at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Vincent's Catholic Church in Petaluma.

Mrs. Ludeman, 85, died Tuesday in a local hospital after a long illness.

She was a native Petaluman and the wife of Fred Ludeman, who died in 1930. For many years she lived in San Francisco while her husband worked for the Bohemian Club there.

She was a member of St. Vincent's Catholic Church.

Mrs. Ludeman is survived by two sisters, Loretta Cox and Letitia Sartori, both of San Francisco, and a brother, Haydn Sartori of Merced.

The rosary will be recited in her memory at 8 p.m. today at the Sorensen Funeral Home in Petaluma.

Burial will be private.

MARGARET HIGGINS

Margaret C. Higgins, sister of Dorothy Lockshire of San Anselmo, died yesterday in a local convalescent home following a lengthy illness. She was 78.

Miss Higgins moved to Marin County 21 years ago, from Connecticut. She was retired. She was born in Lykens, Pa.

Miss Higgins also is survived by a brother, James Higgins of Shelton, Conn., and three other sisters, Marie Kallmann of Bridgeport, Conn.; Mildred Kuhn of San Antonio, Tex., and Gertrude Hildebrandt of Long Beach.

A Mass of the Christian Burial will be offered at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today in the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

ALICE DIEHL

Alice Diehl, 83, a longtime resident of Eureka, Humboldt County, died yesterday at the Canyon Manor Convalescent Hospital in Novato after a short illness.

Mrs. Diehl, a resident of the hospital, had been a resident of Eureka for most of her adult life and had lived in Novato five years.

She was the widow of William F. Diehl, a lumber company employee. She was a member of the Camellia Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and the American Legion Auxiliary in Eurkea.

Mrs. Diehl was a native of Denmark and had been a resident of California for 64 years.

Surviving are a daughter, E. Barbara Conn of Novato; a son, Allen K. Madsen of Fortuna, Humboldt County; two sisters, Helga Ponting and Thyra Vieth, both of Australia; four grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Funeral services and burial will be in Eureka.

LOUIS HERNANDEZ

Hernandez of 413 Pine Street retired after operating the Sausalito Variety Store in the early 1950s. Previously he had been a store manager for Woolworth's and had operated the Woolworth's store in San Rafael.

He was a native of San Jose and had been a resident of Marin for 55 years.

Surviving are his wife, Virginia Hernandez; two sons, Robert J. Hernandez of Hayward and Luis Hernandez of San Francisco; a daughter, Wanda J. Madsen of Mill Valley; six grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

A Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Star of the Sea Church, Sausalito. Burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. The family prefers that memorial contributions be to the Heart Fund.

SECURITY IS HER BOTTLE

Clutching her bottle atop a thick blanket, Kalyano, is at last secure. For the first five months of her life in the Oakland Bay Zoo, the chimp was an inseparable companion of attendant Paula Stewart. Miss Stewart fed, bathed and even had to sleep with the chimp who would go into a frenzy if they parted. Now, almost 6 months old, Kalayno is finally accepting some responsibility. (UPI Telephoto)

Bolinas Board Renews Condominium Opposition

Directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utilities District last night renewed their opposition to a proposed 200-unit condominium on Bolinas Mesa, after receiving notice that the developer has again applied for state permission to build a dam for water supply.

Anton Holter of San Rafael, whose Mesa Ranch firm met bitter objections for the same proposal in Bolinas last year, has applied for permission to store 40 acre-feet of water per year on the 210-acre ocean front property, according to a May 2 letter from the Planning and research division of the state Water Resources Control Board.

Holter's application said the dam would be used for recreation, wildlife enhancement, and stock watering, according to the letter, but "the applicants apparently wish to construct at a later date a 200-unit condominium complex as permanent homesites in the reservoir area."

The Bolinas board unanimously agreed to tell the state agency that the condominium proposal would be inconsistent with the Bolinas Community Plan and the County General Plan. They said it would increase the town's population by one-third, create traffic problems, and strain the capacity of the fire department.

Directors Paul D. Kayfetz and J. Michael Groshong were absent.

The board also approved an application for a building permit from John B. McCormick of San Francisco on a lot where a house burned down last year. The approval is subject to a condition that the septic tank meet district standards.

It heard from John L. Sansing, Supt. of Point Reyes National Seashore, that appraisers have assigned equal values to Pepper Dam, which lies within seashore boundaries, and the district's Arroyo Honda Dams. The board is considering a swap of the two properties.

Youngest Youth Adviser's Views

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The youngest member of Gov. Ronald Reagan's State Advisory Commission on Youth believes young people should be more informed on what's going on in state government.

"I don't think it matters that I am younger," said Hobbs, referring to many others on the 16-member commission who are in their 20s. "I am interested in legislation to help young people."

Biggest Sundae Is Being Built

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (UPI) — An ice cream parlor is assembling what it calls the world's biggest sundae —a 1,737-pound concoction that includes 10,920 dips of vanilla.

The whole thing will go on sale Sunday in 50-cent portions to raise funds for handicapped children.

Organizers said the sundae will contain 72 quarts of chocolate topping, 35 pounds of chocolate sprinkles and 34 quarts of whipped cream.

SAFETY EDUCATION FOR THE DEAF

Officer Myron MacNeil of the California Highway Patrol spent an afternoon yesterday teaching safety procedures to deaf children at the Adaline E. Kent School annex, but found himself too wrapped up in his work. While demonstrating the use of handcuffs to the children (left), he accidentally locked them on his own wrists. Finding that he didn't have a key, he borrowed a hairpin and pried the lock open, while teacher Connie Friel looked on worriedly. Once free, he taught (from left) Nathan Fylstra, Jeanne Mouille, Ky Belanger and Jimmy Ranking to get out of the way at the sound of a police siren, which they can hear, as Mrs. Friel gave encouragement from the sidelines.

Car Dealers Still Have Plenty Of Unsold Autos

DETROIT (UPI) — The disappointing sales performance turned in by the nation's new car dealers in the first 10 days of May did nothing to whittle down the record number of unsold cars they carried into the month.

The "Big Four" recorded sales of 204,505 cars in the May 1-10 period, a 28 per cent drop from last year's record period. It marked another indication that the traditional spring sales upturn hasn't been as strong as some automotive executives had predicted.

So far this year, the industry has sold 2,678,196 cars, off 26 per cent from last year's record pace. However, it's off only 13.8 per cent from the 1972 pace, down 10.6 per cent from 1971 and above the year-to-date figures in 1970.

Entering May, the trade publication Automotive News estimated that the overall car stock amounted to a 62-day supply of unsold cars, the highest ever for the beginning of May. However, it was not nearly as bad as the 81-day supply at the end of January — highest for any month in history —that led to massive layoffs that have left almost 108,000 U.S. auto workers on indefinite layoffs.

Industry analysts said the 62-day supply was not uncommon and not bothersome in light of the conditions of a few months ago during the depths of the sales slump. The five-year average going into May was a 57-day supply.

They also point out that dealers have been able to cut down the huge stock of unsold big cars while building up stocks of the more popular small models for the upcoming summer sales season.

The Ford Motor Co. completed the reporting of early May sales figures yesterday by showing the lowest year-to-year drop in the industry —20.6 per cent —on sales of 56,462 cars. General Motors had recorded a 32.5 per cent drop, American Motors was off 27.1 per cent and Chrysler was down 23.8 per cent.

The pledge of allegiance to the flag was first published in the Sept. 8, 1892 issue of the "Youth's Companion," a weekly magazine.

JUST TOO REAL FOR WORDS

A realistic "bank robbery" led to the injury of nine persons Tuesday by a runaway auto. Erline Ardoin, 24, of Los Angeles, was shocked as she approached an intersection in her car as she observed a bank being held up. Tough looking men, submachineguns at the ready point were backing out of a bank, holding bystanders at bay and loading money into a getaway car. Mrs. Ardoin, afraid gunfire would break out, ducked down in her car which went out of control and plowed into the crowd. The injured were extras and a stunt man from Penelope Productions which was filming a bank robbery scene for a movie.

FBI Offer For SLA Leads Told

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The FBI was reported today to have offered a University of California student $250,000 for information leading to the kidnapers of Patricia Hearst.

FBI agent in charge Charles W. Bates said "the FBI handles its own business. I'm not going into any details."

At the same time, two persons called before a federal grand jury to answer questions about their past associations with members of the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army were ordered to jail for refusing to testify. The SLA claims to have kidnaped Patricia last Feb. 4.

The San Francisco Examiner, whose president and editor is Randolph A. Hearst, the victim's father, and KQED-TV said the report of the $250,000 offer came from John Mayfield, a University of California student who was once active in the Black Cultural Association, considered to be the predecessor of the SLA.

Mayfield said two FBI agents visited him and his wife Tuesday and opened a briefcase full of $100 bills, offering at first $100,000 and then $250,000 if they would tell where the SLA was hiding.

Mayfield said he told them neither he now his wife knew their whereabouts.

The two reluctant grand jury witnesses, Paul Halverson, 29, and Cynthia Garvey, 26, had previously been granted immunity from self-incrimination and were ordered to jail by U.S. District Court Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli when they stated in open court they still would not answer the questions.

Kidnapers Free Wife Of Banker

WAVERLY, Minn. (UPI) — A bank president's wife, seized from her home by a kidnaper and held while her husband paid a $50,000 ransom, was released today after nearly 1 ½ days in captivity.

The FBI said it first learned of the kidnaping an hour after the victim, Ardis M. Graham, 47, was freed. Agents said she was bruised but otherwise unhurt.

Mrs. Graham was taken Tuesday from her large brick home in this small town 40 miles west of Minneapolis.

Agents said one man abducted Mrs. Graham, who is vice president of the bank, but they did not know if others were involved.

The FBI said the victim's husband, Citizens State Bank President Daniel D. Graham, 55, handled the situation by himself and delivered the ransom last night to an undisclosed location.

Mrs. Graham was released shortly afterward in a northwest Minneapolis suburb.

College Board Votes Two Free Transcripts

Faced with a suit charging that a College of Marin policy violated state law, Marin Community College District trustees last night decided to give students two free verified copies of their school transcript.

Shifting from a 3-to-3 vote on the issue earlier this month, trustees approved the change on a 5-to-0 vote, board president Frances Compton not voting and trustee Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. absent.

Following the previous tie vote, Gregory C. Fearon, a prelaw student and former College of Marin student body president, filed suit in Marin Superior Court charging that the fee violated state law.

Fearon today told the Independent-Journal he will now drop his suit.

Earlene Jones, district publicist, said trustees Martin J. Dean and Gene Turtle opposed the policy change earlier this month but changed their votes last night without giving a reason.

She said students will still be charged $1 for verified transcripts after receiving two free.

Marin Community College District Board Also:

HANDICAPPED — Agreed to cooperate with Dominican College in a program to provide housing for handicapped students at the Dominican campus in San Rafael. Funds for the program are to come from state and county sources and Dominican College.

DEPARTMENT — Told staff to prepare a report on the department system at the College of Marin to include information on how chairmen are selected, how long they serve and minimum size of departments. The department system is supported by college faculty but trustees are reviewing a systems of divisions which would divide the college into larger units.

WORKSHOP — Set a workshop meeting May 29 to discuss a proposal to expand services to handicapped students by increasing staff with state and federal funds.

COURSES —Approved new courses for physical education in intramural activities, introduction to sports officiating and scuba diving.

ARCHITECT — Approved $9,066.65 for increasing viewing screen size in the remodeled art department and $3,000 for sound barriers in the Harlan Center. Both were called for in original project specifications and costs will be recovered from former district architects Corwin, Booth and Associates of San Francisco who were fired last year.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to May 22 to tour the Indian Valley Colleges construction site and hold a workshop in the IVC educational program.

Income Down In April For Farmers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most Americans enjoyed a healthy increase in wages, salaries and other forms of income in April but farmers' earnings were down sharply for the fourth month in a row, the Commerce Department said today.

Personal income, a broad measure of consumer spending power, rose $7 billion or 0.6 per cent, last month, compared to $6.6 billion, or 0.5 per cent, in March. Personal income is now at a seasonally adjusted rate of $1,108.4 billion ($1.1) trillion. . .

Farm income dropped $3.4 billion, or 12 per cent, "reflecting further declines in prices received by farmers for both livestock and crops and increases in farm production expenses," the department said. This figure has now fallen $4.4 billion since January.

Wages and salaries advanced $4.3 billion in April compared to $3.7 billion a month earlier.

For the first four months of 1974, overall personal income was running 9.8 per cent ahead of January-April, 1973, the department said.

TRADITIONAL SCRUBDOWN

The 45th annual Tulip Festival opened in Holland, Mich., yesterday with street scrubbing, depicting the traditional Dutch cleanliness. But, as usual, things got a little out of control and the scrubbers got washed down more than the streets. Millions of tulips in various colors will be awaiting the gaze of an expected 300,000 visitors to the festival.

Former Hughes Aide Tells Of CIA Fetish

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Howard Hughes wanted his business to become a front for the Central Intelligence Agency to give him leverage with federal regulatory agencies, a former top Hughes executive testified in federal court yesterday.

Robert A. Maheu, a former FBI agent who has testified he was involved with the CIA while working for Hughes, said he refused to help the mysterious billionaire accomplish the linkup.

Oaheu testified at the trial of his $17.5 million libel suit against Hughes for the billionaire's statement that Maheu was fired as head of the Hughes Nevada empire because "he stole me blind."

Maheu has spent the week detailing for the jury the unusual nature of his work for Hughes, for which he was paid a half million dollars a year.

Hughes learned of Maheu's links to the CIA in 1960 or early 1961, Maheu testified, when he had to spend a lot of time in Miami "on a very sensitive assignment for a government intelligence agency."

Maheu identified the agency as the CIA. He did not reveal the nature of the "sensitive assignment," but the time referred to is when the CIA was mounting the Bay of Pigs invasion against Cuba.

He also was working for Hughes, Maheu said, and Hughes complained to him that he was neglecting the billionaire's interests.

"I finally received permission from my major contact in the intelligence agency to reveal to Mr. Hughes the necessity" for the Miami work, Maheu said.

Hughes was happy to learn that one of his top aides was involved with the CIA, and "he encouraged me to continue on with the assignment and any other work that might be required of me in future years," Maheu said.

Eight years later, Maheu said, "Mr. Hughes asked me if I could try to make some kind of arrangement with the CIA whereby some part of the Hughes Tool Co. could become a front for the intelligence agency.

"He pointed out that if he ever became involved with the government —with a regulatory body or investigative agency — he thought it would be very beneficial to him ...

"I told him I couldn't believe what he was telling me and under no circumstances would I assist him in such an endeavor."

In other testimony, Maheu said that Hughes wanted to gain favor with then Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and told him to let Johnson know that Hughes would give financial backing to "any candidate Johnson would like to see elected."

Arkansas Flood Town Evacuated

HELENA, Ark. (UPI) — Streets flooded with three to four feet of water sent 300 residents of this delta city fleeing from their homes yesterday. Gov. Dale L. Bumpers summoned the National Guard to help law enforcement authorities with evacuation.

"We started evacuating about six o'clock and, at first, we were putting them in the courthouse, in churches and the West Helena city hall," Phillips County Sheriff Marion Hickey said.

Two More Brands Of Hairspray Are Recalled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) today announced the recall of two more brands of hair spray containing vinyl chloride, a chemical linked to liver cancer.

The agency said the products were distributed nationwide from October 1971 until Jan. 1 of this year and it had no way of knowing how many are still on store shelves or in the hands of consumers.

Involved in the recall are "Posner Natural Hair Sheen Spray" in six and 16 ounce aerosol cans distributed by Posner Laboratories Inc. of Corona, N.Y., and "Grant's Deluxe Hair Spray" in 16-ounce cans distributed by W.T. Grant Co., New York.

The FDA previously announced the recall of several other brands of hair sprays in which vinyl chloride was used as a propellent. The chemical has been linked to several cases of a rare form of liver cancer among workers in plants where vinyl chloride was processed. The Environmental Protection Agency has banned the sale of products have been using other gases such as freon to propel the contents of the cans into the air.

Since the chemical has been called into question, aerosol

Electric Power Use Guidelines Softened

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California's Public Utilities Commission eased its guidelines on electrical consumption yesterday, but warned that the energy crisis will be around for years.

Commissioners suggested a 10 per cent conservation goal, instead of the previous 15 per cent, from the electrical consumption of a year ago.

Under the new guidelines, regulated firms now will be permitted to furnish power to operate decorative and ornamental fountains, but not to light them.

In addition, electricity now may be supplied to illuminate time and temperature signs and commercial displays.

Businesses will be permitted to display two advertising signs, rather than one.

In relaxing its guidelines, the commission noted heavy winter rainfall, which will provide more hydroelectric power, and the lifting of the Arab oil embargo.

But it cautioned that shortages are likely to continue for years.

Air conditioning equipment, the commission said, should not be used to cool temperatures to less than 78 degrees this summer.

A Brick Washer Has A Problem

CHICAGO (UPI) — On his 32nd birthday, Clyde Fugate started his first day on the job as a brick washer on a Chicago skyscraper yesterday. He wound up hanging outside the 19th floor for more than an hour.

Clyde and his brother, Pearl, 26, got stuck above the Loop when the motor cranking them up and down the 36-story Hyatt Regency Chicago Building got stuck.

Firemen finally lowered a new motor which got the brothers' scaffold back to the roof. Clyde said he would be back at work today. The pay is $9.20 an hour and "we don't get paid if we don't work," he said.

BART Budget Set At $51.7 Million

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The board of directors of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District has voted a $51.7 million budget for the 12-month period starting July 1.

It voted that figure yesterday after hearing from its staff that BART will still have a deficit of about $10 million that must be raised to keep the trains in operations.

General Manager B.R. Stokes told the directors he will present a "contingency" budget next week to outline steps BART could take to shut down the system should the legislature not provide aid for the debt-ridden district.

Stokes had proposed a $54.4 million "bare-bones" budget but the directors pared another $2.7 million.

Bart said reductions in marketing and advertising would hurt BART's attempts to lure riders in the off-peak hours, but the directors apparently agreed with director Quentin Kopp who said "reliable operation" would be BART's best advertisement.

Airport Land Use Commission Told Interim Land Plan Near

The Marin County Airport Land Use Commission was told yesterday a draft of an interim land use plan will be ready next month.

The commission, which is charged under state law with overseeing how lands are developed around public and military airports, will review the plan and set public hearings once it is received.

The plan will deal primarily with Gnoss Field and Hamilton Air Force Base and will serve as the basis of a final land use plan.

County Planning Director Werner Von Gundell, who serves as staff to the commission, said that until the interim plan is adopted the commission can only act as an advisory body to the county and City of Novato.

Once the plan is adopted, he continued, the commission decisions on land uses near airports can only be reversed by at least a 4-to-1 vote of county supervisors or city councilmen, depending on who has jurisdiction over the land.

The commission is attempting to determine if Smith Ranch airport in San Rafael is a "public use" airport.

A city use permit prohibits flight instructions at the airport, among other things, but county officials have been told flight training is taking place anyway.

If so, the airport would fall under the "public use" category and therefore under the commission's planning jurisdiction.

A Plea Made To Kidnaper

PONCE, P.R. (UPI) — Police helicopters yesterday dumped thousands of leaflets on rugged central mountains central Puerto Rico where an escaped murderer and accused kidnaper-murder has eluded a police dragnet for more than two months.

The leaflets contained an appeal from the fugitive's mother asking him to meet her and six other intermediaries— all of whose pictures are on the leaflet.

The leaflets promised police would not pursue him.

33 YEARS SERVICE

Security Found In Job With U.S. Post Office

By PAUL CANE

Edgar J. (Bud) Fisher's early years and activities were those of an all-American boy.

Born in the San Rafael firehouse, he became an eagle scout, a standout football, basketball and track athlete, and student body president of San Rafael High School.

So it should not be surprising that he ended up working for America — in the San Rafael Post Office. Fisher, 59, retired last Thursday after 33 years of work in the postal service.

But following his graduation in 1933 from San Rafael High, a career with the Post Office seemed to be the last thing on his mind.

"I went to College of Marin for a semester after I got out of high school," Fisher recalled. "But those were the years of the Depression, and I had to get out and make some money."

He then began a long series of short jobs until he found his niche. First, he was a ranch hand on several Marin diary farms. Then he went to school in San Francisco to learn to become a diesel train engineer, but he found he could not get a job. Then he went to a barber college, but decided that cutting hair didn't appeal to him as a profession. Finally he worked briefly as a salesman for the Lafargue Laundry Co. of San Rafael.

"At that point in 1941 I was ready for a little stability and security in my work," Fisher said. "I applied for jobs with a bunch of public agencies, the Post Office, San Francisco police and fire departments, and others. The Post Office offered me a job first, so that's where I went."

And except for a three-year stint in the Marine Corps during World War II, that's where he stayed.

EDGAR J. FISHER
Retires after 33 years

Fisher began as a substitute letter carrier, a position he held until called to serve in the Pacific in 1943.

Attaining the rank of master sergeant, Fisher participated with the Fifth Amphibious Corps in action in the Marianas and Marshall Islands, and served in the "mop-up" operations on Kwajalein and Saipan.

"That as a valuable experience for me," Fisher said. "Not only did I get to know a lot of coconuts by their first names, it was a meaningful thing for me, learning to take the other guy's welfare to heart, making the group become one unit."

During his military tour, Fisher had been promoted to mail clerk at the D Street main office building, a position he held for six years until 1952.

At that time, San Rafael absorbed the Kentfield branch office, and Fisher was transferred as branch superintendent there.

In 1956 he became foreman of mails at the main office, a post he held for only six months. He was then promoted to assistant superintendent of mails, and then in 1966 was named superintendent of mails.

The new San Rafael main office opened at 40 Bellma Boulevard at this time, and soon after the office change, Fisher was promoted to assistant postmaster of the San Rafael office under Hugh Cassidy, the job he held until his retirement.

The postal system, Fisher said, is now in the midst of a tremendous state of transition. "Concepts, equipment, transportation, and technology all started to change rapidly about two years ago. I was eligible for retirement at that time, but I had a lot of curiosity to see if I could hack the big changes we were going through. It was a rewarding experience, helping the service through this time," he said.

"But now I've had enough, there are young people that need to be recognized, and I don't want to stand in their way," he said.

He, and his wife of 36 years, Helen Reed Fisher, reside at 112 San Rafael Avenue. Their two daughters, Michelle and Adrienne, are both married, and Fisher has five grandchildren.

What does the future hold?

"I really have no definite plans. I like to hunt, fish, and backpack, but I'm going to let the chips fall where they may. I have some work to do around the house, but I'm not going to be a slave to that."

Looking back on his years of service, Fisher said, "The people I've worked with have been great. Had they not been the cooperative, supporting people they are, my job would have been a lot tougher."

He recalled the most amusing incident of his years with the post office. "There was this dog that was giving one of my carriers trouble, every day it'd come out and try to bite my man. So I called the family and asked them to tie the dog up when the mailman was coming by each day. They tied it up all right — to the mailbox!"

Fire Alarm Boxes Sold As Antiques

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York City Fire Department usually sells old fire alarm boxes for scrap metal. But yesterday city officials, who had 200 worn-out boxes to get rid of, tried something new. They called an auction.

A New Bomber Comes To Life

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The first B1, the strategic jet bomber the Air Force sees as the replacement for the veteran B52, has "come to life" with a functioning nerve system, Rockwell International Corp. said yesterday.

The plane's electrical power system has been installed and turned on, and the first of four 30,000-pound thrust jet engines has been installed, the company said. "When we went to power on, it was like giving life to the airplane," said Ed Mims, director of checkout operations.

Rockwell is under contract to deliver three of the supersonic, swingwing bombers to the Air Force for flight testing, with the first plane scheduled to make its maiden flight this fall.

Disaster Relief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate passed by voice vote yesterday a $150 million aid authorization bill to provide disaster relief assistance to Pakistan, Nicaragua and drought-striken areas of Africa.

Health Still A Problem In Wallace's Campaign

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Despite his protests to the contrary, Gov. George Wallace remains a pain-packed, paralyzed little man in a wheelchair whose frail health could at any moment snuff out his ever growing ambition to be President.

Wallace has made up his mind to run for president in 1976, his campaign organization is in place, but his health remains an uncertain factor.

Wallace maintains, "I'm physically able to run any sort of campaign. I can do anything I ever did except walk."

But in quieter moments he admits, "Campaigning is rough even on a well man," and concludes, "In my condition you never know what's going to happen."

Wallace, who won renomination to a third term last week with a record 64 per cent of the vote, campaigned vigorously. But midway in the campaign, he came down with a cold — "the first I've had since I was shot" —and dropped from sight for a week, complaining of a sore throat and running a fever. In a tight race, his absence could have spelled the difference between victory and defeat.

At the end of a long campaign day he often looked weary, his spirits dragged and he complained of "discomfort."

Yet, paradoxically, the bone tired weariness of a grinding campaign is the tonic that seems to keep George Wallace alive.

"I don't see how a man in my condition lives if he doesn't have something like I do," said Wallace. "If I didn't feel I could serve, if I didn't think I had some contributions to make I think I'd probably die."

It was two years ago yesterday that Wallace almost died as he lay on the hot pavement in a Laurel, Md., shopping center, four bullets lodged in his body.

If he had not been governor —had not had that reason to live —he would not have survived the assassination attempt, Wallace has told his close friends.

The assassination attempt left Wallace paralyzed from the waist down. And in the first two years, Wallace has gone to surgeons, therapists, acupuncturists and faith healers in an attempt to regain his health.

THE LIFE OF A LION

Zamba, a 3-year-old African lion, stared at the photographer yesterday as he calmly went about the business of scratching or sharpening his claws on a birch tree in front of the city hall in Portland, Ore. The lion attracted a small crowd of passersby while visiting city hall to promote the opening of Circus Vargas in Portland.

Standard Will Pay $2 Million In Age Discrimination Action

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A division of Standard Oil Co. of California has agreed to pay 160 former employes some $2 million and rehire 120 of them in the largest settlement ever reached under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Labor Department said today.

The Labor Department had charged Western Operations, Inc., of California Standard with violating a provision of the law making it illegal to discharge employes between 40 and 65 years old because of their age.

Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan said the company had signed a consent decree issued by the U.S. District Court in San Francisco providing for the cash settlements and reinstatement of some of the employes.

Labor Department solicitor William Kilberg said the illegal firings occurred between Dec. 1, 1970 and last Dec. 31 during "a series of massive layoffs" by Western Operations because of economic difficulties. He said a disproportionately large number of the employes fired were over 40 years of age.

Kilberg said the Labor Department is looking into other divisions of California Standard as well as other companies and expects to report additional moves against age discrimination within a month or so. He added that age discrimination in employment probably is "relatively widespread around the country."

The 160 persons covered by the decree were fired from positions in eight states: Alaska, Arizona, California, Hawaii, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon and Washington. Brennan said individual awards would range as high as $50,000.

The employes range from executives to workers in lower-paid positions with their annual salaries ranging from $8,000 to about $40,000.

Brennan said the 40 who will not be reinstated included those now 64 or 65 years of age, those with serious medical problems, and persons "whose discharges appeared to result from age discrimination but whose job performance had been deficient."

Levenson Reelected By Homeowner Unit

Other officers elected last night were Ned Buckley, Melvin LaFranchi and Cathy Bezy, vice presidents, and Tes Jacoby, secretary.

Levenson, 40, is a native of San Francisco and a nine-year resident of San Rafael. He lives on Mountain View Avenue with his wife, Barbara. The couple has two daughters.

Levenson attended the University of California at Berkeley and graduated from Pacific University in Oregon with a bachelor's degree in biology.

He won a doctor of optometry degree from Pacific University in 1962.

HOWARD LEVENSON
Heads association

He is president of the Marin County Comprehensive Health Council board and has served as president of the San Rafael Lions Club, the Family Service Agency of Marin, and as a scoutmaster. He is a member of a number of professional optometry groups.

He said major issues facing the Black Canyon association include the city's emerging general plan and improvement of lower Mountain View Avenue.

He Wants Ugly Treated Fairly

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Danny McCoy says it is time people started fighting discrimination against ugly people.

McCoy, 29, has organized "Uglies Unlimited" to fight what he says is discrimination by many companies against unattractive people.

"The blacks, the Chicanos and the American Indians have all had their days in the sun," McCoy says. "Now it's time for ugly people."

Fireworks Ban To Go Into Effect June 7

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission today announced that its ban on firecrackers and its tougher rules for the manufacture of all other fireworks will take effect on June 17.

The commission said that all fireworks —but not firecrackers —manufactured before June 17 could be sold until supplies are exhausted.

The new ban outlaws all firecrackers.

It remained to be seen whether all varieties of fireworks will be able to meet the new safety rules and thus remain on the market.

The new regulations for fireworks cover such safety measures as the thickness of the paper wall around the charges, the length of fuses and the speed with which the fuse burns.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Appeal Lacking In Stock Plan

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am considering purchase of 100 Shelier-Globe $1.35 convertible preferred (NYSE). Would you approve of this stock for growth as well as yield? I am also investing $100 monthly in Iowa Public Service (NYSE). Would you care to comment on this? — P.H.

A. Although Iowa Public Service reported a 2.3 per cent increase in earnings for the three months through March, 12-month results were donw 10 cents a share, reflecting the warmer than normal weather last winter. Two restrictive elements which could hamper earnings growth in the next five years are: the sharp step-up planned for capital spending and delays in receiving requested rate increases. In addition to Iowa's financing requirements for expansion, some $50 million in debt issues are due to matuer in the next five years.

Should the full amount of rate relief requested by granted by the Iowa Public Service Commission, this utility would be a more attractive income investment. In fact, a modest increase in the dividend rate would be a possiblity. Also working in the company's favor is its generating fuel mix — 90 per cent coal, 8 per cent gas and 2 per cent oil. While I would continue to hold these shares, new capital should be used to diversify your portfolio.

Whether Sheller Globe $1.35 pfd. is the proper instrument for your portfolio depends on the amount of risk you are willing to assum. The company has suffered from being in the wrong place at the wrong time these last several months. As a prime supplier of original equipment to the automative industry (55 per cent of sales) and a producer of recreational vehciles (25 per cent of sales), Sheller-Globe has been hit by both barrels. Earnings in the three quarters through March were off 14 per cent year to year. Sheller's recent changeover from camper-type vehicles to smallcommuter buses and the probable turnaround in passenger car sales will benefit earnings and share price. Nevertheless the $1.35 cv. pfd., appears overpriced — trading at at 42 per cent premium over conversion value — despite the generous 8.4 per cent yield on these shares.

Silver Prices

NEW YORK (UPI) — Handy and Harman today quoted silver at $5.97 cents per fine ounce up 16 cents.

Mobilehome Community Open For Inspection By The Public

A mobilehome community which welcomes families and pets will open this weekend for public preview off Smith Ranch Road in San Rafael, between the 101 Motor Movies and Smith Ranch Airport.

Called Contempo-Marin Family Mobilehome Community, it has 397 homesites surrounding a lake, where residents will be able to fish and go sailboating. It is being developed by U.S. Communities Inc. of Wichita, Kans.

Model mobile homes, with two and three bedrooms, wall-to-wall carpeting, electric kitchens, and landscaped surroundings are open for view. Fourteen models manufactured by six different companies are available for sale, with prices ranging from $9,000 to $25,000.

The homesites at Contempo-Marin rent for $106 to $156 per month, including water and garbage. The residents will also have use of a large recreation center and clubhouse, with separate card, billiard and banquet rooms, sauna baths, gym room, and whirlpool bath.

Keith and Martha Rogers, resident managers of the community, will look after the physical upkeep of the community and help with the myriad of living problems.

"The parks' environment restores the village atmosphere, which in turn provides residents with the opportunity to keep their identity and increase their sense of security," said Homer Townsend of Fremont, who is handling public relations for Contempo-Marin. "People know their neighbors and feel secure to walk the park's streets at night or even leave a door unlocked. Residents are secure in the knowledge that their homes and belongings are under the watchful eye of a concerned community management."

McDonald's Has A Good Quarter

OAK BROOK, Ill. — McDonald's Corp., the restaurant chain, reported record earnings, revenues and sales for the first quarter of 1974, ended March 31.

Fred L. Turner, president, said net earnings for the first quarter were up 30 per cent.

Market On Plus Side At Opening

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bargain hunting among higher priced issues lifted stock prices on the New York Stock Exchange today. Trading was quiet.

Caution deepened among traders in view of sharply heightened tensions in the Middle East, fresh uncertainties on Watergate, and the prospect of further rises in various interest rates.

In that atmosphere, investors have been unwilling for weeks to desert the sidelines to make fresh commitments in stocks.

In one bright economic spot, personal income rose 0.6 per cent in April, the Commerce Department reported.

Among higher priced issues gaining a point or more were Motorola, Texas Instruments, Fairchild Camera, Digital Equipment, McDonald's Corp., Bausch & Lomb, Merck, Upjohn and Dome Mines.

Kelly

WILLIAM P. KELLY, Novato architect, has been appointed project architect for the Hanna Ranch project, which is being developed by the Novato Center Inc. The 435-acre ranch at the northeast corner of Highway 101 and Black Point cutoff is planned for 35 acres of commercial and the balance in industrial, recreational and office use.

Kelly will master plan and precise plan the project, working closely with the Novato planning staff. Before being named project architect, Kelly prepared conceptual drawings of the Hanna Ranch project, showing an ice ink and tennis courts. The Strand Architects of Southern Californai will continue to work with Novato Center Inc. on a consulting basis.

THE HAIRLOOM, a new beauty shop owned by Edward Caton of Fairfax, opened this week at 479 Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur, near the Rainbow Market.

Caton, who has been in the beauty business for 15 years, the last 10 years with The Stable in Sausalito, took over the former Eileen Beauty Salon. Eileen Hanson of Corte Madera, who owned Eileen's for seven years, is retiring after 38 years in the business.

Caton said his Hairloom will cater to both men and women, specializing mainly in haircutting and blow-drying, and will also offer the usual services such as coloring and permanents. Joining him at the new beauty shop is Tom Lucas, who has been with The Stable in Sausalito for two years.

The Hairloom will beopen Tuesday through Saturday, plus evenings on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

ANNETTE M. CARRAR of Sausalito has been promoted to assistant vice president in Bank of America's International Banking department, San Francisco World Headquarters.

A 1970 graduate of Rutgers University, New Jersey, she joined Bank of America in 1972.

PARK PLAZA NUTRITION, a new health food store, is scheduled to open at Park Plaza Shopping Center in Rohnert Park, hopefully by this weekend. It will be located at 6368 Commerce Boulevard, a few doors away from TG&Y variety store.

Owners of Park Plaza Nutrition are William and Jeannette Horsefield of Santa Rosa, who came to Sonoma County from Southern California last August. Horsefield has been an accountant for 20 years, and his wife worked for a time in health food stores in Southern California and in Santa Rosa. Their shop will feature natural foods, vitamins, nuts, dried fruits, grain and natural cosmetics.

Space at the shopping center was leased through George H. Denney of Garrison Pacific Properties in San Rafael. Denney also negotiated the lease of space in Park Plaza Shopping Center for two doctors. Dr. Lauren Anderson, a Rohnert Park dentist, and Dr. James Bruns, a Santa Rosa optometrist, plan to open their offices there about June 15.

VINYL FLOOR COVERING installation will be demonstrated this Saturday at Jackson's Hardware in San Rafael, at 435 Du Bois Street, corner of Woodland Avenue.

Dana Leet, floor covering manager, said that an Armstrong Company representative will be at the store from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. to give free demonstrations on how to install 12-foot vinyl flooring. "We also plan to have slides to supplement the demonstration," said Leet.

BROTHERS TAVERN at 8 Locust Avenue in Mill Valley will celebrate its first anniversary this coming Sunday from noon until 2 a.m. Owner George Leonetti of San Rafael, who bought the tavern a year ago, said he will serve buffet from 12:30 to 8 p.m. and have musical entertainment during the Sunday celebration.

Sunday Brunch Will Be Served At The Deli On The Boardwalk

Deli On The Boardwalk at 1550 Tiburon Boulevard in Tiburon is under new management and will start serving Sunday brunch, and dinners three nights a week by the end of this month.

Shonie and Ria Aki of San Francisco bought the business from Merlita F. Richter of Tiburon, who had operated it for the past two years. Aki said he plans to phase out the delicatessen portion of the business and concentrate on developing the restaurant. "From May 30, we'll be open for dinners on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights from 5:30 to 9 p.m.," Aki announced. "From May 26, we will start serving weekly Sunday brunches from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m." The new owners plan to feature some crepes, both entrees and desserts.

The restaurant will be closed on Mondays. Breakfast and lunch will be served daily except Sunday, when brunch is served. Aki said he will rename the restaurant but has not yet decided on the new name.

Aki has eight years of experience in restaurant work and management. He was assistant manager of Ben Jonson restaurant in San Francisco, manager of Boundary Oak restaurnat in Walnut Creek, and also worked at La Fitts and Magic Pan restaurants in San Francisco.

WESLEY O. BRIGHAM of Sausalito has been appointed administrative assistant for U.S. Steel's western steel division, San Francisco.

In his new position, Brigham will assist the vice president and general manager and will also continue to coordinate college relations and recruiting activities for U.S. Steel operations in the western states. He won his master's degree from Harvard Graduate School of Business in 1952, joined U.S. Steel that year, and was named coordinator of college relations and training in 1970.

TOO GOOD TO LAST

Everything was going fine for sweet harmony choir director Lucille Ringoen (top) and the Hamiltones, performing Tuesday in the first Puget Sound Senior Music Concert, until someone hit a sour note (below). Mrs. Ringoen has conducted the mixed chorus of Tallmadge Hamilton Senior Center for the past 11 years. The concert in Seattle attracted some 500 persons. (UPI Telephoto)

Milk Boycott Leader Says Effort 'Success'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A leader of the statewide milk boycott says the effort is a "smashing success" politically, although no figures were available showing a decline in California milk consumption.

Lucy Fried, coordinator of the Los Angeles-based Coalition for Economic Survival, yesterday said the boycott "has been a smashing success politically. Milk prices have become an issue. They have become important to those campaigning for elective office and their image.

"By the time the primary election is here there won't be a candidate around who won't come out in support of a milk price rollback," she added.

The coalition and other consumer groups began the boycott last Sunday to force a reduction in milk prices. The action was prompted by state approval of a 10 per cent per gallon hike in the price of milk.

Mrs. Fried said she had no figures to show milk consumption rising or falling since the boycott began. She said those figures are "controlled" by the dairy industry.

George Woodward, speaking for dairy producers, repeated his earlier observation that the boycott was a "flop." He said only a few stores in California have been seriously affected.

Woodward said the main purpose in consumer groups announcing the boycott was to force the legislature into taking a look at state milk laws.

"That has been achieved," he said. "Both the Assembly and Senate are now conducting a comprehensive study of the milk laws."

Penny Demand Reaches Crisis

CHICAGO (UPI) — The demand for pennies has reached crisis proportions in portions of the Midwest, according to a spokesman for the Federal Reserve Bank in Chicago.

The Reserve Bank of Chicago serves federally controlled banks in most of Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin and all of Iowa.

The demand for pennies was so high last week that some storekeepers stopped giving pennies in change, instead they rounded to the nearest nickel.

True Qualifications Vs. Party Loyalty

State Sen. Peter H. Behr, with a new district that runs all the way to the Oregon border, faces a challenge within his own party based on his conservationist record and his right to the designation "Republican."

Behr now represents Marin and parts of Solano and Napa counties. But the newly drawn Second Senatorial District, in which he seeks the nomination, runs from Marin up the coast, including most of Sonoma County and those to the north.

Qualifications as a conservationist, which are an asset to Behr in Marin, may be a liability in some of the counties to the north, especially those heavily dependent on the lumber industry. Many northern Republicans claim Behr has gone overboard in opposition to timbering and water diversion and in supporting such measures as the Coastal Control Commission law, which was enacted as an initiative measure.

HOWEVER, the principal challenge being voiced by his primary opponent, Sonoma County Supervisor Bob Theiller, is of Behr's "Republicanism."

Citing a voting record which shows Behr quite often voting with the Democratic majority (for instance, he was one of a few Republicans who voted for SB 400, which would have put the union shop into the faculties of California's public schools,), Theiller claims Behr is not qualified to wear the GOP label.

Behr, of course, takes sharp exception to this. He cites a long record of Republican Party activity, and a letter from state Sen. John L. Harmer, Republican caucus chairman, at the end of Behr's first year in the Senate, in which Harmer praised him for "the tremendous loyalty you have shown to the Republican Party."

Actually, Behr's voting record as a Republican and his staunch advocacy of conservationist causes are inter-related. Some of his environmental bills have received more backing from Democrats than from fellow Republicans. This puts him "voting with the Democrats" on bills that he — a Republican — introduced.

WE DOUBT that many people look at candidates solely on the basis of party loyalty. We hope not. If they did, all Republican candidates would indeed be in sad shape this year, for party loyalty could be equated with absolute loyalty to a president who is facing possible impeachment.

The quality of representation given by an office holder certainly means more to the electorate than his slavish devotion to the "party line."

Peter Behr has, on the whole, represented the people of his district well. He deserves renomination.

Behr's November opponent will be Mendocino County Supervisor Ernest F. Banker. The only other candidate for the Democratic nomination, Leslie A. Grant of San Rafael, cannot be considered a serious contender.

Influence On Jury Of Pre-Trial Publicity Appears Overrated In Watergate Cases

A major concern for the last several months, as the Watergate publicity continued its relentless drumfire, has been whether the accused persons from prankster to president could receive a fair trial.

The outcome in several cases — Segretti and Krogh, Mitchell and Stans — has suggested that the defendants may have nothing to fear. We speak here, of course, of trials in court. If there is an impeachment and trial in the Senate of the president, we should count on the high sense of history and solemn responsibility influencing the members of Congress.

FOR YEARS NOW, the press and the bar have worried about "free press and fair trial." Lawyers have felt the danger of cases being tried in newspapers and on the air, with prosecutors, officials, defense counsel, or the media all potential violators. There have indeed been some outrages, and codes of behavior have been worked out.

The Watergate situation, though, is of a different order of magnitude. Perhaps never have defendants in court had their plight so extensively publicized in advance. Events so far, however, have suggested that the pillars of justice may be leaning over backward. Juries and judges are intensely aware of the dangers. And, while the psychology of juries is a tricky business, there is as much possibility of sympathy for the accused as there is of prejudice against them.

What happened in the Mitchell-Stans trial, while confirming these possibilities, raises questions of a more subtle and sensational character. Counsel for the two former cabinet members consulted a firm which specializes in opinion-making and probing. The consultant developed a "profile" of the kind of jurors likely to be most sympathetic to Messrs. Mitchell and Stans, and through the selection process a jury precisely to these specifications was obtained.

The judge, seeking to recognize the dangers of pre-trial publicity, gave the defense 20 peremptory challenges of prospective jurors against eight for the prosecution.

The profile drawn up by the defense's psychologists called for mainly blue-collar persons, primarily Roman Catholic, earning some $8,000 to $10,000 yearly, who read the New York Daily News. While these terms were largely filled, the man who seems to have been a dominant figure was of Hong Kong birth, a high international official in a New York bank, probably earning as much as all his 11 colleagues put together.

This subtle way of selecting jurors is not completely new. Others have used it, probably effectively. Something of the sort has no doubt been the dream of defense attorneys for many years. But as in many other forms of depth-psychological probing, there seems something sinister about it. Of course, it could be employed by both sides in what is an adversary proceeding.

ANYWAY, A TRIUMPH in jury selection and handling has taken place. Two highly placed defendants have had their day in court and have got off free. Whether any of the further defendants — and Mitchell again, who faces juries in the District of Columbia —will have any such experience remains to be seen. The conventional wisdom is that juries fairly representing the District of Columbia are likely to be hostile. But maybe not.

Thus it would seem that all the publicity has not made fair trial impossible. There are other quirks in the way, such as whether withholding of some of the presidential tapes deprives the defendants of evidence which might help in exonerating them. This is a technical point impossible to assess without greater knowledge of the tapes' content.

The ultimate trial may come in the United States Senate. The last time this happened, with the trial of Andrew Johnson, cruel pressures were brought to bear on each wavering senator-juror. In the end, history has said that justice was done, but with only a single-vote margin. There might be pressures this time, too, less overt and crass. But the majestic image of justice herself, the United States Constitution, and the integrity of American government and institutions, are surely likely to prevail.

U.S., Sweden Close Rift That Never Was Necessary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

With an exchange of ambassadors, the United States and Sweden are about to close a breach which never should have occurred in the first place.

It began in 1968, and if it proved anything it was that governments are made up of human beings.

"Few people are so pro-American as the Swedes," said Swedish Premier Olaf Palme, and American travelers in Sweden can bear witness to his words.

Yet it was Palme with an extraordinary lack of diplomatic tact who contributed most to the chill. And it was two American administrations under Lyndon B. Johnson and Richard Nixon, reacting with extraordinary harshness against an ordinarily friendly nation, that sustained it.

IT WAS THE MORE extraordinary since criticism even more harsh than that leveled against U.S. policy in Vietnam by Palme also had been voiced not only by the Soviet Union and China, with whom the United States was seeking friendly relations, but also by another supposed ally, France.

In no case was American retaliation so severe.

Palme's position was that even though neutral, Sweden still had the right to speak out on world affairs.

In the case of Vietnam, it led him:

—On Feb. 21, 1968, while Swedish education minister, to march with the North Vietnamese ambassador to Moscow in a torchlight protest against the war in Vietnam.

On Dec. 23, 1972, to issue a statement condemning the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam as an "outrage" comparable to Nazi atrocities in World War II.

On other occasions, Swedish spokesmen condemned "indiscriminate" U.S. bombing in Cambodia, and, after the overthrow of the Marxist Allende government in Chile, attacked the military junta and criticized American policy.

Adding to American irritation was asylum granted by Sweden to more than 400 American deserters and a Swedish announcement even before the war had ended that $40 million in reconstruction and other assistance would be made available to North Vietnam.

AFTER PALME'S MARCH with the North Vietnamese ambassador in 1968, President Johnson called home the American ambassador, William Heath, and for a year the post was not filled. Palme's strongly expressed views in 1972 led Nixon to withhold an ambassador and to tell Sweden a Swedish envoy would not be welcome.

Diplomatically, it is possible that both sides over-reacted.

Reagan Vs. Employees Dispute Unfortunate

By EARL G. WATERS

The dispute which has developed between Gov. Ronald Reagan and the leadership of the California State Employes Association is unfortunate. Both can end up losers.

The governor had vetoed practically all of the benefit bills which the employee group succeeded in passing through the legislature last year. He did so on the pledge that he would sponsor a "complete benefits" package this year. His reason for delay was that he was awaiting the findings of a management study being conducted by a private firm. The study was made and its report was made. It was a recognition that the state employes were due numerous benefits which they were not receiving.

Reagan announced that he would keep his promise and act upon the report. He also agreed to confer with the employe leaders. He assigned the responsibility of conferring to Agency Sec. James G. Stearns.

THE EMPLOYEE LEADERS came away from the conferences disillusioned. They claimed that the "complete package" wasn't as much as was contained in the bills vetoed by the governor before the study, despite the fact the study supported those added benefits. They said Stearns had been put in the impossible position of "being a negotiator without power to negotiate".

The governor's forces dispute the employee contentions. They maintain that the governor has kept his word and, for the first time in history, provided the employees with a planned benefits program. This, they say, will assure the employees of improved benefits year by year.

There is validity to both points of view. Stearns was not acting as a negotiator. The governor has never agreed to negotiate, merely to confer and consider. The benefits proposed for this year are not so good as some that were contained in the previous legislation. And some benefits which had been provided in the vetoed bills are not contained in the new legislation. But the governor's package does offer a planned program of benefits for the first time. If adopted, it would provide some certainty for the employes in the future.

THE EMPLOYEES CALLED on the governor to submit the issues to mediation. With his background as a negotiator for the Screen Actors Guild, they thought this would strike a sympathetic note with Reagan. Whether it would or not, the request came out as a demand accompanied by the threat of strike. Reagan isn't an easy one to club. He reacted angrily by announcing that those who struck would be fired.

Asked if replacing 100,000 employes might not be hard to do, Reagan said, "Well, maybe we might find out how few people you could get along with in running the state."

Reagan is firm in his belief that it is wrong to delegate to someone not elected by the people the right to arbitrate and possibly impose greater tax burdens upon the people.

But perhaps there is still room for reasonable men to arrive at a solution. The state employee leadership must know that the strike threat is dangerous, if not wholly idle. And judging from the past, the number who would walk out would probably be less than 10 per cent.

On the other hand, the governor knows that no great harm could come in submitting the issues to an independent arbitrator. For whatever his findings, both houses of the legislature would still have to pass upon the proposals.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Proposition Three Benefits Expounded

I write this letter in support of Cal-Vet Proposition Three on the June 4 ballot.

Proposition Three is a $350 Million Cal-Vet Bond Act. It would authorize the state to sell bonds and provide, from the monies acquired, loans for California Veterans to purchase homes and farms in our state at a reduced interest rate. Funds for this model state program, which has been in being for over half a century, will be gone by June of this year.

The beauty of this program, in addition to providing low cost home loans to California Veterans instead of a cash bonus plan used by most other States, is that it costs the taxpayer absolutely nothing, it is completely self-supporting. The mortgage payments cover not only the repayment of the bond issue but the administrative costs as well. . .

In my opinion, no one can question the right of these men and women, who answered the call of their country in a declared national emergency, to share in home ownership, just as thousands before them.

Alternative Chairman Not Backing Filante

For those who might have confused me with the Ken Howard, who is William Filante's finance chairman, I would like to say that I am supporting Joan Seminario and the other candidates for the water board endorsed by the Marin Alternative and the Committee for a Conservationist Majority on the MMWD.

I have for several years opposed the Intertie (connecting us to the Russian River) and the inordinate expansion of the Marin water supply, and for this reason among others I am supporting the conservationist candidates.

Outrage At Nixon's Expletives Phony

Not long ago, there was a big to-do about the obscene language used by the California state legislators during sessions of the Legislature. It was further stated that this language was used during visits of school children to these sessions.

Now, these upright public figures are claiming to be "shocked" by the language indicated in the deletions of the presidential tape transcripts. They are not alone — the state of shock seems to be nationwide. These sanctimonious hypocrites would have us believe that their lips have never been soiled by the use of an "expletive". Bull!

In my nearly 55 years on this earth, I have never seen such a "witch-hunt"! It's as though an effort is being made to destroy Richard Nixon so thoroughly that he'll never be able to lift his head again. I suspect that there is wide-spread fear that he has not committed any impeachable offense and so, those who want him out of office are seeking any means to bring it about.

I believe the son of God, Jesus Christ, had the best advice when he said, "Let him who is without sin among you cast the first stone."

College Production 'Exciting Performance'

I sincerely hope the review by Gerald Genese of "Six Characters in Search of an Author", now playing through Saturday in College of Marin's Theatre II will not keep lovers of fine drama away.

First off, it is less than two hours in length (8 p.m. to 10 p.m. with a 15 minute intermission). The College of Marin cast performed nearly flawlessly when we saw the play, and had the audience completely absorbed in the play. I saw this play off Braodway in New York several years ago, and in comparison, the College of Marin's translation is easy to follow and to understand . . .

Even less sophisticated theatre goers should be able to imagine a life filled with poverty and tragedy, and to be asked to re-live it on stage evening after evening, as is the story of the six characters.

It's truly an unusual offering for Marin and Bay Area audiences and one that should not be missed. Granted, it is a serious play. I left with the feeling that I had just viewed an exciting performance of an exciting work, and I didn't see a bored soul in the audience. "Six Characters In Search of An Author" will linger in my thoughts for a long time to come. A departure from the shallow electronics fare we are so conditioned to receive in the entertainment world.

Issue Raised In DeFunis Case Must Be Settled Eventually

The Supreme Court perhaps was prudent to dodge the issue of reverse discrimination for the present, but this question will be with us for the next generation. By declaring the celebrated DeFunis case moot, the court sidestepped a final judgment on the widespread practice of giving minority groups preferential admission to law schools, in particular, and higher education, in general. On Monday, it had refused outright to hear a quota hiring case from Massachusetts in which a lower court upheld that state's right to require state construction contractors to hire at least 20 per cent of their workers from racial minorities.

These are obviously very touchy cases. The court can be defended for not rushing to decide them. But the issue eventually will have to be settled. Lower level practice of the federal "equal opportunity" agencies often seems to contradict the spirit, if not the letter, of congressional prohibitions against racial quotas. Universities and professional schools, unsure of the law but anxious to help minorities, frequently dissemble on their preferential admissions policies. The confusion has led to a Kafkaesque atmosphere in which well-meant dishonesty threatens to corrupt the moral tone of our finest institutions.

The air needs to be cleared. It can be by a definite court decision, either for or against reverse discrimination. (Although we hope it would be against.) We hope that the mooting of DeFunis is only the first step in the careful building of argument that will finally settle this question.

High Percentage Of Drug Users Should Not Surprise

The judge was surprised, the prosecutor was alarmed, and the defense attorney was pleased.

Of the 36, 17 freely admitted to the judge that they had used or did use marijuana or cocaine. Another four said they had close relatives who were users.

Of the jurors actually chosen, five were professed users of illegal drugs.

The judge privately admitted he was surprised. "There's no doubt this reflects a change in the general attitude toward drugs, especially marijuana," he said.

WHILE THE HIGH proportion of users may be unusual, the judge might not have been so surprised had he looked into the recent spread of many "soft" drugs into general society.

Ours has long been a nation of drug users, legal and illegal, we are told by researchers.

The judge further might not have been surprised if he had checked into the votes cast in the 1972 marijuana initiative, in which a sizeable minority of Marin residents voted in favor of decriminalization, according to figures released by the California Marijuana Initiative.

The highest yes vote statewide was in Berkeley, with 71 per cent in favor. Sausalito, with 70 per cent, was second, while other Marin towns in the top 10 were Fairfax (62 per cent), Mill Valley (60), San Anselmo (51) and the unincorporated areas (51).

Even such supposedly staid communities as Ross and Belvedere had large numbers of pro-marijuana citizens, with those cities registering 48 and 47 per cent respectively.

IT DOESN'T TAKE much casual questioning to learn that marijuana users can be found in almost every segment of Marin society, the juror questioning showed.

Policemen, businessmen, attorneys, newsmen, doctors, architects, teachers, shopkeepers and housewives, young, middle-aged and old — some of each class will privately admit to using illicit drugs, mostly marijuana.

$2 Million Pay Order Announced

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Standard Oil Co. of California has been ordered by a court to pay $2 million to approximately 160 employees discharged in violation of the federal Age Discrimination in Employment Act.

The consent decree order signed yesterday by U.S. District Court Judge Spencer Williams applies to workers of a Standard subsidiary called Western Operations Inc.

The U.S. Department of Labor brought the action, charging that Western Operations had dismissed employees in eight different states because they were between the ages of 40 and 65.

The Standard subsidiary was ordered by the consent decree to make offers of reinstatement to 120 of its previously terminated employees.

The company is directed to pay a total amount of $2 million to be distributed to about 160 persons in compensation for their lost wages and benefits.

The order also directed that the company adjust upward monthly pension payments to reflect the pensions due had they remained on the payroll through May 15, 1974.

Actress Prefers Separate Beds

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joanne Woodward, wife of actor Paul Newman, claims that togetherness between husbands and wives has been "blown out of all reasonable proportions." The actress, writing in the June issue of Good Housekeeping magazine, said that in order to maintain her separateness, she was all for chucking out the Newmans' double bed.

But she added that her husband was dead set against the idea. She wrote: "A double bed is fine for making love but not for sleeping. I like waking up alone, having time to fix my head and hair before facing the man I love."

ART BUCHWALD

Alice And The March Hare Attend A Press Briefing

WASHINGTON — Alice was walking down Pennsylvania Avenue when the March Hare asked her, "How would you like to go to a White House press briefing?"

"What's a White House press briefing?" Alice asked.

"That is where they deny what they have already told you, which is the only reason it could be true," the March Hare said.

"It sounds like fun," Alice said.

THE MARCH HARE brought Alice into the press room. A chess pawn was standing at a podium.

"Who is that?" Alice asked.

"That is the press secretary. He talks in riddles. Listen."

"Why are transcripts better than tapes?" the press secretary asked.

"I don't know the answer to that one," Alice said to the March Hare. "Why are transcripts better than tapes?" she shouted to everyone's surprise.

The press secretary looked at her with cold blue eyes. "I refuse to comment on that."

Alice looked confused. "Why did he ask us a riddle if he can't give an answer to it?"

THE MARCH HARE SAID, "They don't tell him the answers; they just give him the riddles."

"What a stupid thing," Alice said. "Why is everyone writing in their notebooks?"

"They write down everything he says even though they don't believe him."

"Why don't they believe him?" Alice asked.

"Because he makes things up. He has to or there would be no reason to have a briefing."

THE PRESS SECRETARY spoke again. "All the evidence is in and it proves beyond a reasonable doubt that the king is innocent of all crimes, ergo, ergo, ergo, et cetera."

"But what about the evidence the king refuses to turn over to the committee?" a dormouse asked.

"That is not evidence," the press secretary replied. "If there was further evidence to prove the king guilty, he would have gladly given it to the committee. The fact that he hasn't turned it over means regretfully there is none. It's as simple as that."

"It doesn't sound very simple to me," Alice said.

"WHY CAN'T WE HEAR all the tapes," the Mock Turtle asked, "so we can decide for ourselves who is innocent and who is guilty?"

The press secretary replied, "If you heard the tapes it would only prove the innocent are guilty and the guilty are innocent and it would serve no purpose but to confuse you. Besides what you would hear is not what you have read and what you have read is not what you would hear, so it's better not to hear what cannot be read. Isn't that perfectly clear?"

"I feel I'm back at the Mad Hatter's tea party," Alice said.

"Now I will give you some important news today," the press secretary said. "This is on the record. 'Twas brillig and the slithy toves did gyre and gimble in the wabe: All mimsy were the borogoves, and the mome raths out grabe."

Everyone wrote it down.

"What did he say?" Alice asked.

Wife Seeks Child Custody

Carolyn Ann Eathorne has filed for divorce and asked custody of her son, 5, on the ground tht her seven-year marriage was "irretrievably broken" when her husband underwent sex change surgery in 1972 at Casablanca, Morocco.

After the operation, performed by Dr. Georges Burou, Casablanca gynecologist, the name of Gordon Dale Eathorne was changed to Kathy Ann Eathorne.

"It is something that simply has to be done. Carolyn and I are good friends and I see her and the boy from time to time," Kathy said.

Senate Narrowly Rejects Curbs On Racial Busing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — By the margin of a single vote, the Senate has refused to join the administration and the House in endorsing far-reaching curbs on the busing of students to achieve racial balance in the nation's public schools.

Grudgingly, however, the Senate gave way and accepted a set of much milder antibusing strictures.

Voting yesterday only two days before the 20th anniversary of the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregated schools, the Senate rejected a proposal that would have banned virtually all busing of students for desegregation purposes.

Offered by Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., as an amendment to a four-year, $23 billion extension of the federal education act, the proposal was defeated 47-46.

The Gurney amendment would have prohibited the busing of a student beyond the second closest school to his home and would have allowed school districts now under court order to bus students to revamp their programs to comply with the amendment.

The anti-busing forces, beaten in their major effort, then rallied behind an amendment offered by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind. It would permit busing within downtown city school districts or within suburban districts. It would permit busing between city and suburbs provided both districts involved had practiced discrimination in the past. Interdistrict busing such as proposed in Indianapolis and Detroit would depend on there being a finding of such past discrimination.

An earlier effort by Bayh to substitute his amendment for the Gurney proposal was crushed 84-9.

Also defeated was a so-called "freedom of choice" amendment by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C. The vote was 55-38.

New attempts at writing stronger anti-busing legislation into the bill were expected before final passage of the education measure next Tuesday.

Unless the Senate reverses itself, legislation dealing with the highly-volatile busing issue will have to be worked out by Senate-House negotiators. The Gurney amendment already has been passed by the House.

The Senate debated anti-busing legislation from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. and the debate was almost exclusively centered on the Gurney amendment.

"I think Americans are sick and tired of being used as social guinea pigs," Gurney said. "To treat students as pools of racial resources to cure racial imbalance is repugnant and is certainly not required under the 14th Amendment."

But Sen. Clairborne Pell, D-R.I., said the amendment would "turn the clock back" and lead to new "friction and hostility."

Poll Reports Public Baffled About Prop. 9

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Poll said today that the public is still baffled by Proposition 9, the complicated proposal aimed at reforming the state's campaign spending and lobbyists.

The poll said that only 31 per cent of those questioned felt they knew enough to venture an opinion. Of that 31 per cent, 24 per cent felt they would vote to support the measure and 7 per cent were opposed.

In April, the poll found that 77 per cent had not formed an opinion.

Proposition 9 is designed to place controls on campaign of candidates, public officials and legislative lobbyists. One factor confusing the voting public has been that political figures within both parties have come out on both sides of the question of its merits.

Energy Chief Sees Easing Of Arab Oil Restrictions

By STAN BENJAMIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Energy chief John C. Sawhill says the United States has indications that Arab nations will increase their oil production, allowing this country to import all the Arab oil it can use.

Sawhill said in an interview this was a favorable development but does not completely remove U.S. energy problems, because a refinery shortage and the threat of a new Arab oil embargo would persist.

He said the steep oil-price increases imposed by the Arabs last winter would cost the United States some $12 billion to $14 billion this year. But he forecast that the foreign oil prices would begin to drop within the next few months.

Sawhill also has been designated to head the Federal Energy Agency, recently authorized to replace FEO, and is awaiting Senate confirmation.

Q. Do you have any indication the Arabs will increase their oil production and let us have adequate supplies for the next couple of years, or do we face a tight situation indefinitely?

A. We had a team in the Middle East for the past two weeks. They came back optimistic that we would see increased production.

Q. Does that mean primarily Saudi Arabia?

A. Well, not only Saudi Arabia. I think the team just felt that, in general, we would see higher production over the next few years from these countries because they feel they have an obligation to expand production, and they are anxious to fulfill that obligation.

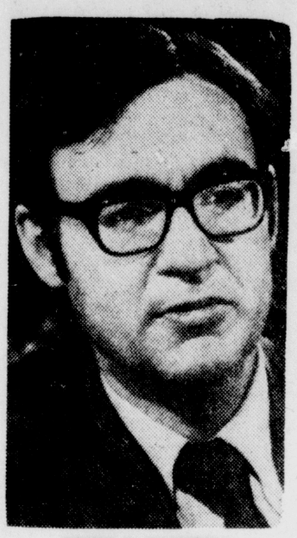
Q. Does this mean we would expect no recurrence of oil shortages here for the foreseeable future?

A. I don't think we can say no recurrence of shortages, because we still have a shortage of refinery capacity in this country.

And, while today we are optimistic about increases in production, I don't think we can neeessarily count on those increases in production . . . We've got to get ourselves in a position where we are less dependent on it.

Q. Have you reached any conclusion about how dependent we can afford to be.

A. No. Some have argued that we should be dependent for



JOHN C. SAWHILL

no more than 15 per cent of our total petroleum consumption. I think that figure might be a little bit low . . .

Q. Once such a level is decided, will it require an import quota or tariff to maintain that limit?

A. That's one of the things we are working on right now . . . I would be very reluctant to see a reimposition of a quota system. The quota system built up a lot of vested interest in maintaining that system and freezing the quotas at certain levels, and removed a lot of the flexibility that we could get if we had, for example, a variable fee system.

Q. What do you mean by a variable fee system?

A. As the import price gets lower, the fee on imported oil would increase so that the cost of the imports to this country would remain about the same.

Q. Where would the fee go — to the U.S. Treasury?

A. Yes.

Q. Is there a hazard of foreign oil producers cutting their prices to undermine U.S. development of alternative energy sources.

A. Well, that's a possibility, but again I think something like a variable fee system could help there. The other alternative would be, as suggested by Commerce Secretary Frederick Dent, to guarantee the prices of at least a certain portion of the output of these alternative energy sources.

Q. What about the balance of payments problem caused by Arab oil-price increases?

A. It is serious. Until we see lower prices, the United States, and especially the developing nations, are going to have balance of payments difficulties.

On the other hand, I think we are going to see some downward movement over the next few months as the supply and demand forces begin to work in the world marketplace.

The higher prices have already begun to result in significantly lower consumption, not only in Europe but in the United States.

Q. How large an impact will the recent higher oil prices have on the U.S. balance of payments?

A. We have said it could be as much as $12 billion to $14 billion in 1974 for increased oil payments over 1973. It will, in effect, wipe out the balance of trade surplus that we had in 1973.

Q. What is the consequence of that — more inflation?

A. It could have an inflationary impact, yes. What it will mean is that we will either have to find ways of exporting more American goods abroad or reducing our imports in other areas.

Q. What are the major elements of your long-range planning?

A. Well, certainly in the immediate future we are going to have to focus on energy conservation, because it is going to be hard to increase our supplies quickly . . . I think we ought to try to reduce the rate of energy growth in this country from the 4.5 to 5 per cent it has been running to something like 3 per cent.

Q. How fast can that be done?

A. I think we ought to be able to do it in a two-or three-year period. Much of the reduction we're talking about is in industrial processes . . . things like recirculating hot water, insulating pipes more effectively . . .

Also, I think we're going to see more energy-efficient cars come on the market.

Q. Do you favor legislation to require better gasoline mileage?

A. Before I come to a conclusion on that, I want to meet with the auto industry and see what kind of goals they are willing to set for themselves, and I do plan to do that this summer.

Transit Firm Can Hike Fares

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The state Public Utilities Commission yesterday authorized Northgate Transit Co. of San Mateo County to increase its fares.

The basic fare will be 30 cents, instead of 25 cents, and the fare for students will be 20 cents, instead of 15 cents.

Northgate operates in Daly City, Colma, South San Francisco, Pacifica, San Bruno and parts of San Francisco.

The firm cited higher operating costs.

STANFORD (UPI) — Stanford University announced today it has received a pledge of $1.15 million from Standard Oil Company of California, to be donated over the next five years.

Disney Productions Is Ready To Build Dream

The announcement came last night in Philadelphia from E. Cardon Walker, president and chief operating officer of WDP. He made the announcement after accepting an award from the American Marketing Association.

The community, envisioned by the late Walt Disney when he planned Walt Disney World near Orlando, is called an "Experimental Prototype Community of Tomorrow (EPCOT)." It will be designed to house and serve people in the most advanced designs that can be assembled.

Walker described it as a "community of tomorrrow that will never be completed, bat will always be introducing the testing and demonstrating new materials and new systems.

"EPCOT will always be a showcase to the world of the ingenuity and imagination of the American free enterprise system," he said.

Because the corporation is two years ahead of schedule in completing the recreational magic kingdom theme park here, with completion of the Tomorrowland area by the end of 1975, Walker said, Disney productions can now go ahead with final planning of EPCOT.

He said Disney executives will soon begin to confer with leading businessmen, industrialists, scientists and artists and begin organizing research teams to attack the problems involved. The job will be more than one company can handle, he said.

The first project will be to construct an international showcase for nations of the world to show their culture and products. Next will be an American industry showcase followed by first elements of the low and high density housing areas which Disney envisioned.

Plastic Balls Cut Evaporation Loss

FREEPORT, Tex. (AP) — Hollow plastic balls, not much bigger than ping pong balls, are used at a chemical complex of the Dow Chemical Co. here to reduce heat loss and save energy. Hundreds of the plastic balls are allowed to float on the surface of previously uncovered collection tanks where they insulate heated liquids.

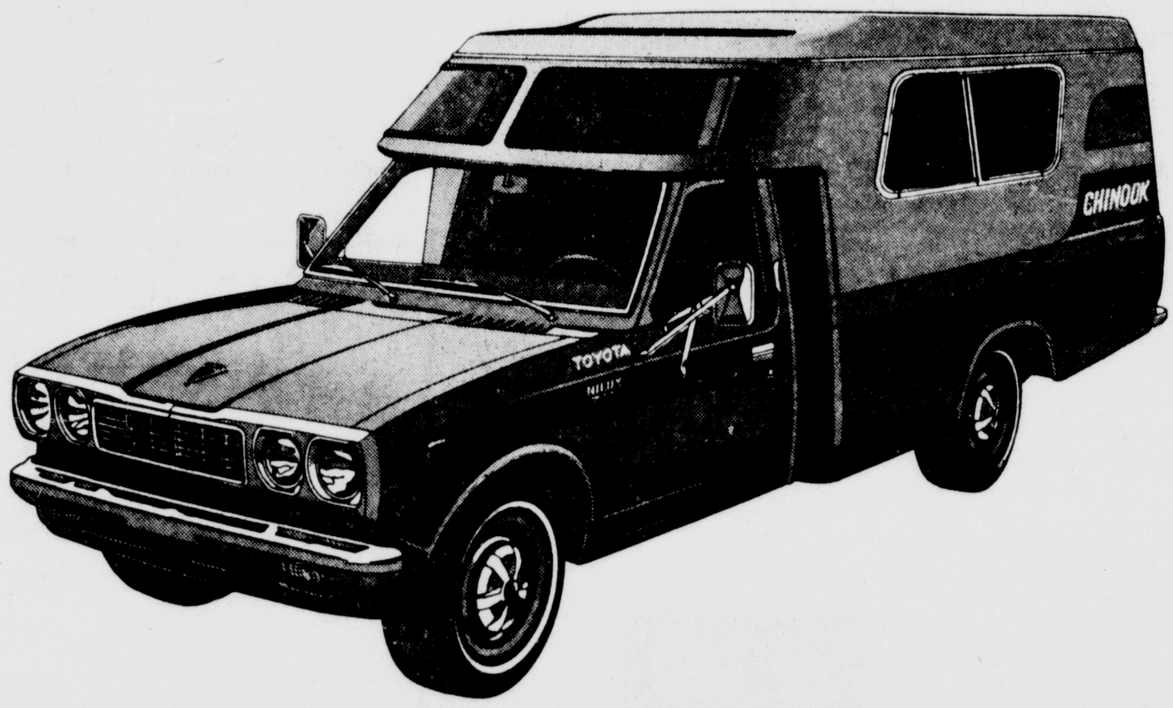
Now you can go to Santa Cruz or the Russian River or Clear Lake and get back again.

On one tank of gas.*

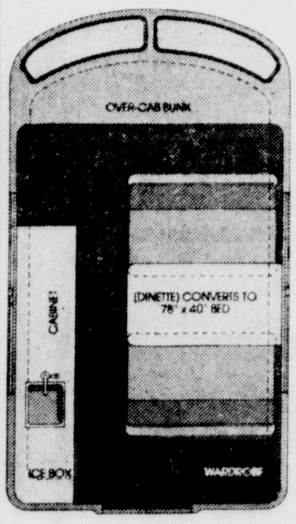


Introducing the Toyota-Chinook Round Tripper.

It takes you just about anywhere within a 120 mile radius and back again! On one 13.7 gal. tank of gas.

That's something you wouldn't expect from a bigger camping vehicle. But this one gets over 19 miles per gallon! (Tests, verified by an independent testing laboratory, were conducted over mountain roads, city streets and freeways in Southern California.)

Yet, you still get the basics you expect in the bigger vehicles. Like a sink. A dinette. An ice box. Carpeting. And a couple of beds.



*Distances were measured, according to the AAA, from city hall to city hall by the most direct route. Actual gas mileage, of course, depends on personal driving habits and road conditions.

It's fully integrated, too. Just walk back through the cab and pop up the top for over six feet of headroom.

The Long Bed 2000 Half-Ton truck, the solid foundation the Round Tripper is built on, was chosen "1974 Pickup Truck of the Year" by Pickup, Van and 4-Wheel Drive magazine. Its bed is almost a foot longer than any other truck in its class. You get a powerful 1968cc engine, standard. A 4-speed transmission. Biggest tires in its class. Big cab (4 inches more legroom than last year). And much more.

HE'S OFF — and hasn't returned. A young homing pigeon is released by pigeon fancier Charlie Tweedle of San Rafael carrying half the answer to the FYT School children's riddle in its leg capsule from the Mill Valley school. The flight plan was to return to the San Rafael FYT School, but the bird hasn't made it home yet from its maiden flight eight days ago. Instead, the children have spotted the bird flying around the Mill Valley area. Children from left are Rachel Mayeri, Jon Woodmansee, and Kristi Siegel.

Pigeon Pupils Keeping Sharp Eye On The Sky

By BARBARA HOSMER

If you see a young pigeon flying around the Marin skies carrying half of the answer to a riddle, don't be surprised.

"One of them is still out," said Jaki Albright, director of the Formative Years Training Schools in San Rafael and Mill Valley.

The whole thing came about last fall when each school acquired two pairs of homing pigeons and the idea was to train them to fly messages written by the young school children back and forth between the schools as a reading and writing project.

But with the rainy weather and the Mill Valley school's pigeons attracting mice, the program has worked out a bit differently.

First, the birds have multiplied — there were soon eight at one school and 10 at the other, said Mrs. Albright. And some of the adult birds went home to Marin City to the man who sold the school the birds. Training with the wet weather and the many young offspring has been another problem. "We waited for warm weather," Mrs. Albright said.

"Then we had too many birds. We have had to give some away," the director explained.

"We've had birds flying all over."

LAST THURSDAY the director took two young birds from San Rafael to Mill Valley and one adult pigeon from Mill Valley to San Rafael and turned them loose with the children's riddle in the message capsules attached to their legs. They contained two parts of the children's riddle, "Why does the bird sit on the telephone wire? So he can make a long distance call." The children are at the age when they love to make up riddles, the director added.

Well, the adult bird made it to Mill Valley all right and one other came in the next day, but one of the young ones is still out there. "If anybody finds it, the message won't make sense because it is half of the riddle answer.

"The children write so large that we have to cut the paper in half and carry them in two birds," Jaki Albright explained.

"The children still see the young bird flying around and he comes to eat, but hasn't really returned," she said. It is his first message flight.

Tomorrow some of the San Rafael children will take an excursion to Samuel P. Taylor Park and let loose an adult bird with another message. The hope is that it will arrive back at the San Rafael school within three hours so the little children still there can have the fun of getting a message.

One of the San Rafael birds released in Mill Valley in a prior homing experiment brought a message back from the Southern Marin children about a field trip they took, so San Rafael children wanted to go on one, too, the director explained.

THEY WILL be taking one of their best flyers to Taylor Park, "so he should make it back," Mrs. Albright said hopefully.

In the past months the children have had the experience of seeing the eggs in the nests turn into young pigeons. "They grow so fast. They look like little rubber dinosaurs without feathers, then in two weeks they look like small adult birds but are still waiting in the nest to be fed," Jaki Albright said.

San Rafael homing pigeon authority Charlie Tweedle has come to the schools to tell the children about the birds' growth and training.

"It's mainly the fun of the children having the bird come," said the director.

A scheduled air service, it isn't.

And if anyone should find the missing bird, the message won't make any sense, Mrs. Albright repeated with a laugh. The riddle answer is still "blowin' in the wind."

Marin Women

Marianne Koford Wed To David M. Jewhurst

Hamilton Air Force Base Chapel was the setting for the wedding of Marianne Louise Koford and David Michael Jewhurst at noon, Saturday. The ceremony was a combination of Danish and American customs.

Marianne is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Norman S. Clark of Novato, and David is the son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. John Jewhurst of Hamilton.

Mrs. William Lang of San Francisco was matron of honor for the bride, and bridesmaids were Marcia and Sue Jewhurst of Hamilton, sisters of the bridegroom, and Anna Marie Loy and Loretta Loy of Novato.

John H. Jewhurst III of Hamilton, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and ushers were Jaffe Le Tourneau, of Seattle, James Mackey of Hollywood and Joel Koford Jr. and Robert Koford of Novato, brothers of the bride.

Following a reception at the bride's parents' home, the couple went on a wedding trip to Hawaii. They will live in Phoenix, Ariz.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School. She is also the sister of Michael Clark of Novato and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Clark of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. S. Verner Jensen of Denmark.

The bridegroom was graduated from Sylvania High School in Ohio and Big Bend Community College in Washington. He also attended Central Washington State College. He is the grandson of John Hunter Jewhurst of New York.

Mary Elizabeth Clarke Engagement Announced

Mrs. Charles Cushing Clarke of Kentfield has announced the engagement of her daughter, Mary Elizabeth Clarke, to Thomas Case Ver Hoef of Long Beach.

The couple plan to be married June 22.

Mary is a graduate of the Katharine Branson School and the University of California at Santa Cruz. She is employed in San Francisco by Dinkelspiel and Dinkelspiel law firm. The sister of John Kimball Clarke of Princeton, N.J., she is the granddaughter of Mrs. John V. Slaninka of Bellingham, Wash.

Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Ver Hoef of Long Beach and the brother of James Walker Ver Hoef of San Francisco.

He is a graduate of Lakewood High School and U.C. at Santa Cruz and has been employed in San Francisco.

After their marriage the couple will attend the University of Oregon, where Mary will study law and Thomas will begin preveterinary studies.

Presbyterian Women Elect Margaret Pitts President

The United Presbyterian Women of Westminster Presbyterian Church in Tiburon has elected Margaret Grace Pitts president.

Mrs. Malcolm Pitts, who has lived in Tiburon for two years and been a member of the UPW for a year, has served on the church Board of Deacons, and as a member of the Outreach Church and Society Commission.

She sees the purpose of the organization as "to support the mission of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States; to help one another grow in faith and understanding, and to act with Christian concern for all people."

The activities of the church women include monthly meetings of two circles for social and spiritual purposes; three luncheons a year with programs; sponsoring a yearly church dinner; supplying two board members and assisting with the staffing of the Village Salvage Shop in Tiburon, and assisting with mission work by packaging and mailing goods collected by church members.

"Any woman who is a member or friend of the church is eligible for membership," Mrs. Pitts said.

Mrs. Pitts is also active with the Marin Suicide Prevention program, and the Marin Interagency Committee on Child Abuse.

She was born in Phoenix, Ariz., and received the bachelor of arts degree in philosophy from the University of Arizona at Tucson, and the master of social work degree from Portland State University in Portland, Ore.

Malcolm Pitts is an account executive with an advertising firm. They have two children, Amanda Joan, 4, and Michael Robert, 2. Mrs. Pitts enjoys reading, working with people and cooking.

Other new officers are Mmes. Harry S. Winblad, vice president and Salvage Shop representative; James Ballard, secretary and circle chairman; Paul Steward, treasurer; Marvin Denekas, circle chairman; L. W. Orr, representative to the San Francisco Theological Seminary Auxiliary.

"A SPRING Fling" will be held by the American Little League and the Little League Auxiliary Saturday at Herzog Hall in Petaluma.

The evening will begin with cocktails at 8 p.m., followed by dancing. A breakfast will be served at 1 a.m.

"IMPRESSIONS OF South America" will be presented tomorrow at the Couples Section of the Novato Branch of American Association of University Women meeting by Mr. and Mrs. Grant Morse at 8 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Palmer in Novato.

The Morses will recount their recent trip which included cattle ranches on the Pampas in Argentina and in Brazil.

Shelley Lynn Wallace To Be Married

The engagement of Shelley Lynn Wallace and Michael Wayne Carty has been announced by the future bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Wallace of San Rafael.

Shelley is the sister of Steven Wallace of Santa Rosa and Duane Wallace of San Rafael. Althea Hampton of San Rafael is her grandmother. She is a graduate of Terra Linda High School and is employed by the Retail Clerks Union in San Rafael.

Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Carty of Castlewood, Va. He is the brother of Billy, Tom, Brenda and Judy Carty and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Carty and Thomas Robinson, all of Castlewood. The future bridegroom was graduated from Thomas Dale High School in Chester, Va., and attended Emory and Henry College in Emory, Va. He is in the Navy, stationed at Pearl Harbor in Hawaii.

Court St. Agnes One Host For State Convention

Court St. Agnes 1428, Catholic Daughters of America, has been selected as one of six courts in the state to host the California State Catholic Daughters convention, according to Alfreda Schunk of Fairfax.

The convention will be held May 22 through 26 at the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco.

Members of Court St. Agnes will host the awards banquet the Friday evening of the convention. Committee members are Mrs. Schunk and Mrs. Edmond Bruschini of Fairfax and Margaret Holland of San Anselmo.

Marin City Girl Wins Scholarship

Gloria Dickens of Marin City, a student at Idaho State University in Pocatello, received an award from Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity, Epsilon Theta Chapter at the university, at a scholarship award night.

She was honored for her "active concern" during a scholarship fund raising effort. Members of her sorority, Delta Sigma Theta, Lambda Delta chapter, and the fraternity raised $300 for a scholarship to be presented to a student in financial need.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

At 16, She's Madly In Love And Wants To Speed Things Up

RAP:

I am 16 and madly in love with a guy who thinks of me only as a friend.

Last time I wanted a guy to love me, I ended up slashing my wrists because I couldn't wait until he came around. He never did anyway.

I get depressed easily and don't know how long it will be before I'm desperate again.

I don't need a shrink. I just need love. How can I speed things up? — E.M.

E.:

If you get so desperate you try suicide — just because you "can't speed things up" — you may need a shrink more than you think.

Talk to a counselor about these desperate moods. — SUE

DEAR E.:

The surest way to "slow things down" is —desperation. Few boys will take a chance on a girl who needs love so badly she'd die for it.

Settle for friendship until you understand yourself more thoroughly. — HELEN

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

Can you beat this? My sister who has always resented me, is crazy-jealous because I'm having a baby. Last night she screamed I only did it to make Mom feel sorry for me, and get her consent for marriage.

Everything I have, she wants, including my guy. Mom signed the papers for me, so there'll be a wedding, and my sister is trying her meanest to break it off.

She even told my fiance the baby isn't his, but she could have a baby for him anytime he said the word.

I'm afraid that just to spite me, she'll turn up pregnant. She told me last night that if she does, she'll swear the father is my guy.

So far, both of us are trying to ignore her, but when she's chasing him, and trying to persuade me she's already got him, it's hard. To top it off, Mom wants her to be maid of honor at our small wedding, planned for late June.

What do you suggest? — SISTERLY HATED

DEAR S.H.:

We'd suggest a smaller, sooner wedding, like about next week, with only your parents attending. Scratch the maid of honor — you don't need one who schemes to edge you out of the running. — HELEN AND SUE

RAP:

My mother hates my best girl friend: first because she was "wild," and now because she's "too changeable."

See, my girl friend wasn't ever rotten, but she took chances, so Mom figured she was a bad influence. Then my friend became a Christian, and Mom now says she's a Jesus freak, and "one extreme is as bad as the other." She's not extreme!

Would you please say something to mothers about letting children choose their own friends? — JENNY, AGE 17

DEAR MOTHER OF JENNY:

Your girl will face bad and good influences all her life. Your job is to teach her the difference between them, not seal her off from all "contamination." — HELEN

DEAR MOTHER OF J.:

Since when is Christianity a "bad influence"?

Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

Hamilton Chapel Is Wedding Site

The Chapel at Hamilton Air Force Base was the setting for the marriage of Lee Ann Hamilton of San Rafael and William F. McMeans of Akron, Mich., on May 5.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hamilton of San Rafael, Lee was attended by her sister, Jonnie Pierce of Novato, as honor attendant. Janine Gerard of San Rafael was the bridesmaid.

Ronald Bostick of Alameda was the best man, and the ushers were William Pierce of Novato, Dave Somers of Akron, and Jim Hamilton of San Rafael, brother of the bride.

The newlyweds will live in Corte Madera after a month wedding trip to the Midwest and Michigan.

Lee is a Terra Linda High School graduate and has been employed by Geico in San Francisco. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Anita Bishop of Napa.

William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McMeans of Akron, and the brother of Mrs. Margaret Plain of Akron, Jerry McMeans of Ypsilanti, Mich., and John McMeans of Lansing, Mich.

Nancy Jean Redding Is Married To John Vargo In Mission Rites

Mission San Rafael Arcangel in San Rafael was the setting for the nuptials of Nancy Jean Redding and Tippie John Vargo of San Francisco on May 4.

The bridegroom's cousin Michael Conner of Petaluma served as best man. The bride's brother, Robert Redding of Park City, Utah, was the usher.

The reception was given at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. The couple left on a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe and Park City. They will reside in Laurel, Md., where the bridegroom is a civilian employee of the Army at Fort Meade, Md.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren F. Redding of San Rafael, Nancy was graduated from Marin Catholic High School, the College of Marin and the University of Nevada at Reno. She has been a civilian employee at the Presidio in San Francisco. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Helen Ring of San Rafael.

Newlyweds Will Live In Novato

Janis Moschetti and Paul Pellegrini, both of Novato, were married at Our Lady of Loretto church in Novato on May 5.

Janis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Moschetti of Novato, and Paul is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pellegrini of San Rafael.

Maid of honor was Marcy Moschetti, the bride's sister. Bridesmaids were Cindy Tornai and Jo Anne Hunter of Novato, and Launa Beuhler and Michele Benjamin of Mill Valley.

Tom Solari of San Rafael was best man, and ushers were Bob Nave of Terra Linda, Bob Mariani of Kentfield and Ed Mestre and Biff Buchignani.

The wedding reception was held at the Marin Country Club. The couple went on a wedding trip to Yosemite National Park. They will live in Novato.

The bride was graduated from Tamalpais High School and College of Marin. She is employed at the dental office of Dr. Frederick A. Zulch in Greenbrae.

She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Martina Moschetti of Eureka and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Tobias of Huntington, Ind.

The bridegroom was graduated from Terra Linda High School and is attending College of Marin. He is the brother of Toni and Terry Pellegrini and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Milani of San Rafael.

Prepare Summer Meals In Advance

With springtime yard activity, hurried schedules of school activities, end of year school functions and the start of summer sports, it's hard to get the whole family to sit down for a leisurely meal.

One good way to beat the spring scurry is to fix the meal ahead of time so that it can be served almost at a moment's notice.

'Puppet Prince' To Be Presented

"The Puppet Prince," a fantasy play for children, will be presented Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at Tomales High School by the Actors' Theater for Children.

The actor's theater was established in 1971 to bring live theater to Sonoma County youngsters. It is the only community children's theater company in Sonoma and is the recipient of a California Arts Commission Grant Award.

The play, with a cast of eight, follows a formula developed in a 1973 survey of 475 school children that called for a story with "... funny people, lots of chases... no singing, lots of action rather than talk... with a happy ending."

Spruce Up Sale At Salvage Shop

The Tiburon Salvage Shop will have a spring spruce up sale Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Merchandise will be displayed for sale outside the store at the Tiburon Boulevard entrance to Hilarita.

At the same time volunteers will be holding a "paint in," giving a green, yellow and white front to the shop, as part of a refurbishing project, according to Mrs. Caroline Maskell, president of the salvage shop board of directors.

The shop started in 1952 to raise funds for the Reed School District and St. Stephen's, St. Hilary's, Community Congregational and Westminster Presbyterian Churches. More than $150,000 has been raised through the sale of recycled household goods and clothing.

Older Woman's Scholarship

The Faculty Wives' and Women's Club at Sonoma State College is offering a $500 scholarship for a Sonoma County woman 25 years old or older.

Applications are open to women who are planning to attend Sonoma State in the fall. Applicants must send two letters of recommendation, transcripts of previous college work and a biographical statement including reasons for wanting and needing the scholarship to Susan Ziblatt, 3560 Acreage Lane, Sebastopol, 95472.

Applications, which are due by June 30, must also include a Student's Financial Statement, available in the college Financial Aid Office.

Preference will be given to a student who is not already enrolled at the college.

"Many women, after entering the labor market or marrying, are prevented from returning to school because of financial constraints or a feeling that their previous decision was irrevocable. We hope that this scholarship will encourage women to return to school if they desire to," said a club spokesman.

Taking Mystery Out Of America

By LUCIA MOUAT
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — To a foreigner, suddenly having to adapt to the American way of life can be a bewildering experience.

For one thing, there is all that confusing kitchen gadgetry to be mastered. For another, there is the mundane matter of knowing when to put out the garbage. And how do you go about finding a baby-sitter when you speak only Japanese or Portuguese?

A volunteer organization in Washington called The Hospitality and Information Service (THIS) positively thrives on such queries. Indeed, its willingness to dabble with the nitty-gritty adjustment problems faced by the 2,000 diplomatic families living here is one reason it has proved so enduring over the years.

Sponsored by wives of presidential Cabinet members and manned by some 300 screened volunteers, THIS involves itself in everything from Mardi Gras balls and family picnics to seminars on the women's movement and English conversation classes. The thick monthly calendar of activities is such that it is sometimes a toss-up as to whether the diplomats or the volunteers are having more fun.

It all started back in 1961 when then Chief of Protocol Angier Biddle Duke made the suggestion. He was concerned that diplomats often stayed several years in Washington without making informal contracts and really getting to know the area.

"The town was filled with people looking for housing and shopping information," recalls Lillian Owen, cofounder whose basement provided the group with its first meeting place. "We filled a need at the time and, like Topsy, we just grew."

Once the visiting committee of this highly organized group learns that a new diplomatic family has arrived in town, it telephones to set up an appointment. In addition to answering personal questions, the caller turns over to the newcomer a hefty welcome kit listing everything from potential baby-sitters and hospitals to Washington art galleries and an explanation of the American electoral system.

One enclosure, usually of lasting use, is a little blue paperback titled "The Kitchen" which explains such taken-for-granted U.S. cookbook terms as "par" and "pit," converts U.S. measurements into their metric equivalents, and includes a graphic map translation in French and Spanish of various beef and pork cuts in place on the cow or pig.

Each new family — and there are 500 to 600 a year, with the rush falling in the summertime — is invited to an "Introduction to Washington" reception held monthly at Meridian House, a handsome French-style home of a former U.S. ambassador to Spain and headquarters of several international groups in Washington.

There, amid potted chrysanthemums in an elegant museum-like setting, the visitors pass through a receiving line of Cabinet wives and are free to visit the roughly 20 informational booths representing various THIS committees.

A newcomer can sign up for anything from a needlework class to supper in an American home. For the children, there are ice skating, pizza parties, and dances. Cooking classes include a demonstration, often complete with a view of the ingredients still in the box or can, and a full sampling.

"Differing customs don't always allow everyone to eat everything, but they're definitely interested in learning about American cooking," says Jennifer Johnston, chairman of the cooking committee.

The organization's financial support comes largely from the Meridian House Foundation. However, the group sponsors fund-raising events and the volunteers pay an annual membership fee themselves for the privilege of serving. All volunteers are screened for committee work by Mrs. Byron White, wife of the Supreme Court Justice, and the talent bank is considerable.

"With a little noitce we can rustle up an interpreter in almost any language," comments Mrs. John Carter Good, the group's treasurer. "There's one obscure African dialect we haven't been able to find anyone for... but mainly what we're interested in is warm, outgoing people."

Washington's diplomatic community clearly appears to have gotten that message.

"I've met people through THIS who have become real friends," says Mrs. Henry Armstrong, wife of a Canadian diplomat. She explains that often a diplomat's only other contacts are cocktail receptions where the talk is polite but rarely leads to genuine friendship. "I'm an enthusiastic supporter — THIS fills a need that is not met in many other capital cities."

Three Injured In Golden Gate Bridge Collision

A Tiburon pediatrician, her sister-in-law and grandniece were injured yesterday in a two-car collision on the Golden Gate Bridge.

Dr. Hulda E. (Jo) Thelander, 78, of 40 Seafirth Place, was reported in fair, stable condition today at Children's Hospital in San Francisco with injuries suffered in the crash.

Her sister-in-law, Thelma Thelander, 72, of Long Beach, was also reported in fair condition at the hospital.

Dr. Thelander's grandniece, Elizabeth Bextaso, 19, of Livonia, Mich., received a broken vertebra in the accident and was reported in fair condition at Mission Emergency Hospital in San Francisco.

The Highway Patrol had no details of the 11:30 a.m. accident which involved cars driven by Dr. Thelander and Kathleen A. Phillips, 21, of San Francisco.

Leftists Free Army Colonel

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Lefist guerrillas yesterday released unharmed an Argentine army colonel kidnaped more than six months ago.

"He is well and is in his house," said army spokesman Lt. Col. Carlos Menviel.

His wife had repeatedly said his health was in danger and that he needed constant medical treatoent as a followup to an operation he had last year.

Suit Asks A Full Probe Into Black Boy's Death

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A federal Civil Rights suit was filed yesterday to force an investigation into the death of Tyrone Guyton, 14-year-old Emeryville boy killed by police last November.

An organization called the committee for Justice for Tyrone Guyton asked the U.S. district court to order Alameda County District Attorney Lowell Jensen to "vigorously prosecute" criminal charges against three Emeryville policemen involved in the fatal shooting.

It also asked that the Alameda County Grand Jury be ordered to return criminal indictments against the three and that the City of Emeryville be ordered to take "appropriate disciplinary action" against them.

The court was also asked to appoint a special prosecutor to oversee the case and see that the court orders were carried out.

The black youth was shot to death on Nov. 1, 1973, and the suit alleged that two subsequent presentations to the grand jury were made "in bad faith, presenting the case incompletely and without appropriate prosecution vigor." The grand jury twice failed to return indictments.

The complaint also said the killing of Gutyon was "arbitrary, capricious and done with discriminatory intent, based on the fact that Tyrone Guyton was black and his killers were white police officers."

Students Learn To Think International

By MARY LEYDECKER

Nigeria's permanent representative to the United Nations pushed back a lock of her dark hair, smiled and said, "the first year you have to get your feet wet."

Nineteen-year-old Bobbie Jacobs, a sophomore at Dominican College, isn't really the ambassador from Nigeria, but after playing the role at the annual Model United Nations in Portland last month, she has learned "to think Nigerian."

The big conference, held each year for colleges and universities in the west, this year attracted 72 delegations to Portland.

The frustrations of trying to get resolutions through committees and finally the General Assembly were recounted by some of the 11-member delegation, most of whom attended for the first time.

Miss Jacobs said that the first year at the Model U.N. was apt to be especially frustrating because of lack of experience with the realistic international politicking, modeled on that of the real U.N.

Most college delegations, she said, work hard at representing the viewpoint of the country they represent. James Boitano, instructor for the Dominican group, said that without the real economic pressures that real countries can bring to bear, the students depend more on parliamentary procedures to accomplish their ends.

In order to "think Nigerian," the delegation spent weeks studying the country, preparing to deal with such diverse issues as apartheid, Portuguese colonies and the territorial limits of countries in the world's oceans and seas.

BOBBIE JACOBS

DOUG VAN AMAN
Next year's representative

"You have to really know your country and then just use your own tuition," one young delegate said.

(Boitano said that two years ago Dominican was assigned Sierra Leone as its country, and that researching the small nation was difficult "with the limitations of a small college library.")

Nigeria, however, was considered much more of a plum, since it is a leader among the African countries.

In addition to enjoying representing Nigeria, the Dominican students noticed that "things start happening in the world" each year during the annual conference.

This year, Miss Jacobs said, the government of Niger (Nigeria's northern neighbor) was overthrown. She added that it would have been most interesting to have been involved in the conference when the Portuguese government was overthrown, shortly after the students returned home, because so much discussion about the Portuguese colonies took place.

Most of the delegation related their experiences, the subjects with which they dealt and the resolutions they sponsored in polite classroom voices.

One student, however, Katie Buxton, 20, in describing her committee's discussion of West South Africa, ended with a frustrated, "the things they do to those people!"

All the students agreed that the hours of work they put into getting ready for the U.N. conference bring them a greater awareness of current events plus a "new view of your own country."

Plans are already under way for next year's U.N. conference, with 20-year-old Doug Van Aman of San Rafael, a junior political science major, named as the ambassador for a as-yet-unnamed country.

"We're starting right now," Van Aman said, to raise the money for a delegation to travel to Anaheim next spring.

The students hope to interest various local civic groups, banks and businesses in contributing. The young people figure they need about $800 for transportation alone.

Hill Hits Public Employee Strikes

A. Alan Hill of San Rafael, candidate for the Republican nomination in the Ninth Assembly District, has urged that strikes by public employees be prohibited by state law.

"Public employment is a trust, with protection from dismissal provided to those employees," he declared.

Calling for an antistrike law tough enough to work, Hill said current law should be changed to provide "an absolute prohibition on strikes by public employees," penalties against the leaders of employee organizations that strike, financial liability for the membership of striking employee organizations for damage to the public resulting from a strike, and denial of dues deduction from paychecks and other privileges granted employee organizations if they advocate illegal activities.

Hill said he was "totally opposed" to AB 1243, by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, a measure pending in Sacramento to make strikes by public employees legal. "It is a fuzzy-headed attempt to impose private sector collective bargaining on public employment," Hill said.

"Employee relations in the private sector are an entirely different field," he said, adding: "They do not fit with public employment."

A coffee for Hill will be at 8 p.m. May 24 at the Cotati home of Lucien G. Libarle, 705 West Railroad Avenue. The event originally was scheduled for today.

SILVESTRI — George J. Silvestri Jr. of Novato, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Ninth Assembly District, has called for elimination of the sales tax and suggested it be replaced with increased personal and corporate income taxes. "As well as being more equitable," he said, "this will have positive land use planning effects by removing the false incentive of sales tax revenues as a justification for commercial development."

FARLATTI — Ben A. Farlatti of Tiburon, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 5 seat, has criticized district directors for increasing water rates. The district's "margin of profit was substantial" under the old rates, he said, arguing the rates should be cut instead. If more money were needed, economy measures should have been ordered instead, Farlatti said. Citing the 15 per cent rate hike which will go into effect July 1, he said "the customer will pay more, yet there will be no increase or improvement in services."

MEYER — Peter C. Meyer of San Rafael, candidate for Marin County clerk, has promised that, if elected, he will work to assure protection of county workers in plans for future automation of government services. "Once the machine has eliminated old established human services it may be too late to rescue the worker," he said.

A coffee for Meyer will be at 8 p.m. Monday at the San Anselmo home of Joseph Spanier, 27 Indian Rock Court.

CONNICK — Harry A. Connick of San Rafael, candidate for Marin County district attorney, has proposed creation of a county youth commissioner to "the consolidate and unify all of the governmental and divid organizations working with children." The commissioner, he said, "would have the responsibility of establishing hobby, work, and recreational programs to keep children actively engaged in projects that would benefit their minds and bodies."

SMITH — A wine and cheese party for Dr. Darrell F. Smith of Kentfield, candidate for Tamalpais High School District trustee, will be held at 4 p.m. Sunday at the Mill Valley home of Lee Sherry Smith, 221 Lovell Avenue.

ROBERTSON — Conie R. Robertson of Weaverville, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, has said the 17 other hopefuls for the nomination are more interested in the welfare of big business or special interest groups than of ordinary working people. "I feel it's time we had someone in office that is more interested in the citizens of the state than anything else," he added. Robertson is state forest ranger in charge of the Weaverville Ranger District in Trinity County.

MASTRANGELO — Tally P. Mastrangelo of Sausalito, candidate for the Republican nomination in the Board of Equalization's Third District, has named Philip T. Smith of Mill Valley as his finance chairman and chairman of his campaign committee. H. Lyman Emerson, also of Mill Valley, was named secretary and vice chairman of the committee.

Magee Seeks To Move Trial To Los Angeles

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Convict Ruchell Magee, a survivor of the 1970 Marin Hall of Justice shoot-out which left four dead, is attempting to have his trial moved to Los Angeles.

Magee, charged with aggravated kidnap, said yesterday in a petition that he could not receive a fair trial in any state court in the San Francisco Bay Area. The petition asked for a trial in U.S. District Court.

Last Friday in Santa Clara County Superior Court he pleaded guilty of aggravated assault but asked on Monday to change that plea to innocent.

Superior Court Judge William A. Ingram delayed at least until tomorrow Magee's request to change the plea.

Court sources in Los Angeles said it would be "a few days" before a ruling on Magee's petition.

The 33-year-old convict was Angela Davis' codefendant in the murder and kidnaping case stemming from the Aug. 7, 1970 violence in which Judge Harold J. Haley, two convicts and their accomplice died. Miss Davis was acquitted of all charges in a separate trial in 1972.

Two N. Indian Concerts Set

Lakshmi Shankar, a north Indian classical vocalist, will give concerts of classical ragas tomorrow and Sunday in San Rafael.

Sponsored by the Ali Akbar College of Music, the concerts will be at the San Rafael Improvement Club, Fifth Avenue at H Street, at 8 p.m. Friday, and at the Congregation Rodef Sholom, 170 North San Pedro Road at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Shankar will be accompanied by Zakir Hussain on the tabla in each concert.

More Data Wanted On Animal Health Outlay

More data is needed before the Marin County Animal Health and Control Advisory Committee can recommend what to do about the high cost of veterinary care for sick or injured stray animals, the committee decided yesterday.

The board of supervisors on Tuesday asked the committee to review a recommendation from the county administrator's office that the Marin County Humane Society take over all such care, to cut costs. State laws provide that poundmen and peace officers must take all injured or ailing strays to the nearest veterinarian to determine whether the animal should be killed or treated.

If the owner cannot be located, the veterinary bills become a levy against funds from dog license fees. In the fiscal year to end June 30, the cost is estimated to be $23,000 while the county has budgeted only $16,000.

At its monthly meeting yesterday, the animal committee discovered it needs more specific information on how many such cases occur annually, the length of treatment, amount of bills and other factors including how many owners pay the bill if they can be located.

"Practically none," estimated John Gill, humane society executive director. Therefore, many of the animals wind up being killed after the claiming time limit passes. The county foots the bill, out of license fees which also must help support the pound and other animal-related activities.

The humane shelter has no facilities for emergency medical care and cannot provide them unless ordered to do so by the society board of directors, Gill explained Tuesday.

Ben A. Farlatti, vice chairman of the animal committee and a humane society director, said the issue would be taken up by the society board today.

Animal committee members voted unanimously to instruct chairman John E. Zimmerman to ask the supervisors Tuesday for county staff help in obtaining data and evaluating state penal and agricultural code laws.

Hearings On Budget Set By Larkspur

The Larkspur City Council last night scheduled 1974-75 budget hearings and interview sessions with applicants for city commissions.

Budget hearings will be held on June 3 and 17 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. No date was set for a third hearing which will be sent to the council Friday or Saturday.

Applicants for the three vacancies on the design review board will be interviewed Monday at 7:30 p.m. in city hall and applicants for the vacancy on the Park and Recreation Commission will be interviewed May 28 at 7:30 p.m.

Discussion of a request by Marin Sanitary Service to increase collection rates will be held at the June 5 council meeting. The company has asked for a 15 per cent total rate increase for the next three years.

The monthly rate would rise to $3 for one can and $4.85 for two cans in level areas and up to a dollar more in hilly areas.

The Larkspur City Council also:

SALARIES — Adopted unanimously, with councilman Charles H. Corley absent, an ordinance giving councilman $50 for each council meeting attended with a maximum of $150 per month.

MEETING — Met in closed session to discuss litigation over property zoning but made no decision.

LICENSE —Approved unanimously a business license application by Rose Collet, 94 Madrone for a therapeutic massage operation.

ALARM — Approved unanimously the installation of a burglar alarm monitoring system at the police station which would connect with business and private alarm systems.

Marin Groups Are Assured Of Help In Planning For Disasters

All local government agencies in Marin can call on federal and state officials to help them plan what to do in the event of an earthquake — and eventually in other types of disasters, county, city and local district fficials were told yesterday.

Harry Braze, chief of the federal Defense Civil Preparedness Agency Region 7, and Frank Temple, director of the state Office of Emergency Services, outlined plans to help the local agencies dovetail their disaster plans to the Bay Area Earthquake Response Planning project. The help is more in manpower than money.

City representatives from Corte Madera, Mill Valley, San Anselmo and Sausalito; school, water and fire districts and several county departments were among the 50 persons attending the orientation luncheon at Nero's restaurant in Novato.

Braze and Temple said their offices will assign — if requested — state and federal experts to survey the local government jurisdictions, inventory abilities and shortcomings in emergency reaction and help draft response plans.

Frank J. Kirby, county coordinator of emergency services, said the on-site assistance teams will conduct workshops for all local agencies, probably June 6 and June 7. He said each city soon will receive a copy of the massive Bay Area earthquake response plan, with local chapters designed to help the individual agencies.

The federal and state on-site teams, in effect, will supplement work already begun by Kirby's office in assisting local agencies' planning. The assistance plan is helping 500 communities nationwide, many of which have lacked the type of assistance given at the Marin County level in the past two years, Braze noted.

He explained that on-site assistance has nearly completed the planning for San Diego County and the City of San Mateo.

Also at yesterday's luncheon, county officials presented a special commendation to the Marin Amateur Communications Society for its service in last Friday's earthquake disaster training exercise. Volunteer radiomen supplied two-way message capability with 35 points throughout Marin, flew five aircraft and manned a message center at the Marin County Civic Center for the drill.

Woman Reports An Attack Try

A 27-year-old San Rafael woman was the victim of attempted rape at 11:40 p.m. yesterday when a man grabbed her by the neck and threw her to the sidewalk in the 300 block of Bellam Boulevard, San Rafael, but fled when a car approached, San Rafael police reported today.

The man was described as blond, about 20 years old, five feet, six inches tall, of medium build and wearing black jacket and pants and a white shirt.

Two Inmates Stabbed At San Quentin Prison

Two San Quentin inmates — both named Smith — were stabbed yesterday, prison information officer William D. Nyberg said today.

Charles Smith, 45, suffered stab wounds in both lungs and his right arm when attacked with an ice pick-style weapon in the East Block during the afternoon. Nyberg said he is in serious condition in the prison hospital.

Smith is serving 10-to-14-year terms for grand theft and forgery in Monterey County.

The stabbing of Donald H. Smith, 36, in the North Block earlier in the day was reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal. He is in good condition in the prison hospital, Nyberg said.

James Smith, the prison's officer of the day at the time of the second stabbing, reported that there have been 17 stabbings in San Quentin this year, two of them fatal.

Woman Is Bilked Of $3 By Youth

Kisaburo Tsujihara, 117 Novak Drive, reported that a youth about 14 years old, wearing a tan jacket and hat appeared on her doorstep at 3:30 p.m. yesterday to inform her she had won a color television set in a Boys Club contest.

Mrs. Tsujihara was told that if she paid a $3 delivery charge the set would arrive Saturday. She complied, and the boy left.

Suspecting afterward that something was amiss, the woman called the Boys Club and learned that there was indeed a contest but that the winner would not be chosen until May 26.

RAYMOND L. HANSON

New Board Chairman Announced

San Francisco attorney Raymond L. Hanson has been elected chairman of the board of the San Francisco Theological Seminary of San Anselmo.

Hanson, the seminary's legal counsel since 1948, succeeds James R. MacKay who has been board chairman since 1965.

He has been president of Presbyterian Hospital, Pacific Medical Center, Inc., Northern California Presbyterian Homes, Inc., and the San Francisco Metropolitan Young Men's Christian Association.

Donald A. Duerr of San Rafael was named secretary and treasurer of the board of trustees.

Sonoma Candidates To Present Views

Sonoma candidates for second district supervisor, sheriff, district attorney and recorder will present their platforms at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Five Corners Community Center, English Street and Western Avenue, Petaluma.

The forum is sponsored by the Petaluma Branch of the American Association of University Women. A spokesman said all candidates have agreed to participate.

Today is Thursday, May 16, the 136th day of 1974 with 229 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

American educator Elizabeth Peabody was born May 16, 1804.

On this day in history:

In 1866, the U.S. Treasury Department was authorized to place in circulation the first five-cent piece, to be called "The Nickel."

In 1929, the first "Oscar" awards were announced. Janet Gaynor won the best actress award for her role in "Seventh Heaven." Emil Jannings was voted best actor for his role in "The Way of All Flesh."

In 1962, U.S. forces arrived in Thailand to bolster the Asian nation against a spread of fighting from neighboring Laos.

In 1973, G. Bradford Cook resigned as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission. He was alleged to have deleted from an SEC complaint references to a $200,000 cash contribution by financier Robert Vesco to President Nixon's reelection campaign.

A thought for the day: The Roman poet Virgil said, "Yield not to misfortunes but press forward boldly in their face."

AT FOUR SPADES

South played the hand at four spades, and West opened the deuce of diamonds. South went down two tricks, but was more to be pitied than blamed. How did this happen?

The answer is that East put up a brilliant defense. After winning the first trick with the ace of diamonds, East shot back the queen of clubs?

It's easy for us to see from our armchairs that South could win the rest of the tricks by putting up the king of clubs. But South didn't have our advantage of seeing all of the cards.

REASONABLE ASSUMPTION

South assumed that East had led from a club suit headed by the queen-jack. If this were true, South's best chance to win a club trick was to play low.

When East's queen held the trick, he continued with the eight of clubs. South still assumed that East held the jack of clubs, in which case it was still correct to play a low club.

West won with the jack of clubs and returned a club to the ace, thus defeating the contract.

GOOD DEFENSE

Don't go away. Remember, South was beaten two tricks. How did that happen? To add insult to injury, East led his last club, and West ruffed with the jack of spades. Dummy had to use the king of spades to overruff, and now East made a trick with the queen of spades.

♦ - 8 7 6 2
♣ - J 7 6.

ANSWER: Pass.

The opening bid of two no-trump is not forcing to game, but only highly invitational. You need about four points to raise to game, and this hand is worth only two points.

ART REVIEW

Strange, Provocative Imagery Being Offered By Sausalitan

By ADA GARFINKEL

Sausalito artist Diana Brewer, in an exhibit of paintings, lithographs, and etchings at Metes and Bounds Gallery in Sausalito, offers strange and provocative imagery.

An avid reader of Carl Jung, she frequently incorporates his concept of the male-female principle within the human psyche, of water as the symbol for the universal unconscious, and the mandala format which represents the whole mind.

Magical "Golden Cities" are scattered minutely throughout her work. She calls them, "places one wants to get to, difficult to reach, but possible to find." And there are dryads and leprechauns, mermaids and mermen and other hybrid zoomorphic and androgynous forms.

Mrs. Brewer explains that her profuse and piled-up montage effects of her dream-inspired imagery are neither contrived nor premeditated; they simply occur when she sits down at her worktable.

Limpidly fluid, low-keyed watercolors are an extraordinarily suitable medium for the ghostly vaporous, dreamworld stillness of "Ladies of the Lake,", "Dreamboat for Jo," and the surreal and sculptural coral forms of "Underworld."

Mrs. Brewer's etchings combine linear work with an air of unfathomable mystery in "Red King and Queen" and an unusual format in "A Cup Running Over."

The former, a large plate in monochromatic terra-cotta shows the principle figures as humans, nude but crowned, fondling their two-headed-and-horned offspring while a rather large, free-wheeling bird whizzes by — his neck and body intersected with a grinning, contemporary male face.

"A Cup Running Over" in black-and-white presents a monstrous-sized goblet in which a host of marine and quasi-human creatures disport themselves in a watery haven while Columbus-like sailing vessels float on the surface.

Some of Mrs. Brewer's other far-out inventions include a gigantic serpent-bird which dwarfs the earth and fills the sky in two versions of her etching "The Other Desert Sky," and a parrot-headed, guitar-playing frog in "Aurora," a visionary oil on canvas.

In a few instances — in "Dreamboat for Jo" and in "Aurora" members of her own family appear in archetypcal roles.

A frankly experimental note is conveyed by different color runs and modulations for the same plate in three versions of "Forest in the Trees" and "The Dance," which answers a sometime expressed question: "I wonder what it would look like in a lighter or darker hue?"

This show of work by Mrs. Brewer will continue through June 15 with viewing hours from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Metes and Bounds Gallery is located at 215 Second Street.

White Water Accidents Claim 26 Lives In '73

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — White water river drownings in California in 1973 totaled 26, nearly triple the figure for the previous year, the state Department of Navigation and Ocean Development said yesterday.

In 1972, the department said, five deaths were attributed to inflatables such as rafts, three were in canoes and one involved a kayak.

In 1973, 17 deaths involved inflatable craft, eight were in canoes and one involved a kayak.

"When compared to the statewide boating picture, these craft claimed over 20 per cent of all boating deaths in California," the department said.

"We are very concerned with the unprecedented increase in white water boating deaths," said Frak Torkelson, acting department director. "We are making every effort to contact canoe and kayak groups as well as those who rent craft for single outings."

$1,600 Donated To Marsh Fund

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and TV Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and Parents' Magazine unless otherwise noted. FAMILY

"Neptune Factor" — A rescue mission in locating an oceanographic laboratory that has fallen into an abyss during an earthquake is the plot. Breathtaking underwater photography.

"Twelve Chairs" — A hilarious examination of greed done in slapstick style. Jewels sewn into one of 12 chairs create havoc among those trying to trace them.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Bang the Drums Slowly" — A young baseball catcher is really not very talented. When his teammates learn he is dying of Hodgkins disease they join forces to help him. Some cursing.

"Conrack" — Based on true story of a white southern teacher using unorthodox methods to awaken a group of near-illiterate black children to education. Well acted, very frank language.

"Day for Night" — Behind the scenes story of making a movie, serio-comic about the realities of creating illusions. Subtitles.

"Day of the Dolphin" — Behavioral scientist learns to communicate with a dolphin. Agents try to use the animal in an assassination. Cursing.

"The Great Gatsby" — A quixotic hero accumulates a fortune for the love of a rich Southern belle and was then destroyed by her carelessness. Elegant 20s trappings relegate characters and story to the background. Some violence.

"Poseidon Adventure" — Escape melodrama in the best Hollywood tradition. A ship filled with passengers is overturned by a tidal wave. Their frantic efforts to seek safety keeps suspense very high.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Conversation" — Low-key film deals with downfall of a wire-tapper who gets involved in spying on a pair of young lovers. Story gets monotonous and boring. Nudity.

"Lady Sings the Blues" — This drama is well told, its message on the subject of drugs is a biography of blues singer Billie Holiday.

"M-A-S-H" — Satire set during Korean conflict, of life style of three Army surgeons.

"Papillon" — A long, well-acted but grim movie about the evils of the old French penal system. Very brutal, cursing.

"Serpico" — Engrossing true story about a New York policeman who fought a one-man war against corruption. Vulgar language is constant, violence, sex, nudity.

"The Sting" — Comedy-drama set in the 1930s in Chicago is about fleecers, fleecing fleecers. Fast moving, filled with surprises, well acted but violent.

"Thief Who Came to Dinner" — A disillusioned man turns jewel thief, a likable rogue. Even the insurance investigator is conned into letting him escape. Another dose of crime-does-pay tale, the last thing we need.

ADULTS ONLY

"Badlands" — Based on Starkweather murders of 1958. This film is a blood-soaked tale of the murderous rampage of two young people who kill everyone who crosses their path, without remorse. Very violent.

"Cries and Whispers" — Psychological drama in early 1900s in Sweden. The fortunes and personalities of two sisters, who have returned home to a sister who is dying, is revealed. Nudity, sex.

"Deadly Trackers" — sheriff shriff turns into a maddened desperado when his family is murdered by vicious bank robbers. Repulsive violence. Film PG rating makes a mockery of the MPAA rating system.

"Easy Rider" — A pair of motorcyclists, after a fast profit from smuggled drugs, attempt to travel in the south. Though peaceful, they are treated brutally because of their appearance. Very violent.

"Emperor of the North" — Vicious and sadistically violent melodrama about a railroad conductor of the 1930s who kills all hobos who try to hitch a free ride. He is finally pitted against the king of hobos.

"Godfather" — The bloody warfare between five families in the Mafia, over the narcotics trade. Most violent film ever made.

Trial Of Five Blacks Ends In A Hung Jury

NEW YORK (UPI) — The trial of five black militants charged with killing two policemen in 1971 ended in a hung jury yesterday after nearly two months of testimony and two days of deliberation.

The judge declared a mistrial and said a new trial date will be set May 28. The jury, which comprised six blacks and six whites, began deliberations Monday and announced last night it could not agree on a unanimous verdict on any of the five defendants.

The defendants, Herman Bell, 26, Anthony Bottom, 22, Albert Washington, 32, Gabriel Torres, 27, and his brother, Francisco Torres, 24, were charged with ambushing police officers Waverly Jones and Joseph Piagentini outside a Harlem housing project May 21, 1971.

Daley Observes 72nd Birthday

CHICAGO (UPI) — Richard J. Daley celebrated his 72nd birthday yesterday, and received word that he probably would be released from Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital within a week to rest at his Grand Beach, Mich., summer home before undergoing surgery.

The Chicago mayor, who entered the hospital May 6 after a mild stroke, was presented a candle-less cake by hospital workers. But his doctor, Eric Oldberg, said he probably didn't eat any.

"He's on a special diet," Oldberg said.

Oldberg said the surgery will be performed in about three weeks to remove blockage in an artery in the mavor's neck.

Hong Kong Hits Litterbugs Hard

HONG KONG (UPI) — The government has collected more than $200,000 from litterbugs in the past 17 months.

Government figures showed 56,000 of Hong Kong's four million residents were fined a total of $262,674 since an antilitter law was imposed in November, 1972.

A fine of $4 is imposed for throwing a cigarette butt onto the street. The fine is even more for empty cigarette wrappers.

Demos Modify Appointments Stand

Led by Senate Democratic leader George Moscone of San Francisco, 17 of the Senate's 21 Democrats earlier this month signed a petition to "oppose any new appointments whose terms would last beyond the term of the present administration."

But following a closed-door caucus meeting of Democrats yesterday, Moscone announced that only "bad" appointments would be opposed, and in such a way to try to avoid a bitter struggle on the Senate floor, where many of Reagan's appointees must be confirmed.

Moscone said Reagan appointees would be scrutinized when their names are first submitted to the Senate Rules Committee. If a Democrat found any appointee "philosophically objectionable" the committee's majority of three Democrats would be notified.

Presumably, if the objection was found to have merit, confirmation of the appointee would be withheld under the plan outlined by Moscone.

Moscone said about 150 appointments could be made by Reagan before he leaves office —about 50 of which would be for terms extending beyond Reagan's stay in office.

Democratic caucus leader Nicholas C. Petris of Oakland said he expected the plan would "stop several" appointees from being confirmed.

Without Senate confirmation, most Reagan appointees could continue to serve until the inauguration of a new governor, Moscone said.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, clean air.
Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources but the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Napa and Sonoma valleys: Partly cloudy tonight and tomorrow and chance of scattered showers tomorrow; low tonight and high tomorrow at Santa Rosa 44 and 65; west to northwest winds 10 to 25 m.p.h.

Two Charged In Bank Defrauding

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Federal grand jurors charged a real estate broker and a banker yesterday with defrauding the Security National Bank of $288,000.

Those indicted are Eugene Borelli of Burlingame, the real estate man, and Raymond Parianik, former assistant manager at a Security National branch in San Francisco.

Paul FitzPatrick, an assistant U. S. attorney, said Borelli approved false loans and Borelli used the money for real estate investments, paying the banker $28,500.

Usher Is Already Paid $25,000

The city manager of Mill Valley, Ronald L. Usher did not request a raise in salary as part of his 1974-75 budget proposal. The Independent-Journal stated incorrectly yesterday that Usher asked for a $3,028 increase to $25,000 per year.

Usher was hired last fall by the council at the $25,000 salary. The difference in what was budgeted this year for the city manager's salary and what Usher is requesting for 1974-75 reflects the fact that Usher was hired at a higher rate of pay than the previous city manager.

Keys To Monkey Cages Are Stolen

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Because a set of keys were stolen, workmen started changing the locks yesterday on the monkey cages at the San Francisco Zoo.

An attendant reported the keys and a rifle had been taken from a closet.

FLU SHOTS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill making it easier for California senior citizens to protect themselves against the flu was signed yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The measure (AB3157) by Assemblyman John E. Thurman Jr., D-Modesto, requires the state to provide flu shots free or at "minimal" cost to all Californians age 65 or older. It allocates $420,000 for the purchase of flu vaccine.

State health officials said part of the cost of the program, to be carried out by governmental or private nonprofit agencies, would be offset by savings in Medi-Cal programs which currently pay for flu shots for some elderly residents.

CAMPAIGNS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill providing for public financing of political campaigns and clamping a limit on private campaign contributions has advanced in the Senate.

The measure (SB1660) by Democratic Sens. Arlen Gregorio of San Mateo and Anthony Beilenson of Los Angeles cleared the Elections and Reapportionment Committee yesterday on a 4-1 vote and was sent to the Finance Committee, which killed a similar measure in January.

The bill provides for reimbursement of campaign expenses in general elections up to a maximum based on the number of registered voters in the election.

NOTARY BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill designed to prevent Spanish-speaking persons from being fooled into believing they are consulting and paying for a lawyer when they visit a notary public was signed yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The problem involves the Spanish language translation of notary public. Notario Publico, which in Mexico means an attorney of high standing.

The measure (AB286) by Assemblyman Alex P. Garcia, D-Los Angeles, requires that a notary public when advertising as "notario publico" post a specified notice in English and Spanish relating to the legal advice and fees he may charge.

CHILD ABUSE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill creating a state office and advisory board on the problem of child abuse and its prevention has won final legislative approval from the Senate.

With no debate, the measure (SB354) by Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles, was sent to the governor on a 22-10 vote yesterday.

Even if signed into law, the bill would have no effect unless federal funds were made available for the new agency in the state Health Department.

SCHOOLS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — There is only a "remote" possibility that last month's landmark Serrano decision on school financing will be reversed in the courts, the Senate Education Committee has been told.

John McDermott, an attorney in the Serrano case, told the committee yesterday that under the ruling the state has a six-year deadline to completely restructure the system by which schools are financed.

McDermott, of the Western Center of Law and Poverty, briefed the panel on the April 10 ruling handed down in Los Angeles Superior Court.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Tick Paralysis Is Interesting And Can Be A Deadly Disease

Tick paralysis is, perhaps, the most interesting of all the diseases passed along by these ticks. Fortunately, it is rare. Children, especially girls, are affected most often and the tick usually is attached to the scalp and hidden by the hair. A few days after the youngster is bitten, she becomes restless, irritable, and complains of numbness and tingling of the extremities, lips, and face. Later, the paralysis involves the trunk, arms, neck, tongue, and throat. Unless a tick is suspected, searched for, found, and removed, the paralysis worsens and death ensues. Removal of the tick is followed by recovery within 48 hours.

MANY YEARS after a South Carolina woman read by first column on this disease, she visited a friend whose child was paralyzed. Remembering the column, she suggested that the mother mention to the physician the possibility of ticks. To everyone's surprise, he found a tick near the back of the child's head. once the insect was removed, the youngster made a miraculous recovery.

The remedy is simple, provided the physician suspects the tick. This is understandable, because tick paralysis is easily confused with poliomyelitis. Apparently, while feeding, the tick introduces a toxin that affects the brain and produces these symptoms.

TICKS ARE a potential threat to anyone who walks, sits, camps, or works in fields and forests. Not only are these insects annoying, but there is an outside possibility that they harbor the microbes capable of causing Rocky Mountain spotted fever, tick fever, tick paralysis, or encephalitis. People exposed to these critters should inspect their bodies at least once a day. If any ticks are found, they should be removed carefully — never crush or squeeze them.

Ticks burrow into the skin headfirst and back out whenever their posterior is touched with gasoline, tincture of iodine, lighter fluid, or a lighted match. Prevention is easier and better. Apply a repellent and wear long pants, hunting boots, and shirts with tight cuffs.

Dr. Van Dellen welcomes reader questions. While he cannot reply to them individually, he will answer those of general interest in his column. Write to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

TONGUE BITING

T. J. writes: Why would an older woman bite her tongue severely while asleep? When she awakens, it is bruised on the sides and underneath. She refuses to see a doctor.

REPLY

This is a free country and nothing can be done if this woman refuses to see a physician. It is possible she is biting her tongue while having a convulsion during sleep. A brain wave test (electroencephalogram) would help make the diagnosis. If I am right, her physician can prescribe medication to control the convulsions.

VITAMIN LEGACY

A reader writes: A friend's husband died two years ago. He took vitamins by the handful and there are at least eight bottles left in the refrigerator. She would like to take them and wonders if they are still useful.

REPLY

They should be, assuming the bottles have been sealed and the tablets or capsules have not disintegrated.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

KCRA (3), 8 p.m. — Sidney Poitier, Dorothy Dandridge, Sammy Davis Jr. and Pearl Bailey star in George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess," the 1959 musical on life on Catfish Row, a tenement section in Charleston, S.C. in 1912.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 8 p.m. — Police helicopter crews are menaced by rooftop snipers when a gunman sets out to avenge his brother's death on "Ambush," an episode of the police drama series, "Chopper One."

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 9 p.m. — The topic, the unmarried male, comes under scrutiny in various guises — a symphony bass player whose girl hates classical music; a television comedy writing team; a businessman with an eccentric mother; and a bright young banker whose social life is lacking — in "Bachelor's Four," four original half-hour comedies starring Paul Sand, Tim Conway, Herb Edelman, Robert Walden and Allen Garfield.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 10 p.m. — After 23 years of dedicated service on the police force, Detective Lt. Mike Stone is suspected of killing a fellow police officer and is suspended from the department in 'Commitment' on the "Streets of San Francisco."

'Miss Jane Pittman' Leads Emmy List With Four Awards

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman" collected four Emmys today to lead all television shows of the 1973-74 season in a preliminary vote of the National Television Academy.

The winning show, the touching story of a black woman spanning 100 years, collected an Emmy for its star, Cicely Tyson, as well as honors for writing, direction and music.

The academy reorganized the annual Emmy awards this year and announced the preliminary votes at a news conference in a small hotel room. None of the winners was present.

The winners will receive their Emmys in a national television show on May 28 and at that time the overall best actress and best actor will be announced.

The only regular weekly series to win as many as three Emmys were "The Carol Burnett Show" and the "Mary Tyler Moore Show."

Also winning three Emmys were "Barbra Streisand ... and Other Musical Instruments" and the four-part dramatic series, "The Blue Knight."

Individual Emmy winners for the year were Mary Tyler Moore, best actress in a comedy series; Michael Learned, best actress in a dramatic series ("The Waltons"); Mildred Natwick, best actress in a limited series ("The Snoop Sisters") and Miss Tyson, best actress in a drama.

Actors winning Emmys were Alan Alda, best actor in a comedy series, ("M-A-S-H"); Telly Savalas, best actor in a drama series, ("Kojak"); William Holden, best actor in a limited series, "The Blue Knight"); and Hal Holbrook, best actor in a drama, ("Pueblo").

The preliminary Emmy voting by special blue-ribbon panels did not include best series or individual shows. The results of that balloting will be announced on the May 28 television show.

Of the total 48 Emmys awarded in the preliminary voting, ABC won seven, CBS 26, NBC 14 and syndicated one.

Voted best actor in a daytime drama was MacDonald Carey ("Days of Our Lives") while Pat O'Brian ("The Other Woman") won an Emmy for a special program.

Elizabeth Hubbard won the best actress in daytime series drama for "The Doctors" and Kathleen Nesbitt for best actress in a special program, "The Mask of Love."

Best host of a game show honors went to Peter Marshall of "The Hollywood Squares" while Dinah Shore won best daytime hostess laurels for "Dinah's Place."

In addition to Miss Tyson's Emmy, "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman" also won Emmys for best writing in drama, Tracy Keenan Wynn of Mill Valley; best direction in drama, John Korty, and best music competition for a special program, Fred Karlin.

Moretti Proposes Televised Debate With Rival Demos

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly speaker Bob Moretti yesterday proposed a televised debate between himself and rival Democratic gubernatorial contenders Secretary of State Edmund Brown Jr. and San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto.

In a letter to Brown, the Van Nuys lawmaker said results in the latest California poll showed the candidacies of the three "have developed a significant amount of public support."

The poll showed Brown now enjoyed the support of 36 per cent of the Democrats surveyed while Moretti was in second place with 18 per cent and Alioto followed with 16 per cent.

Moretti said "ideally" he would prefer a debate between himself and Brown but was proposing a three-way debate because Brown had not replied to his earlier call for a two-way encounter.

Moretti said television station KNBC in Los Angeles had offered time for such a debate and suggested Brown dispatch representatives of his campaign to meet with Moretti representatives to arrange for a three-way debate.

He said he also has directed his campaign staff to seek television debate time in San Francisco and Sacramento.

Davis Is Sorry He Hugged Nixon

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Sammy Davis Jr., who made the front pages in 1972 when he was photographed hugging President Nixon, is disappointed about the Nixon administration now.

He also gets miffed when he is asked about that hugging picture.

"In a world where there are ghettos and children are dying," he asked a news conference yesterday, "what the hell difference does it make whether or not I hug the President?"

Davis campaigned for Nixon in 1972 and embraced him when he appeared at a rally during the 1970 Republican convention.

Centennial Art Work On Display

Student art works keyed to the history of San Rafael are being shown this week in nine locations in the city in honor of the upcoming centennial celebration beginning Friday.

Kindergarten through eighth grade students have produced more than 200 student drawings, paintings, and three-dimensional art works interpreting San Rafael's earliest days. They are on display in local department stores, banks, and coffee shops.

Did Helicopter Cause Fatal Building Leap?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police prolonged the life of Mark Matays, 21, for one hour yesterday while they tried to talk him out of jumping off a high rise apartment building.

But a private helicopter passed overhead and seconds later Matays, who had been standing so close to the edge that part of his shoes overlapped the building, stepped off and let go.

He landed on a lawn 23 stories below and died a short time later in a hospital.

Police said they never use helicopters to rescue persons threatening to jump for high places because it can often trigger the victim to jump. A spokesman said police would try to find out who the helicopter belonged to and why it was in the area.

Stolen Property Sentence Given

Ronald Walker, 21, of Santa Rosa, has been sentenced to 60 days in Marin County Jail after pleading guilty to possessing property stolen March 21 from a San Rafael home.

Municipal Judge Peter Allen Smith also placed Walker on two years' probation.

A second man accused along with Walker, John Lauren Mott, 22, of San Rafael, is to go into municipal court June 13 to change his innocent plea or have a trial date set. He is charged with misdemeanor burglary.

The pair was arrested after a citizen reported seeing them flee the Daniel Rosenthal home on D Street.

Envoy To Sweden

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert Strausz-Hupe has been sworn in as the new U.S. envoy to Sweden, a post which has been unfilled for almost two years.

No Permit Needed For Dredging

An environmental impact report will not be required for Synanon Foundation to dredge 10,000 cubic yards of gravel from Walker Creek near Marshall.

Marin County environmental hearing officer Joel E. Rubey approved Synanon's request that no report be required but limited use of the gravel to road repairs.

A Synanon proposal to use some on creek banks to prevent erosion was rejected. Rubey said that would require a report and Synanon officials dropped the proposal.

The dredging of Walker Creek must next be approved by the county environmental-protection committee which has jurisdiction over projects near creeks and shores. That hearing was slated for 2 p.m. today at Civic Center.

Canal Advisory Group To Meet

The San Rafael Canal Advisory Committee will meet at 4 p.m. May 22 in city hall, a spokesman said today.

Speakers will include Joseph Kramm, marina supervisor of the City of San Leandro.

College Choir Will Sing At St. Vincent's

Indian Valley Colleges will present a spring concert entitled "Musical Retreat" at the cathedral at St. Vincent's School for Boys in Marinwood at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Soloists for the "Requiem" will be soprano Frances Medeiros and baritone Thomas Scott.

Rev. James Adams, pastor of the Greek Orthodox Church of Marin, will open the program with a Greek Byzantine chant, which demonstrates the "amazing acoustics" of the building, according to Miss Johnson.

Soprano Anna Secrist will sing a passage from the "St. Matthew Passion" by J. S. Bach. Organist Lois Jones will perform compositions by Brahms, J. S. Bach and Flor Peeters.

Governor's Belly Dancing Daughter

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Joanne Shapp, daughter of Gov. Milton J. Shapp of Pennsylvania, appeared as a belly dancer Tuesday night in the suburban San Marco restaurant.

The 24-year-old dance student, performing under the name of "Yasmin," revealed it was her professional dance debut. She said: "I think it's a fun thing, but they (her parents) don't want me to make a full-time career of it." Miss Shapp plans to become a family counselor.

JAMES A. DIXON

James Dixon Demanding Conductor

By PAUL CANE

"Only the best is good enough. I expect my students will play better than they really can," said orchestra conductor James A. Dixon, one of about 15 musical artists-in-residence for the Forest Meadows Festival of the Arts Aug. 1 - 11.

"I'm an unusually strong person. I get right down to business, with no gimmicks, because people, especially young people, will respond to quality. I treat them like adults," he said.

Dixon, 46, is professor of music at the University of Iowa, and will be living in Marin this summer to teach in the first Forest Meadows art festival. He will work with many of the approximately 150 students, aged 14-19 who will come from nine western states and from part of the East Coast to attend the 10-day comprehensive music training classes.

Organized by Ted M. Blair, chairman of the Dominican College music department, the festival uses what Dixon calls the "apprenticeship method of learning" to teach music skills. During the day, students will rehearse and practice under the direction of well-known artists-in respective fields — for example, violinist Leonard Sorkin of Chicago's Fine Arts Quartet will coach string players, and members of the Los Angeles Brass Quintet will work with brass students.

After rehearsals all day, students will gather for public evening concerts in the Forest Meadow's amphitheater to watch and learn as the teachers perform.

To help pay for bringing the approximately 15 artists to the music camp, students will be charged $170 for the 10 days. Day students will pay $125, according to Blair.

Also, fund-raising concerts around Marin are held every few weeks.

Blair said approximately 60 young musicians have applied thus far, and said the quality of applicant is "just outstanding."

And they must be outstanding, or at least extremely serious about their music, to study well under Dixon, a self-proclaimed disciplinarian. "I just say, 'Stop acting like damn kids,' when I feel they aren't giving me everything," Dixon said. "And then they do.

"Kids who've had the discipline that comes from playing an instrument several hours a day for five years or more have such an investment in their music they don't want to act foolishly," he continued.

Dixon is a graduate of the University of Iowa, and holds a master's degree from that school. He conducts the school orchestra, as well as the Tri-City Symphony for the group of cities around Davenport, Iowa.

"Actually, there are now six cities in a cluster around Davenport," he said, "But we're a little hesitant about calling ourselves the 'Sex-City Orchestra,' so we left the name the same."

Dixon was formerly conductor of the Seventh Army Symphony in Germany, and has been associate conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony, guest conductor of the Chicago, Boston and Minneapolis symphonies, and the National Orchestra of Greece, and has recorded with the Royal Philharmonic of London.

He has received the James Conant Award, the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Award, and the Gustav Mahler Medal for conducting.

1,500 Enzymes

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — The human body produces more than 1,500 enzymes, tiny protein molecules that promote chemical reactions essential to human life, and scientists have also been able to adapt several of the functions enzymes perform in the body to industry.

HARD TRAINING ON SHORE

Redwood Crew Team's Success Secret

By RON LENT

Redwood High School's 1974 championship crew team wins in the water because of its conditioning program on the shore.

The Giants, under advisor Bob Cumming, stress conditioning. "Crew is an endurance sport. It is 80 per cent conditioning and 20 per cent technique," said Cumming.

The 69-year-old silver-haired crew leader believes that "our training has gotten us this far. We hope it will help us when we go to Klamath Falls."

Redwood, which shared the Bay Area Rowing Association (BARA) title with Oakland High last year and won it outright in 1971 and 1972, is looking forward to the Oregon venture.

"It will climax our season," the mustachioed advisor said. After winning the crown this year and 17 of 18 matches, Redwood began rigorous training for the West Coast Region Junior Championships May 25-26.

Redwood started in 1970 with one crew and no league affiliate. Emphasizing training and fundamentals, Cumming developed team members. In 1971, Redwood joined Oakland, Skyline, Berkeley, St. Joseph's and Mt. Tamalpais in the BARA.

Redwood has dominated since. The team is spearheaded by an unbeaten (under 155 pounds) lightweight varsity four of Tod Moody, Bob Darlan, Jim Carbone and Brennan Agajan with coxswain Tim Davis.

"This group works hard and works well together," said Cumming. "They've been with us three years, and it shows. Jim Phelps is our best sculler. Agajan is our best lightweight."

Both Phelps and Agajan are veterans, and therein lies the key, according to Cumming. "Crew is too strenuous for freshmen. We use freshmen to build them up and fill in on practice runs. We teach them the rudiments and give them strengthening exercises. They will grow into bigger roles later. Meanwhile, we train them by working them in singles. They must become proficient in that before moving up. You're on your own in singles; it shows what you can do."

The varsity can do plenty, particularly in practices. "We practice every day (Monday through Friday, 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.) from January until school lets out (in mid-June). We have fall training (from Sept. 15 to Nov. 15) and work out an hour and one-half per day."

In the fall, basics are taught to the new people recruited on a one-day drive in September. Equipment and movies are shown and assignments taken at the brief recruitment session. "We depend on word of mouth to recruit. We get more than we need in signups."

After wooing the recruits, Cumming works them — hard. "We row at least five miles a day on Corte Madera Creek. After rowing, we go for a two-mile run, which includes running up and down hills."

Cumming sometimes schedules Saturday morning practices if there is a big sectional meet coming up.

Why is the training so rigorous? "Repetition is the key. If they work hard and do well in practice, they'll work hard and do well in races," Cumming said.

Cumming's youngsters apparently respect his tight regimen. After striving three years to save $3,000 for a four-oared racing shell with coxswain, the team voted to name the boat "Bob Cumming." The vote was endorsed by the sponsoring Marin Rowing Association, and the boat was so named when purchased in January.

While the boat bears the advisor's name, Cumming stresses that 'I'm not the coach. Gordon Van Zee is. It's a school team, so the faculty appoints a coach. I'm not a member of the faculty, so I'm just an advisor."

Cumming, a retired Pacific Telephone engineer, serves without pay. "This is my hobby. I do it for the love of it."

He has been rowing since 1920 and was runnerup in the national lightweight single sculls in 1931 and 1933.

2nd Base For A's A Dangerous Spot

Gaylen Pitts, the latest A's second baseman, could be excused for being somewhat cautious out on the field. That position hasn't been exactly the lucky spot for the A's.

It all started back on April 9, barely into the season, when Dick Green, the regular A's second baseman injured his instep making a double play at Kansas City. He was put on the 21-day disabled list.

His replacement, Manny Trillo, pulled a thigh muscle April 20 and he was put on the 15-day disabled list. So Ted Kubiak was put on second. That lasted only until May 6 when Kubiak had to be switched to third to replace Sal Bando who was hit on the right calf with a pitch. That put Sal Bando out of action for nine games.

That meant the A's would have to call up second baseman John Donaldson from Tucson. Two days after replacing Kubiak at second, Donaldson injured his shoulder in a collision with center fielder Bill North and was sent back to Tucson. Good try, John.

The A's then signed free agent Dal Maxvill to play second, but in only Dal's second game he was spiked by Twins' Tony Oliva. The wound required 20 stitches and Dal was put on the 21-day disabled list.

That's when the emergency call went out to Tucson for Pitts, a 27-year-old player getting his first chance in the Bigs after nine years in the minor leagues. After one game at second he got lucky and was switched to third, Kubiak going back to second.

Pitts got the game-winning hit in the second half of a twi-nighter Tuesday against Kansas City. His double scored Kubiak from first base in the bottom of the 10th to give the A's a 2-1 victory.

Although Pitts realizes his major league job is only temporary, he has five hits in 14 at bats for a .357 average. But he better hope he stays at third base. Second base for the A's is not exactly the safest place in the world.

TWO MARIN COUNTY girls, Leslie Clark of San Anselmo and Lynne Vogensen of San Rafael, will be among the half dozen members of the University of California at Davis women's track team competing at the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women track and field championships at Denton, Tex.

Leslie will be in the 400-meter hurdles trial tomorrow and both gals will be in the mile relay trials. That mile-relay team brought its time down from 4:07.5 to 4:00.5 in qualifying and will be trying to break the 4-minute barrier in Texas. Cal Davis was fifth last year at the first college women's championships.

BARRY MAC KAY of Ross has been very busy lately organizing the Canon Tennis Club in Fairfax and doing other tennis administrative things but he's not too busy to get out of the office now and then for a bit of tennis. He's scheduled to take on Don Kierbow tomorrow in the fifth annual Marshall Ward Tennis Extravaganza at San Francisco's downtown Golden Gateway Tennis Club. Prize money for this tourney which continues through Oct. 18 is $2,700.

RICK PUCCINELLI, former football star at Redwood High and College of Marin who played one year at University of Nevada, Reno before being injured, will be linebacker coach next season for U. of Nevada. At 21, Puccinelli will be the youngest full-time assistant coach in the college ranks.

Gamble By Reds' Nelson Pays Off Against Giants

Nelson came within six outs yesterday of becoming the first Cincinnati pitcher to toss a no-hitter at Riverfront Stadium, the four-year-old home of the Reds.

He survived two late-inning home runs in helping to pitch the Reds to a 4-3 triumph over the San Francisco Giants.

Nelson, the key figure in a 1972 trade with the Kansas City Royals, found himself at low ebb last season when beset with elbow injuries for the first time in his career.

It was the third time in less than a month that the 29-year-old Nelson made a no-hit bid for more than five innings. While the other two efforts failed to produce decisions, yesterday's work bore fruit.

"I knew I didn't have good stuff out there, but I guess I was a little lucky," said Nelson, now 2-3 for the season.

He finished with a two-hitter, with last-out help from Pedro Borbon. The losing pitcher was Tom Bradley, 4-4.

Bobby Bonds shattered Nelson's no-hit dream in the eighth inning with a two-run homer. Then Chris Speier's solo homer in the ninth sent Nelson to the showers.

Seeing his shutout vanish disappointed Nelson as much as missing the no-hitter. "That bothered me," he said. "When you pitch a two-hitter, you shouldn't give up three runs."

Catcher Johny Bench supported Nelson with three runs batted in on his seventh homer of the season and a sacrifice fly.

Pete Rose's sacrifice fly gave the Reds a 4-0 lead after seven innings, but it wasn't enough to make Nelson feel comfortable.

Manager Sparky Anderson missed Nelson's bid. He slept through it in the locker room, still in a fog from ear surgery earlier in the day.

Revenge Obtained By Petaluma Netters

Petaluma High School gained revenge yesterday.

After losing a North Bay League tennis match, 5-2, to Vallejo Monday, the Trojans (6-7) came back with a 4-3 victory over the visiting Apaches yesterday.

Minnesota Tops Gaters With A 2nd Half Rally

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — The Minnesota Buckskins came back from a two point half time deficit to defeat the Golden Gaters 32-30 before a crowd of 1,505 in World Team Tennis action last night.

Golden Gater Lesley Hunt led off with a 6-1 victory over Ann Haydon Jones and her replacement, Mona Schallau.

In the second half women's set, Miss Hunt squeaked out a 7-6 tiebreaker win over Miss Schallau to give the Golden Gaters a 23-20 lead.

In men's singles, the Buckskins dominated play with Bob Hewitt winning over Golden Gater Player-Coach Roy Emerson in a first half tiebreaker, 7-6. Buckskin Player-Coach Owen Davidson defeated Dick Bohrnstedt, 6-4, in the second half.

Mixed doubles proved to be the deciding factor in the match as David Lloyd and Wendy Turnbull defeated Frew McMillan and Denise Triolo.

PREP STATISTICS

Bacigalupi Takes Lead In Batting

For the fourth time in four weeks, a different name occupies the top spot in the Marin County Athletic League batting averages.

Now it's Phil Bacigalupi, slugging third baseman from Redwood High School, who will go into tomorrow's final game with a .488 average and a chance to hit .500 for the league season, according to statistics compiled by the Independent-Journal.

In a year dominated by the hitters, Bacigalupi has taken over the lead from Terra Linda's Buck McCusker (.467). Alvin Hall of Tamalpais is third at .442 and leads in runs batted in with 16.

Redwood pitcher Ed Andersen will fall short of the MCAL victory record of 10. After Andersen reached 8-0 last week, coach Al Endriss gave Jeff Lucchesi three consecutive starts, and the left-hander responded with three victories to raise his record to 4-0 while retaining his earned run average lead at 0.70.

Wood Vs. Holtzman Tonight

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two of last season's 20-game winners, Ken Holtzman of Oakland and Wilbur Wood of Chicago, try to regain a little of that form this time around when they match pitches tonight.

Holtzman, now 3-4, has yet to finish a game, although he has won three of his last four. The knuckleball-tossing Wood is 5-5 but was 1-4 earlier in the season so he, too, might be getting back to old form.

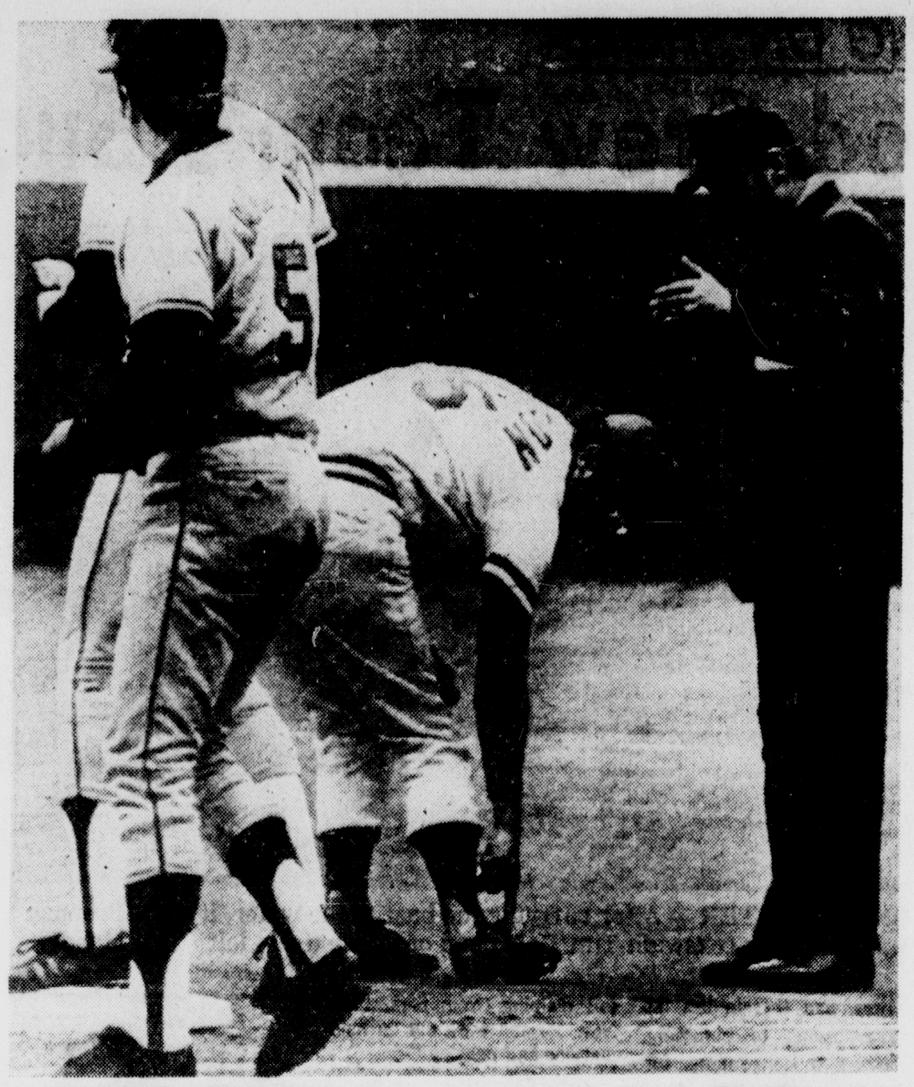
The A's open their road swing with Reggie Jackson, Sal Bando, Manny Trillo and Dick Green shelved by injuries, with the latter two on the disabled list.

The two teams enter the fray in a virtual dead heat for first in the American League West, but there is only 2 ½ games from the top to the bottom of the whole division.

The A's were idle Wednesday.

Crosby Pro-Am

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The Bing Crosby National Pro-Am will be held in Pebble Beach Jan. 23-26, according to the official Professional Golfers Association schedule released yesterday.



'I TOUCHED THE BASE' — Cincinnati Reds' pitcher Roger Nelson yesterday pointed to his shoe indicating to first base umpire Bill Williams where he touched the base. San Francisco's Gary Thomasson hit a grounder to first baseman Terry Crowley who threw to Nelson covering the bag. Williams ruled Thomasson was safe. Giants' coach Joe Amalfitano (5) and Thomasson waited for the rhubarb to end in Cincinnati. (AP Wirephoto)

Public Relations Spot For Knodel

Knodel completed his eighth year as head basketball coach at Rice this spring. He had only two winning teams but one was a Southwest Conference champion.

A graduate of Miami of Ohio, Knodel has a master's degree from Xavier in Cincinnati. He has coached at Vanderbilt and at two high schools in Ohio.

Three Schools Join Baseball West Regionals

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — University of California at Irvine, Cal State Fullerton and Puget Sound will compete in the National Collegiate Athletic Association College Division Baseball West regionals, the selection committee announced.

The fourth team in the regionals May 24-26 at Tacoma, Wash., will be either Cal State Hayward, UC Davis or Sacramento State, still vying for the Far West Conference championship.

UC Irvine, 41-7, has a 26-game winning streak and is rated no. 1 in the country in the college division.

The winner of the regional will advance to the NCAA college Division Championships next month in Springfield, Ill.

Stanford Loses Net Star Mayer

Combined AP & UPI

STANFORD — Sandy Mayer, defending National Collegiate Athletic Association tennis champion, has quit the Stanford team for "personal reasons" on the eve of the Pacific-Eight championships.

"He's been thinking about it for a month," said Stanford coach Dick Gould. "I have a thorough understanding of the matter and so does the team. He has been our leader and we're going to miss him."

Mayer, who was a semi-finalist at Wimbledon last year after upsetting Ilie Nastase, would say only "I'm really down. Lots of things are on my mind. I'll talk about them when I'm ready."

Gould said Mayer told him tennis was "simply not fun anymore" and that he had no immediate plans to join the pro circuit.

Stanford was favored to edge UCLA and USC for the Pac-8 title and perhaps the national title in the NCAA tourney June 17-22 in Los Angeles. But now the Cards are the underdogs.

More Tennis

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Tiburon's Bob Lutz yesterday ousted defending champion Brian Gottfried, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3 in the second round of the $150,000 Alan King-Caesar's Palace Tennis Classic.

NorCal Track Meet Has Four Marin Runners

With the state meet as their goal, four College of Marin runners will travel to Pleasant Hill Saturday for the Northern California junior college track and field meet at Diablo Valley College.

Competition will start at 7:10 p.m. with the 3,000-meter steeplechase, which will include Marin runner Dan Turek, who qualified on Tuesday.

Three other Tars qualified last Wednesday at Modesto Junior College. They are Alfred Kellough in the 120-yard high hurdles, Greg Biber in the 440 intermediates and Pete Sweeney in the three-mile run.

The top four finishers in each event will advance to the state meet May 25 in Bakersfield. The last Marin Tar to qualify was George Stewart, who won the NorCal mile and two-mile and was third in the state mile in 1969.

Terra Linda Wins

Champion Terra Linda High School (10-0) Tuesday concluded its Marin County Athletic League season by walloping host San Rafael (4-6), 55-22, in girls basketball.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

Lead With Hands

By LEE TREVINO

A golfer's distance and accuracy depend on keeping his hands ahead of the clubface as he strikes the ball. Even the best putting strokes belong to players who never let the club get too quick.

Byron Nelson, one of the greatest, says he can tell when pressure is getting to a player by the way he flips his putter in ahead of his hands.

You can't make firm contact on a putt or get a solid hit from tee or fairway when your hands get lazy. The only time a club leads the hands is when you're trying to snap the clubhead at the ball as when an obstruction prevents a follow-through.

Action photos of the better players show the hands ahead of the clubhead as it approaches impact. The longer the impact can be delayed, the faster the hands must move to bring the club into the ball.

The back of the left hand faces the target. The left wrist is bent and ready to uncoil. The more the wrist is bowed in the hitting area, the more power is released.

I don't want this to sound like a physics lesson because this game is tough enough as it is. But remember to keep the hands ahead of the ball, and all those theories will add up to pars.

Bocce Ball Returns To Fairfax Park

An ethnic-oriented sport returns to Fairfax Sunday.

The Italian sport of bocce ball comes back to Marin Sunday at 1 p.m. when Fairfax dignitaries participate in an exhibition.

Police Chief Charles A. Grasso competes against Fairfax Park and Recreation Commissioner Leo Cronin to highlight the "grand opening," said Ernestine Healy, Park and Recreation Commission secretary. Commission chairman Joann Walla is coordinating the event.

The opening of Marin's only public outdoor bocce court in Town Park ends a five-year absence of such facilities.

"There used to be a court at the rear of the Ole Timer Bar. But it's not there anymore," Mrs. Healy said.

Now there is a court next to the Women's Club Building, 46 Park Road. The inaugural is open to the public. She added: "All bocce players are welcome. If you don't know how to play, you can come and learn. And music will be provided by the Susila Cultural Association (of Fairfax)."

The game is played on a long, narrow court of clay. It is akin to lawn bowling. The object is to roll a large bocce ball as close to the jack as possible. The jack is white and is the size of a golf ball. A point is scored by rolling the ball closer to the jack than the opponent. When two are playing, the goal is 15 points.

Facilities and equipment will be available free from the recreation commission in Town Hall during the week and at police headquarters on weekends.

The idea to build a court was conceived last summer. After recreation commission and town council endorsements were obtained, the court was built in the fall.

Rancho '9' Wins; Gap Remains

The Cougars (9-4) took an 11-7 Sonoma County League baseball victory from host Healdsburg, but remained one game behind Piner (10-3), which beat El Molino (Forestville), 13-5, yesterday in Santa Rosa.

To gain a share of the SCL title, Rancho Cotate would have to beat Casa Grande (7-6) tomorrow while Piner loses to seventh-place Cardinal Newman (Santa Rosa). If the Prospectors win, they earn the championship regardless of how the Cougars fare.

In other high school baseball games yesterday, Petaluma raised its North Bay League record to 5-8 with a 4-3 victory over visiting Vallejo.

Federation Cup Matchups Slated

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) — The United States was paired with France and West Germany was bracketed with Romania yesterday for the opening quarterfinal matches in the Federation Cup Tennis Championship.

In the other quarterfinals, scheduled for tomorrow, Australia meets Italy and Britain plays South Africa, the defending champions.

All the teams in the final eight took the day off yesterday before the two-day quarterfinals begin Thursday afternoon.

Post-Season Cage Playoffs Cause Stir

By LEW CODDINGTON

The decision to create post-season basketball playoffs in the North Coast Section seemed to be a simple one, but like a rock dropped into a placid pool, it is sending out wave after far-reaching wave.

Such matters as the quality of basketball in Marin, the future of the Tournament of Champions and the possibility of statewide playoffs are all touched by the decision.

The challenge to the TOC is direct and severe. The NCS Board of Managers announced last Friday that the champions of the 14 leagues in the section would be required, not just permitted, to go to the NCS playoffs. The board also scheduled the NCS for the same time and place as the TOC — March 6-7-8, 1975, in the Oakland Coliseum Arena.

This gives the Bay Area two tournaments involving league champions, an unnecessary duplication, especially since five of the eight spots in the TOC are filled by winners from within the NCS. They are the Alameda, Catholic, Hayward, East Bay and Marin leagues.

The next move is up to TOC officials, who will meet May 28. Marin's representative is Jack Hayes, principal of Drake High.

What will they do? One possibility is to kill the TOC and quietly bury its 28 years of tradition and basketball excellence. That is doubtful.

Another possibility is to go one-up on the NCS by converting the TOC into a tournament for sectional champions. That is not too far-fetched. Three sectional champions already play in the tournament, since Oakland and San Francisco are separate sections and the Central Section winner has been invited the past three years.

Add the North Coast champion and the TOC would become, in effect, a Northern California championship — and that is only one step away from a state playoff.

The NCS specifically disavows this motive. "Any attempt to establish a relationship between the . . . section's decision to sponsor playoffs and state wide competition would be unfounded conjecture," said commissioner Paul Gaddini.

California is one of only two states in the union which do not have state playoffs. (New York is the other.) The NCS was the only one of the California Interscholastic Federation's 10 sections which did not have playoffs.

The trend toward playoffs has been a strong and rising one recently. The last three years, playoffs have been created in soccer, water polo and golf; additional playoffs have been added in golf, wrestling and basketball; and additional ones have been contemplated in football and swimming.

Any kind of advanced playoff system in a large state brings with it a classification system based on enrollment. In baseball, for example, the board has agreed on two classifications, AAA for the larger schools and AA for the smaller.

The classification system will vary with the sport, said Gaddini. In baseball, where one or two pitchers' arms can make all the difference in the world, a small school can compete more effectively than in football, where 22 are needed.

The NCS moguls have been trying for months to figure out a classification system for basketball, with little success. The problem which is giving them trouble is what to do with the Marin County Athletic League.

Current thinking calls for three classes, A through AAA. The AAA would contain seven well-known powerhouse leagues — Alameda, Catholic, Diablo Valley, East Bay, Foothill, Hayward and Mission Valley.

That is the class of basketball which Marin aspires to play. While not winning any titles, Marin teams have played respectably against those teams for the past decade in the TOC and in non-league games.

Class AA, on the other hand, has a geographical lure, since it would contain the North Bay and Sonoma County leagues in addition to the Humboldt-Del Norte.

Any proposal must make its way through several bureaucratic layers within the NCS, one of which is the section's coaches' committee, including Bernie Schneider of Tamalpais High, who says he will recommend that Marin compete in AAA with the big boys.

STARS — The Redwood-Terra Linda tennis match Tuesday, with the MCAL title on the line, did more than just attract local interest. Channel 4 sent a television film crew, and highlights were shown yesterday on the station's 5:30 p.m. broadcast.

Cranston Lists Funds From Speaking Rounds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Alan Cranston, a member of the Senate Banking Committee, has accepted $7,500 in speaking honorariums from banking or related businesses, it was disclosed in his financial statement released yesterday.

Cranston, D-Calif., made public his 1973 joint financial statement in which he and his wife listed income of $58,562.

They paid $9,213 in federal income tax and $2,008 in California income tax.

Cranston's statement listed 18 sources for honorariums, totaling $11,394.

Cranston, who is seeking reelection, received $500 for speaking before the California Real Estate Association, the Agricultural Council of California, the American Association of Dental Schools, Yale University's Poynter Fellowship, and the Association of American Book Publishers.

By far, the largest fees were from banks and related businesses.

He received $2,500 for speaking to the annual meeting of the Interbank Card Association MasterCharge in Santa Barbara. Another $2,500 came from a speech before the 82nd convention of the California Bankers Association in San Francisco.

Cranston collected $1,500 from a speech in San Francisco to the Charge Account Bankers Division of the American Bankers Association.

He received $1,000 for a speech before the 53rd annual convention to the Consumer Association in Newport Beach.

Asked about the banking honorariums, Cranston said: "I did not pocket it for personal income. It goes into an office account to pay expenses which the Senate does not pay for. This is very different from feathering my own nest."

He said the regular Senate allowances do not cover the expense incurred from trying to represent 20 million constituents. He said he has a full and part-time staff of 55 persons in the nation's capital and 15 in California.

Spiro In Iran

ATHENS (UPI) — Spiro T. Agnew flew to Iran yesterday after attending a luncheon in his honor in Athens given by Nickolaos Gregoriades, minister of commerce in the last cabinet of President George Papadopoulos. The former vice president is on a private business trip.
